—The tendency of the younger men who are writing to produce plays instead of novels has received a further impetus from the approval a ready won by a very pretty one-act play, the copyright on which has just been received by Leverett D. G. Bentley of Newton. Mr. Bentley worked in collaboration with Freeman F. Tilden of Malden. The story is simple, allusive and sweet—without any of the sinister study-motives of Maeterlinck or Ibsen, and with much more directness—it is still in the manner of these writers. The play is called “The Dream of Dorothy.” Both the writers are newspaper men, and both are on the staff of the Boston Globe.

Mr. Dana held a brief reception at the Newton Club following the convention and after refreshments were served made a brief speech of acceptance. He said in part:—

“I thank the convention for the honor it has conferred upon me and believe it is a special honor to be a member of the Senate from this district. You were all born Republicans, and you will all die Republicans. You will heartily support the cause of the party and its candidates.

Mr. Dana promised to do his utmost when elected to represent the entire district and to maintain its high position in the councils of the commonwealth.

Hon. Edwin R. Hoag of Chelsea was unanimously re-nominated for councillor at the third councillor republican convention, held in Wesleyan hall, Boston, Tuesday noon.

Mr. Hoag was placed in nomination by Senator A. S. Apsey of Cambridge, and the nomination was seconded by Mr. Seward W. Jones of Newton in a brief speech.

Messrs. E. T. Colburn, Seward W. Jones and Wm. F. Garcelon were elected on the district committee from this city.

IN POLITICS.

Senatorial, Councillor and County Conventions.

Nominations for Office Made by Republicans.

The work of the Republican senatorial convention at Temple Hall, Newtonville, on Monday afternoon was characterized by exasperating delays and back handed methods of procedure. The nominating speeches for instance, came after instead of before the informal ballot and considerable time was lost because the Ashland delegation did not know how to fill a vacancy in its number.

Mr. W. W. Cutler of Natick, chairman of the district committee, called to order considerably after 2 o'clock the time for meeting, and Alderman Albert P. Carter of Newtonville was elected temporary chairman, and Leigh T. Macurdy of Watertown, temporary secretary.

A committee on credentials consisting of William F. Garcelon of Newton, A. J. Heath of Framingham and W. H. Coolidge of Sherburne was appointed and reported 45 delegates present, with one from Weston absent.

After allowing the Ashland delegation to fill a vacancy, a committee on ballots consisting of W. H. Knowles of Framingham, Nathan Heard of Newton and H. H. Sawyer of Watertown was appointed and an informal ballot for senator was taken. William F. Dana of Newton received 26 votes, C. J. McPherson of Framingham had 11 votes and George E. Thayer of Ashland had 8 votes.

Dr. O. W. Collins of Framingham then stated that the eastern end of the district had had the senatorship 5 out of the 7 years, and asked for recognition of the claims of Framingham, the largest town in the district and one which had given the largest republican majority in the district. He recalled the action two years ago, when Senator Nutt was refused a renomination and said that the seeming injustice to Senator Nutt had come within a hairbreadth of electing a democratic senator. Last year Framingham had supported Senator Skinner for a renomination and was then promised that they should be recognized.

Mr. Collins spoke highly of Mr. McPherson's work as a newspaper man and of his character as a citizen, and in conclusion asked that he be given the nomination for the coming year.

Alderman A. R. Weed depreciated sectionalism in the matter of a senator, stating that the nominee should represent the whole district, not any city, town or part. He believed that the best man should be placed in nomination in order that the interests of this important district might be safeguarded at the State House. Mr. Weed nominated William F. Dana of Newton, stating that he had received a liberal education, had won no mean position as a lawyer, had served the City of Newton faithfully and well for four years as an alderman and for three years had served the interests of the entire state at the State House, where by his honesty, ability, devotion to detail and courageous convictions he had become one of the Republican leaders of the House.

Mr. George S. Parker of Watertown seconded the nomination of Mr. Dana saying he was well known in Watertown and amply able to represent the First Middlesex district.

The formal ballot resulted in the nomination of Mr. Dana, who received 27 votes, McPherson, 11 and Thayer 7. The nomination was made unanimous.

For member of the state committee, Mr. William M. Flanders of Newton was nominated by Mr. F. E. Crichtett of Watertown, and Dr. Collins presented the name of Mr. McPherson.

Mr. Cutler of Natick spoke in favor of Mr. Flanders, stating that there was no person on the state committee closer to Gov. Bates than Mr. Flanders. Mr. Flanders was then elected by a vote of 34 to 11, the opposition votes coming from Framingham, Holliston and Hopkinton.

The chairmen of the various ward and town committees, the chairman of the city committee of Newton and the state committeemen were elected a district committee, and the committee was empowered to fill vacancies in the nominations made by the convention.

Mr. Garcelon, on behalf of Mr. Dana, then invited the delegates to lunch at the Newton Club and the convention adjourned.

Mr. Dana held a brief reception at the Newton Club following the convention and after refreshments were served made a brief speech of acceptance. He said in part:—

“I thank the convention for the honor it has conferred upon me and believe it is a special honor to be a member of the Senate from this district. You were all born Republicans, and you will all die Republicans. You will heartily support the cause of the party and its candidates.

Mr. Dana promised to do his utmost when elected to represent the entire district and to maintain its high position in the councils of the commonwealth.

Hon. Edwin R. Hoag of Chelsea was unanimously re-nominated for councillor at the third councillor republican convention, held in Wesleyan hall, Boston, Tuesday noon.

Mr. Hoag was placed in nomination by Senator A. S. Apsey of Cambridge, and the nomination was seconded by Mr. Seward W. Jones of Newton in a brief speech.

Messrs. E. T. Colburn, Seward W. Jones and Wm. F. Garcelon were elected on the district committee from this city.

Funeral of Austin R. Mitchell.

Funeral services for the late Austin R. Mitchell were held from his late residence on Walnut street, Newtonville, Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. J. C. Jaynes of the West Newton Unitarian church officiated and there were many friends and business associates of Mr. Mitchell present. The display of flowers was most beautiful, the noticeable designs coming from the Newton Club, Mr. J. J. Richards and Hiram Ricker & Son.

The Mendelssohn quartet sang "Rock of Ages," "Passing Out of the Shadow" and "Hark to the Tolling of the Bell."

Hon. E. B. Wilson, Mr. George W. Stinson of Melrose, Mr. E. P. Hatch, for the West Newton bank and Mr. Lewis E. Coffin for the Newton Associates were the pall bearers. The interment was in the new Mitchell mausoleum at the Newton cemetery, where prayers were said by Rev. Albert Hammett of the Newtonville Universalist church. Mr. Mitchell is survived by a widow and two aged sisters.

New England Conservatory.

Voice and Instrumental Scholarships for Beginners.

The Normal Department of the New England Conservatory offers scholarships in Voice, Piano and Violin to young people of limited means who possess good natural musical ability. Those who are received into this department are given two lessons each week during the school year.

Application must be made at the Conservatory, Huntington avenue, corner of Gainsborough street, before October 6th.

Whist.

In my journeyings here and there over the world I have met, conversed and played at the game with several separate and distinct varieties or grades of so-called whist players. The first grade includes those who think they know the game thoroughly; the second grade, those who know they do, and have reached the goal, in their own estimation; the third grade, "students of the game, only."

One generally meets the players of the first grade on the railroad trains, in the smoking rooms of ocean steamers, at summer resorts, and not infrequently in the parlors of the principal social clubs in our large cities.

They sit down at a whist table with all the "sang-froid" of a French dancing master, and play at the game, each one for himself, with no shadow of knowledge whatever of any order or system of play. They lead out their aces and kings, take all the tricks they think are in sight, straighten up in their chairs, and puff out a little, as much as to say, "Partner, you can do the rest; I have done my share." If one of them ever makes a correct opening, or at other times a proper play, it is simply guesswork or an accident. When you find this school of players at a table, linger a few moments near them; listen to their conversation, and watch their cathectic performances; they generally go through such as banging their cards on the table, to emphasize their skill, and every few moments you will hear an outcry something like the following: "Partner, why in hades didn't you return my trump lead?" or "Why do you sit there like a bump on a log and not know enough to trump a trick that is dead against you?" (Never taking into consideration the fact that his partner had shown by his previous play that he was out of trumps.)

A great many bright men and gifted women, finely educated in other arts and sciences, and standing high in social circles, go through life, seemingly to be delighted to take part in social whist gatherings, who play the game like children that are allowed to amuse themselves with the keys of a piano "bang-it-about" until they tire. To the ears of these little ones it is sweet melody, and to the whist player of this class this style of play is "a thoughtful, scientific game."

A little whist incident occurred not long ago that to me was very amusing. It may be worth the space that it will occupy.

A gentleman of my acquaintance dropped into my office one morning and said: "Mr. Tormey, may I ask a favor of you?"

"What is it, John?"

"Well, I am invited to a whist party that comes off next Saturday night and I want to go, but I don't know the first thing about playing the game, and I thought you would give me a few pointers if I asked you, so I could hold my end up and not make a fool of myself."

I said to him: "My dear boy, that is a hard nut to crack. By the way, John, didn't I see you at the church social the other evening, and didn't you play a violin solo?"

"Yes, I was there and I played one or two pieces."

"You seem to be an expert on the violin."

"Oh, my, no; I am only a beginner; the more I study, the more I like to learn."

"How long have you been a student?"

"About six years."

"Now, John, let me ask you a question. Suppose I should say to you, 'I am invited to a musical entertainment next Saturday night, and I am invited to play a violin solo. I have never had such an instrument in my hands. Furthermore, I do not know a note.' And if I should go to you and ask you to give me a few pointers, so that I could keep my end up and not make a fool of myself, what would you say to me?"

"Good morning, Mr. Tormey; I will see you again."

Coming to the second grade, it is the experience of nearly all men and women that they can look back to a certain period in their lives, when they imagined they knew more of the world than the ones placed over them. These are like the whist players who know they know it all, and are graduates of the second stage of whist.

They are generally deep-rooted on the top of their imaginary whist mound—for want of a better name let us call it "fool hill." A great many players at whist, I may say the majority, even at the present day, start up this hill with a rush, brim full of enthusiasm, and all too quickly get to the top, pitch their tents there, and seldom, if ever, look over the ridge.

In this class of whist players are they who pride themselves in saying they "never looked into a whist book in their lives" and pooh-hoo the idea of such a foolish and nonsensical thing as wasting their time studying the game. They get a smattering of the leads around some whist club; they also get a shadow of an idea of second hand play. They are always the first to pick up all foolish fads they hear of that the whist wind blows in; they also, unfortunately for their partners learn how to make the "call for trumps" and they never fail to "work it" in season and out of season when they should and when they should not; they get it in at every opportunity and call it the "signal game." Did you see my call?

It is what they are dying to ask their partner as soon as the deal is finished, and oftentimes before it is finished, and they kick like a Government mule because they are not sought after to play on the club teams, and are "slighted" when they come to the club, because they are never invited to play with any of the strong players, or in any of the club contests, and they are the first to turn up their noses if any one attempts to give whist talks or instructions in the club, free for the benefit of just such as they.

I have tried, but with very limited success, to coax a few over this hill, down the other side to the little glade beyond, and after resting awhile, long enough to let them fully realize they are not able to stand alone in the game, take them by the hand and start them on the third stage.

This is one long, gradual incline, but the going is at all times very enjoyable, and while journeying through the byways and hedges, you will always meet pleasant companions, generally with outstretched hands, ready to assist you. The whist goal is at the top of this long stretch; few, or less, and long enough to get there, but to reach it one has to start at the bottom and work his way up, just the same as you would if you wished to ascend to the top of Mt. Shasta or started in to study law, music, surgery or astronomy; you must begin at the beginning and apply yourself diligently and faithfully. Don't follow in the footsteps of the thousand and one who get as far as the top of this "fool hill" and anchor there for the balance of their lives.

The players of this third grade you will meet in the clubs of the American whist league, east, west, north and south, scattered broadcast over the country and ever ready to give you a good, hearty welcome and a charming game of whist. They are always "students of the game" no more, no less, and long enough to make any pretensions to play, as do those of the first and second class. They have acquired a knowledge of the theory of the game, some from whist teachers some from the text books—the only way it can be acquired. They have made the game a study, just as they would any other art, science or accomplishment. The text books they can now cast aside—put them away on the top shelf, for reference only. They have been awarded their diplomas; now they are "practising," using their own best skill and judgment, as they should do.

One not only derives a wonderful amount of mental recreation, amusement and pleasure in playing the game from a scientific standpoint, but you prepare for yourself, or in other words, lay by a rich treasure for a happy, comfortable and enjoyable old age. [P. J. Tormey.]

Trow-Benedict.

Miss Mary Louise Benedict of Elmwood street, Newton Centre, daughter of the Rev. W. A. Benedict, became the bride of Mr. Harris Cushman Trow of Chicago, last week Wednesday evening. The ceremony was performed at 11 Wolcott road, Winchester, Rev. E. M. Noyes of the First church of Newton Centre officiating.

Mrs. Josef Sonberg of Winchester was the matron of honor and the Misses Mary Lewis Trow and Eugenia Bartlett Trow of Kingston, Mass., were the bridesmaids. The groom was attended by Mr. W. Carlton Benedict of Boston, as best man.

The bride was gowned in white crepe de chine over white silk and the bridesmaids wore white muslin over white.

A reception followed the ceremony from 8 to 10, Mr. and Mrs. Trow being assisted in receiving by Mrs. C. W. Trow. The house was prettily decorated with fall flowers.

After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Trow will reside in Chicago.

Mechanics Fair.

Mechanics Building, which all summer has been silent and untenanted, is now very much alive in view of the forthcoming exposition of the Merchants' and Mechanics' Association, which will open there on the fifth day of October. Already a number of the exhibits, the array of which is to be unprecedentedly large, have arrived, and chaos reigns, preparatory to the allotment and arrangement of each.

Most important, by all odds, of the early arrivals, and the one which is bound to command the greatest degree of public attention, is the Government Exhibit. It consists of rare and exceedingly valuable specimens of arms, ammunition and war implements from the War Department, to gether with samples of gold, silver and copper coin greenbacks and bank notes of all descriptions and denominations from the Treasury Department.

Probably the next feature in point of interest to the general public as an educational factor, will be the Infant Incubator, a truly remarkable and all but marvelous scientific demonstration.

Other world wonders will be the air ships and aerial ascensions, the liquid air and wireless telegraphy exhibits, and a number of a purely scientific character nevertheless will prove decidedly enjoyable as well as instructive.

It is in the Midway of Fairyland however that the greatest and most varied entertainment will be found. Here the director of amusements of the exposition has been given carte blanche, and he has spared no expense to make this feature one of a marvel and a mystery as extraordinary and inexplicable as it is dazzling and bewildering.

To crown all and cap the climax, comes Creator, the renowned band master, and his band, giving concerts every afternoon and evening during the first three weeks of the Fair. Creator will be followed by the Klitties Band, that other celebrated musical organization, which has just completed a tour of the continent.

The directors of the Exposition are planning to set apart a time when the school children of New England may visit the Fair free of charge. Twenty-five cents secures admission to the Exposition.

The Bartol, Huntington avenue and Gainsborough street, Boston, on American plan, is a most homelike and enjoyable hotel. Its equipment and furnishings are new, the table and service excellent, and the rooms light and airy, a majority of them being outside rooms, with a pleasing outlook therefrom. Rooms may be obtained furnished or unfurnished, if applied for soon, as all the rooms are not engaged, are specially desirable and attractive. They are extra large, with closets. The Bartol has a fine location in the immediate vicinity of Symphony, Horticultural and Chickering halls, Public Library, Art Museum, Technology, Tufts, and Conservatory of Music; cars for every depot, boat, theatre and suburb. The best place in Boston to winter and at reasonable cost.

The First Post Houses.

The first posts are said to have originated in the regular couriers established by Cyrus about 550 B. C., who erected post houses throughout the kingdom of Persia. Augustus was the first to introduce this institution among the Romans, 31 B. C., and he was imitated by Charlemagne about 800 A. D. Louis XI. was the first sovereign to establish post houses in France owing to his eagerness for news, and they were also the first institution of this nature in Europe. This was in 1470, or about 2,000 years after they were started in Persia.

In England in the reign of Edward IV. (1483) riders on post horses went stages of "the distance of twenty miles from each other in order to procure the king the earliest intelligence of the events that passed in the course of the war that had arisen with the Scots. A proclamation was issued by Charles I. in 1631 that, "whereas to this time there hath been no certain intercourse between the kingdoms of England and Scotland, the king now commands his postmaster of England for foreign parts to settle a running post or two between Edinburgh and London to go thither and come back again in six days."

Helter Skelter.

"Helter skelter" has been suggestively defined as a jingling expression, vaguely imitating the hurried clatter of feet rapidly and irregularly moved. Most dictionaries, however, led astray probably by the ordinary orthography, have missed the true etymology of this phrase. It should be "helter kelter." "Helter" is an old word for "haug," probably connected with halter, and "kelter" is used by old writers in the sense of "order" or the proper state. Thus Barrow, the divine, says, "If the organs of prayer be out of kelter how can we pray?"

"Helter skelter," therefore, is literally "hang order" and means, "Oh, hang order; let us do it, or let it take its chance." Ben Jonson in "Every Man In His Humor" writes, "Helter skelter, hang sorrow, care'll kill a cat," and Shakespeare, using it to express rush and hurry, says, "Helter skelter have I rode to thee."

Understood His Art.

Baron von Steuben was the drillmaster of the Continental army at Valley Forge. At first the men in the ranks did not know the manual exercise; many of the officers knew little or nothing of maneuvering. One of the latter turned out for inspection in a dressing gown. "Himmel und erde!" cried the baron. "What kind of creature is this?" Baron von Steuben was choleric and profane, but he understood his art. He swore at the ragged Continentals in both German and French, but he taught them the value of drill and discipline. When he had exhausted all the French and German oaths he knew he would roar to his aid, "Come here, Herr Hauptmann, and help me curse these blockheads." But he turned the undisciplined militia into well drilled troops. Never again was the enemy able to laugh at "Mr. Washington's rotten regiments of ragamuffins."

Burial by Degrees.

The few old ex-slaves now left in the West Indies have many curious customs, but the most curious is that of burying themselves on the installment plan. When they comb their hair they are careful not to pull more hairs from the head than they can help. Those which come away they roll into a ball and put into a bag of white muslin. They do the same with the parings of their nails and any other portions of their anatomy which become detached. When the bag is full they bury it. If asked why they do this they reply: "When me dead, massa, you bury me body. Me hair am part of me body, so me bury it now when I dead."

A Nickname For Barrett.

Lawrence Barrett, the tragedian, was subject to dyspepsia, and when he was suffering from that disorder he was cold and distant toward his company. One irreverent fellow always refused, however, to be suppressed. He said one day: "Just look at Cassius. He looks as solemn and righteous as if he'd swallowed the sword of justice. Let's call him the Scabbard." And the Scabbard he was—out of his hearing—for the rest of that season.

An Insinuation.

"What I want," said the coy maid of more or less uncertain years, "is a hat that will suit my complexion."

"Oh," exclaimed the milliner, with sudden inspiration. "I have a hand painted hat in the window that I'm sure will be just what you want."—Chattanooga News.

Disappointed.

He—I hear that your engagement is broken.

Femina—Yes; he acted horribly.

He—But I thought that you broke it?

Femina—So I did, but he made absolutely no fuss about it.—Yale Record.

A Test.

"He has been mentioned as a candidate for office very frequently."

"Yes," answered Farmer Cortosnell. "The only trouble is that every time anybody mentions him the other fellows laugh."—Washington Star.

His Opinion.

"Yes, he's a confirmed bachelor. He thinks there is safety in numbers."

"Safety in numbers?"

"Yes. He says two run a good deal of risk when they become one."—New York Times.

Russell House,
North Woodstock, N. H.
For the Graphic:

North Woodstock has been filled to overflowing with guests this summer, and no wonder, for it is one of the most attractive and beautiful of the many lovely nooks in the White Mountains. It has rapidly grown into favor and prominence as a summer mountain resort. Thirty years ago I rode from the Profile House down through North Woodstock in a stage and only a few scattered farm houses were to be seen. Today it is an active, bustling village with several hotels, numerous boarding houses and a few excellent stores. The Deer Park Hotel, Fairfield House, Alpine House, Russell House, Mountain View House, Fair View House and others give pleasant places for summer outings.

North Woodstock is the terminus of the Penigewasset Valley railroad, a branch line from Plymouth, twenty-one miles away. The town is situated in the Penigewasset valley, rimmed with mountains, clothed to the top with a green cover, picturesque and beautiful beyond description.

A little below the village is "Three Rivers," a place where the three branches, or three rivers, the East branch, the Moosilauke branch and the Middle branch join and form the Penigewasset. Lower down, at Franklin, the Penigewasset joins the Winnipisaukee, flowing from the lake forming the Merrimack river.

Up the Middle branch, ten miles away, is located "Henryville," a little village of several acres of houses, a schoolhouse, a church and quite a number of lumber mills. Mr. Henry owns thousands of acres of wood and timber lands and a railroad which extends some fifteen miles around and up into the mountains, rising more than thirteen hundred feet on the easterly side of Mount Liberty. There he cuts immense quantities of timber, hauls it to his mills and manufactures lumber. Besides this, he converts the spruce and refuse wood into paper pulp and coarse paper.

These lumbermen are rapidly clearing off the forests in the valleys and on the mountain sides, devastating the regions where they operate and ruining this beautiful country. Years ago, through a policy so short sighted as to appear almost criminal, thousands of acres of this mountain and valley region were granted or sold to various parties, to the detriment and injury of the state. Today, a strong effort is being made to induce the state or the United States to secure most of the White and Franconia mountains for a state or national reservation. It is greatly to be hoped that success will follow these efforts.

The Appalachian Mountain Club has done a vast amount of work and spent hundreds of dollars in repairing old paths and cutting new ones through the valleys and up the mountains, and building huts of refuge for the trampers. The value of this work is beginning to be appreciated and hundreds of acres of land have been presented to the club thus preserving these areas from being despoiled in the future.

Three excursion parties, numbering hundreds of guests from the hotels and boarding places have, through the kindness and courtesy of Mr. Henry, taken a ride up fourteen miles into this almost unbroken forest, and seen the lumbermen at their work.

There we saw the lumbermen's shanties where they live summer and winter, the kitchen, cook room and dining room combined and the stables for horses. All these buildings are fairly well built and far more comfortable than any others I ever saw. We saw the horses hauling the timber in sleds or dragged on the rough paths to the places where it was to be loaded on the cars to be transported to the mills many miles below. The railroad is a solid, substantial, well-built road, which must have cost enormous sums of money and will be almost valueless after the wood and timber has been cut.

We rode upon the flat, open, logging cars, around which a safety rail had been built and chairs and settees thickly covered the middle space for our comfort.

Mr. Henry, with several of his clerks, accompanied us to look after our safety and to give information. It was a wonderful and instructive excursion, thoroughly enjoyed by all.

There are many points of interest and beautiful places in and around North Woodstock. The ride to the Flume, five miles, the Profile House five miles beyond; Echo lake and Bald mountain a little further along, the foot of the Franconia Mountains is beautiful and picturesque. The Flume and the Old Man of the Mountains are world-renowned places to visit and see, with many other attractions on the way. By taking a luncheon the entire day can be spent in this interesting region.

Another walk or drive is to Agassiz basin, two miles, and then half a mile further up to Mountain Side Farm, where the view is grand and beautiful.

The Mummies are curiously worn ledges in the bed of the Moosilauke river half a mile away. Parkers ledge just beyond, where an easy climb to top and look out shows a broad panorama of valley and mountain of superb loveliness.

Balance rock, Bell's cascade, Gordon falls and the reservoir (from which the village is supplied with water) all on the Moosilauke river are romantic places to visit and in fairly easy walking distance, mostly through the woods. Georgina Falls and Jackman Falls, four or five miles away, are pleasant places to visit, although rather hard climbs.

Standing on the plateau in the rear of the Russell House, the view is wonderfully grand. The whole valley is surrounded by mountain peaks rising tier on tier till the horizon seems a serrated ridge.

There appears but two openings to this valley, the Franconia Notch, guarded by the Old Man of the Mountains, north, and at the south where the Penigewasset has cut its way to the Winnipisaukee river. Scores of mountain peaks rise on every side.

It is a huge basin surrounded by mountain peaks. One of the principal attractions of this region is Lost river, some seven miles distant. Here for half a mile the river is "lost" to view, but can be heard murmuring over its granite bed many feet below. The narrow ravine through which it flows is filled with gigantic boulders, forming caves and caverns through which one can climb and wriggle by the aid of lanterns and rope under the care of a reliable guide. It is a wonderfully interesting place, but usually one trip is enough to satisfy the ordinary sight seer.

The Russell House is a very pleasant place to spend a summer vacation. It is convenient and accessible, half a mile from the depot, on the main road, near stores and post office. It is village and country combined. Two young ladies came here from Newton several weeks ago. They asked me how far it was out into the country. "Out of the back door," I replied and leading them literally out of the back door to the plateau they were really in the country. They screamed with delight at the beautiful panorama of mountain and valley on every side. Across the road the Penigewasset river flows murmuring sweet music night and day. Carpenter in his guide book describes North Woodstock as the most beautiful spot in the White Mountains.

J. F. Frisbie, M. D.

To the Newton Graphic:

The question whether or not to accept the new caucus law is to be submitted to the voters of Newton at the next general election to be held next November.

This law provides for holding joint instead of separate caucuses. The voter attends at his regular precinct voting place, asks for a ballot containing the names of persons nominated as now provided by law, for the party to which he belongs, and marks this ballot in the same manner as he does the general ballot at the state or city election. The nominations are for all the offices except delegates to a national convention and ward committeemen, after a change in ward lines. The ballots are counted and those having the most votes are the regular nominees of their respective parties and have their names printed on the general ballot furnished by the state.

As caucuses are now conducted it is not uncommon for a small but determined clique to compel the nomination of their candidate. The average business man finds it a bore, if not an impossibility, to give up a whole evening to attend a caucus, and only does so by the earnest solicitation of friends who have some particular object to accomplish. If, impelled by duty and not by friendship, he attends, he not infrequently finds that his time is lost whether he votes for or against the persons who have workers for them there. Under these circumstances he fails to attend the next time and rarely feels any interest. Under the new law he can drop in at his election precinct room on his way to or return from town and vote at an expense of not more than fifteen minutes time, and his vote counts as much as anybody's. He also has the full list of candidates to select from and can feel assured that the result will not be a snap affair accomplished by a determined few.

Some objection has been made to the law on the ground that the voter must declare his party preference. But this objection applies equally to any caucus. Each person who attends a caucus thereby declares his party choice. Perhaps the greatest advantage of the new law is that it prevents frauds at a caucus. It has sometimes happened that the caucus called by one party has been attended by persons not properly belonging to that party and candidates have thus been named who did not properly represent the party calling the caucus. This cannot happen under the new law.

Another advantage of the new law is that caucuses under it will be conducted by the regular election officers and the danger of confusion, irregularity or mistake greatly diminished. For these reasons it is hoped that the voters of Newton will accept the law.

Letter to Francis Murdock, Newton

Dear Sir: We suspect you'd like the tale, how a woman beat two hardware dealers in Girard, Pa.

We tried our best to get those men to sell Devco lead and zinc in that bright town, and failed. Reluctantly took Mrs. E. K. Bowman, druggist. They said they couldn't sell paint for more than $1.25 a gallon. Mrs. Bowman can. She has sold about all the paint, that has been sold there since.

She knew Devco: had sold our artists' materials. Had some sense and force, besides; she easily learned that cheap is dear in paint, and told the people.

Mr. Burt Young bought a gallon Devco for rooms that had always taken a gallon; had half left.

Mr. E. H. Hiler, jeweler, painted Devco, and says it goes further—no particulars.

Mr. John Hanna, grocer, thought it expensive before he bought it; brought back nearly half of his paint, and said it was the cheapest job he ever had.

Mrs. Bowman reports universal satisfaction. So much for a cheap paint town with a bright woman in it. Yours truly,

F. W. Devco & Co., New York.

P. S. J. M. Briggs & Son, W. E. T. Hinson, and McWain and Son sell our paint.

The Mendelssohn quartet sang "Nearer My God to Thee." Lead Kindly Light and "Softly and Tenderly." The interment was at Forest Hills.

The Stupid Mistake.

A well known Londoner was planning an entertainment on an elaborate scale to be given to various friends in the neighborhood of his country seat. Unfortunately his nearest neighbor, a close relative, is highly ungenial to himself and his intimates and he racked his brains to devise a scheme by which he might avoid the necessity of inviting the undesirable cousin to be among his guests.

"I have it!" he announced to his wife at breakfast on the morning of the event. "I'll send him some tickets for the play tonight in town. Of course he'll be delighted, as he seldom has an opportunity of going to the theater."

The tickets were accordingly sent, and the host with an easy conscience proceeded to enjoy the company of his friends. But his satisfaction was of short duration. At the height of the festivities in walked the objectionable neighbor.

"Such a stupid mistake you made!" he announced as he approached his cousin. As soon as I heard about your party I knew that you must have sent me the tickets for the wrong night; so I got them changed for tomorrow evening and came right over here as soon as I could."—Harper's Weekly.

When Vaughan Washed Windows.

Sir Francis Burnand was at one time with the Oblates of St. Charles at Bayswater when Manning was superior and Vaughan was novice master. For a jest which had made his fellow novices laugh at a solemn moment Father Vaughan, as he then was, condemned Sir Francis to clean a casement window and volunteered to show him how to do it. Thereupon he stepped out to the liberal window sill, his cassock fluttering in the friendly wind, which, moreover, shut the window. The bap was then turned, and the dinner bell ringing, the refractory novice went down to the refectory. In mid meal the superior became aware of a little crowd in the roadway gazing upward. What was the vision? A brief investigation resulted in the release of Father Vaughan and also of the novice. "Go a priest!" exclaimed the superior. "You and make boots." "You still commit to me the care of souls," was the parting salutation of the future editor of Punch.—London Chronicle.

How Fast a Horse's Feet Move.

Did you ever think, says a horseman, how fast a horse in a 2:20 gait moves his feet? When a horse is trotting a 2:20 gait his feet move a little faster than a mile in 1:10. As his body is moving at 2:20 and as each of his feet when in contact with the ground is stationary and then is picked up and moved forward to take the next step the foot must move as much faster than the body as to make the step, which is over twice as fast. Now, the action is: The foot is at rest upon the ground and is raised some one or two feet high, then forced forward nearly the full length of the leg, then lowered to the ground and is at rest for nearly two-thirds of the time that the next step is being taken. The time, nearly two-thirds, I think, is too long, but it is from one-half to two-thirds of the next step.

Differences in Woods.

Timber is classed as hard or soft, and the main point of difference between the trees that produce these classes is that the soft wooded tree has "needle leaves," slim, narrow and almost uniform in breadth, while the hard wood trees have broad leaves of various shapes. Again, some soft wood trees carry cones, such trees being termed conifers. Resin, too, is more characteristic of soft than of hard wood. To the class of soft woods belong the pines, spruces and firs, and the most common examples of these are yellow pine, white fir, pitch pine and spruce or red fir. In the commoner hard woods are oak, beech, mahogany, ash, walnut, plane, elm, birch and ebony.

Colors That Last Longest.

As twilight approaches a garden filled with brilliant flowers the red flowers will first lose their gorgeous color as the light diminishes, and then the grass and leaves will appear grayish. The last flowers to part with their distinctive color—white flowers being left out of the account—will be the blue or violet ones. This fact is useful to such insects as, in order to avoid their enemies, visit wild flowers in the twilight.

The Usual Thing.

"I would like to know," asked the parent who had a son in need of some further education, "what is the course at your college?" "The usual half mile course of cinders and all that sort of thing, you know," absent-mindedly replied the president of the great institution.—Exchange.

The Lucky Party.

A gentleman was complimenting a pretty young lady in the presence of his wife. "It's lucky I did not meet Miss Hopkins before I married you, my dear." "Well, yes; it is extremely—for her," was the rejoinder.

The Ruling Passion.

Son—Pa, every now and then I see something in the papers about the "ruling passion." What is it, anyway? Pa (after a cautious glance around the apartment)—It's a disease your ma is badly afflicted with, my son.

Not to Blame.

The Elderly Lady—They say his wife has money. The Younger—Well, that isn't his fault. They've only been married a short time.

Every time a man comes across a lot of old clothes in the house he searches the pockets, though he never finds anything.

The Wearing of Hats.
In the thirteenth century the use of the scarlet hat, which distinguished cardinals, was sanctioned by Pope Innocent IV. Throughout medieval times the wearing of a hat was regarded as a mark of rank and distinction. During the reign of Charles I. the Puritans affected a steeple crown and broad brimmed hat, while the cavaliers adopted a lower crown and a broader brim, ornamented with feathers. In the early part of the reign of Henry V. hats became popular, and in the time of the wars of the roses all men of high and low degree (with the exception of "prentices, who wore caps") wore hats. The cocked hat made its appearance in the reign of James II., and could be converted into a variety of shapes. It was known under several names, as the Brigadier, the Tamboles, the Regent and the Frederick.

Even to the present day the naval full dress is incomplete without the cocked hat, and on the continent many functionaries, civil as well as military, continue to wear it. Our old militia, line and field officers used to wear them of immense proportions. The round hat, such as Ben Franklin wore, was taken to Paris from this country by the young officers who fought for our independence under Rochambeau and Lafayette. It met with great favor there.

Antiquity of the Pump.
Machines for raising water may be said to be as old as civilization itself, and their invention extends so far beyond written history that no one can say when the art of lifting and distributing water began. Egypt, the land of unfathomable antiquity, the oldest civilization of the orient, noted not only for her magnificence and power, but for knowledge, wisdom and engineering skill, understood and made practical use of such important hydraulic devices as the siphon and the syringe, the latter being a remarkable invention and the real parent of the modern pump. Whether or not syringes were ever fitted with inlet and outlet valves, thus making the single action pump, is not known. But belows consisting of a leather bag set in a frame and worked by the feet, the operator standing with one foot on each bag, expelling the inclosed air, the exhaust bag being then lifted by a string to refill it with air, implies the use of a valve opening inward, and it is difficult to conceive of a continuous operation without one.

Hang at the Girdle.
In the middle ages at the girdle were hung the thousand and one odds and ends needed and utilized in every day affairs. The scrivener had his ink horn and pen attached to it, the scholar his book or books, the monk his crucifix and rosary, the innkeeper his tallies, and everybody his knife. So many and so various were the articles attached to it that the flippant began to poke fun.

In an old play there is mention of a merchant who had hanging at his girdle a pouch, a spectacle case, a "pencil," a pen and ink horn and "a handkerchief, with many other trinkets besides, which a merry companion seeing said it was like a barber's shop of small wares." In another early play a lady says to her maid: "Give me my girdle and see that all the furniture be at it. Look that cizars, platters, the penknife, the knife to close letters with, the bodkin, the ear picker and the scale be in the case."

Boots and Shoes.
Boots are supposed to have been the invention of the Carlians. They were mentioned by Homer, 907 B. C. Grecian women possessed twenty-two kinds of footgear, which may be classed as those which cover all the foot up to the ankle and those which simply tied on the top of the foot with wide ribbons or straps. The practice of shoe and sandal wearing can be traced back for some thousands of years and is probably of eastern origin. Frequent mention is made of the shoe in the Bible, from the book of Exodus to the Acts, and there is mention made of a shoe latchet as early as the time of Abraham.

Food and Character.
A scientist has recently been investigating the effect of food, particularly vegetables, on the human character. He affirms that a diet of carrots ameliorates harshness of character and reduces nervous irritability; peas create joyousness, while turnips have a depressing influence. Cabbage is good for pulmonary complaints, while lettuce acts as a sedative upon the human frame owing to the opium contained in its milky juice.

A Center of Attention.
"I shouldn't be surprised if our child should be a great statesman, with extraordinary talents for filibustering," said the father.

"Why, he can't even talk yet," said the mother.

"That's true. He hasn't anything to say, and yet look at the time and attention he can monopolize!"—Washington Star.

Father's Shortcoming.
"The trouble with father," said the gilded youth, "is that he has no idea of the value of money."

"You don't mean to imply that he is a spendthrift?"

"Not at all. But he puts his money away and doesn't appear to have any appreciation of all the things he might buy with it."—Exchange.

The Difference.
"What is the difference between a woman's whist club and a man's poker club?"

"Why, in one you get home to dinner and in the other to breakfast."—Detroit Free Press.

Spend not all you have, believe not all you hear and tell not all you know.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Boston Theatre.—"Quincy Adams Sawyer," the great New England play which has charmed hundreds of thousands of theatregoers throughout the country in the past three seasons and is always popularly welcomed by New England theatregoers began its fourth engagement at the Boston theatre last Monday evening, with the house literally packed to the doors and hundreds of people standing. To a great many patrons on the opening night it must have seemed that "Quincy Adams Sawyer" started in just where it left off a year ago, for late comers were greeted by the "Standing Room Only" sign, even though the seating capacity had been extended by placing the orchestra under the stage.

Seats are now on sale for the next two weeks and they should be secured well in advance. Matinees will be given as usual on Wednesday and Saturday.

Grand Opera House.—Next week's attraction at the Grand Opera House will be Gus Hill's new version of Ray's "A Hot Old Time" which is promised as being better in every way than when seen at this theatre at its previous engagements. It has been revised and re-arranged so as to make it one of the most gratifying specimens of modern musical farce-comedy on the stage.

A quintette of mixed voices will present several of the very latest musical numbers in an excellent manner and a large chorus of handsomely gowned girls with splendidly trained voices are a feature of the presentation. The usual matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday during this engagement.

Majestic Theatre.—Of the annual output of new material for the amusement of the American play-going public there will, perhaps, be no more interesting effort this season than the dramatization of Owen Wister's stirring and faithful story of the plains, "The Virginian." This play has a peculiar significance at this time for Bostonians, from the fact that its producer, Kirke La Shelle, has decided to show it in this city first of all. It will be the bill at the Majestic theatre for a limited engagement beginning Monday evening, Oct. 5.

Though nearly a quarter of a million copies of "The Virginian" have been sold, and though the novel has been pronounced by book reviewers to come nearer the requirements of a classic than any other recent American work of fiction, it is not the intention of Mr. La Shelle to depend in the least degree upon the popularity of the book as an aid to the success of the play.

No detail has been omitted to make the stage settings and effects as nearly perfect as possible.

Boston Music Hall.—One of the most notable successes of last season at Boston Music Hall was "Hearts of Oak," which played a week's engagement there to enormous business and which returns to that theatre on Monday afternoon of next week for one week. Of the many plays which were written by the late James A. Herne, two of them bid fair to live for many years. These are "Shore Acres" and "Hearts of Oak," both of which are playing to crowded houses throughout the country this season. These two stirring domestic dramas have their scenes laid along the shore of the rugged New England coast.

"Hearts of Oak" is produced this season under the personal direction of Mrs. Herne, and she has provided a splendid cast for the various roles, the company including a number of last season's favorites. The usual daily matinees will be given.

Keith's Theatre.—Always in the van in the matter of enterprise it will cause little surprise among Boston theatregoers to learn that the management at Keith's has arranged for the appearance at that favorite place of amusement of the splendid military band that is to come here with the Ancient and Honourable Artillery Company of London, the famous Fifth Royals, and that petite concert will be given at Keith's afternoons and evenings during the week of Oct. 5. The evening hour is a matter of necessity, as the English army regulations will not permit the musicians playing after 9 o'clock p. m. In order to secure the band at all, it was necessary to receive a permit from the British war office and a cable to that effect was received on Saturday last. The surrounding bill includes many entertainers of note. Prominent among them is Wilfred Clarke, the well-known "legitimate" comedian, who is to appear in a farce of his own making entitled "In a Bigraph," supported by an excellent company. Edward Bixley, who is said to be as clever an eccentric comedian as Nat Wills; Cooper and Bailey, "real coons" of the Williams and Walker type; Press Edridge, with his ridiculous shirt waist and a new monologue and songs; Doherty's poodles, the "cutest" little animal performers in vaudeville; Lucile Joscelyn, a well-known vocalist, and Colinus and St. Alva, in "A Silent Woman," a most amusing sketch.

Hub Theatre.—After a series of excellent melodramas at the popular Hub theatre, at the corner of Washington and Dover streets, Boston, that theatre will make a distinct departure next Monday afternoon in presenting one of the best known farce comedies now before the public, as the attraction for next week only. The attraction referred to is the three-act musical farce comedy, "The Dazzler," which has the distinction of having been played longer than any other farce comedy that has ever been produced. It will be presented by a company of 30 talented artists, including several popular comedians, pretty girls and clever specialty people. Daily matinees will be given and the same popular scale of prices of 15 and 25 cents at the matinees and 10, 20 and 30 cents at night, will prevail during the engagement.

Literary Notes.

Ruth McEnery Stuart, author of "Napoleon Jackson," has just finished another story of southern life with the scene laid in the city of New Orleans. It is entitled "George Washington Jones; a Christmas gift that went a-begging."

George Washington Jones, "ten years old, little, black, sensitive," finds himself one Christmas morning absolutely without family or kindred, and almost without a friend. In his loneliness, the little boy recalls the story of his grandfather, now dead, who in the days "befo' the wah" had been given as a Christmas gift to the "loveliest mistress in all the world," and of this recollection is born a determination to give himself away to some young lady who would make him her page, for then he would "from dat time for'd jist live right along with the quality." He puts this plan into execution and the effect it had upon his whole after life, and the lives of several other persons as well, is the story of George Washington Jones, and it is told with the indescribable tenderness and delicacy of touch that characterize Mrs. Stuart's domain in literature.

The author's skill in unfolding a story; her nimble dexterity in handling the characters she evolves; the humor and pathos and witchery that distinguish her writings from those of other expositors of the negro character, have never been more in evidence than in the story of the little black boy, whom with admirable discernment she keeps in the centre of the stage. Her audience, which is sure to be a large one, is equally sure to be infectiously enthusiastic; and yet, without the magic of the author's name in the writing world, the story would survive, for it is one of the best and prettiest ever written.

The book will be published early in the Fall by Henry Alden Company.

The October number of the National Magazine of Boston is high-water mark for that periodical.

Among the contributors of special articles and current comment are Poulton Bigelow, Senator Tillman, Dallas Lore Sharp, Charles Ferguson, Dr. Felix Oswald, Major R. S. Porter, Colonel James Matlock Scovel, George T. Richardson, Kate Sanborn, Joe Mitchell Chapple and Frank Putnam. The story tellers of the number are Eva Hampton Prather of Atlanta, Carrie Hunt Latta of Indianapolis, Jack B. Norman and Ellis Parker Butler of New York, Henry Oyen of Chicago, H. Arthur Powell of Connecticut and Abbie Libbey Holmes of Wisconsin.

The poets are Yone Noguchi, the Japanese celebrity; Helen Hicks of Ontario, Oscar Johnson of Iowa, "Columbine" of New Orleans, and Mrs. Robert N. Pollard of Virginia. Senator Tillman predicts the repeal of the amendment granting suffrage to the negro; Major Porter reports vividly a bit of "savage fighting in the Philippines; Poulton Bigelow writes a rollicking story of a canoe trip in an Alpine stream. Charles Ferguson's Genius of Business comes to a brilliant conclusion in this number. Not the least striking feature of the number is a little Indian girl's prize story of how she got an Indian hunter to subscribe for the magazine.

—Miss Pratt of Fisher avenue has returned to Smith college.

—The Monday club will hold its first meeting with Mrs. Ball on Monday next.

—Mills' undertaking rooms, 813 Washington street, Newtonville. Tel. 445-5.

—Mr. Willis G. Myers and family of Centre street have returned from a trip to Europe.

—Lawyer Torrey of Elliot and wife have an addition to their family by the birth of a daughter.

—Mr. George H. Lowe and family are moving into the Evans house they recently purchased on Centre street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Hovey of Chestnut terrace are receiving congratulations on the birth of a daughter.

—At the Baptist Ministers' meeting in Lorimer hall, Boston, last Monday morning a memorial service was held for the late Rev. Dr. Alvah Hovey.

—Mr. Raymond Mills Anderson is among the members of the Sophomore class of Yale college who attained honors for high scholarship averages during the freshman year.

—Last Friday evening sparks from a chimney caused a fire in the house of Herbert I. Ordway at 11 Gibbs street. The loss is estimated at $1,000. The alarm was sounded from Box 73.

—Mr. and Mrs. M. John Barrov of Centre street will have the sympathy of their many friends in the loss of their little daughter, Marion, last Friday. Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the interment was in the Waltham cemetery.

—The Hon. Henry S. Washburn, aged 90 years, author of "The Vacant Chair," and a former state senator, died about 11 o'clock last night at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Henry S. Williams, at 1196 Centre street, Newton Centre. Death was due to heart failure, resulting from his advanced years.

—The marriage of Mr. F. L. Richardson, treasurer of the Newton Centre Trust Company, to Miss Bertha Helen Jenkins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. George O. Jenkins, occurred last Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, 508 Broadway, South Boston. Mr. and Mrs. Richardson will reside on Harrison street, Eliot, and will be at home to friends on Tuesday, Dec. 1.

—Mr. Frank E. Liddell of Parker avenue, who was stricken with apoplexy last Monday, died Tuesday morning, aged 43 years. He had resided here for some time, was a painter by profession and was much respected by all who knew him. Deceased was master workman of Newton Centre Lodge, A. O. U. W. A widow survives him. Funeral services will be held from the house this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Nonantum.

—Next Sunday from 12 to 1 P. M. will be observed as Rally Sunday by the North Evangelical church. Dr. O. S. Davis will speak and there will be special music.

—Several boys were arrested Monday evening for entering the house of Frank Seaward on California street and stealing children's banks containing about eight dollars.

—A Harvest supper and concert will be given next Wednesday evening at the North Evangelical church. The supper will be served at 6:30 o'clock and the concert will be given by Kate Belle Walton, reciter, Alice Worcester Weeks, soprano, M. Millie Beardsley, contralto, Helen McDonald, pianist, Jennie Fillbrown, cornetist and Frances Hiltz, violinist.

—Last Sunday afternoon a very large audience gathered at the eighth anniversary of the Beulah Sabbath school. The chapel was finely decorated with plants and flowers. The children of the school rendered their solos, duets, and recitations almost without a flaw. Miss Annie Crossland presided at the piano while the superintendent had charge of the service. Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Deacon O. M. Wentworth of Tremont Temple will be the speaker.

Lower Falls.

—Box 616 was rung in just before 6 o'clock last Monday night for a slight blaze at the home of Mr. John Doyle of Winter street. The damage was very small.

Tomlinson-Curtis.

A pretty home wedding took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo P. Curtis on Newtonville avenue last Wednesday evening when their daughter Mabel Warren was united in marriage to Mr. William Edward Tomlinson of West Newton. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock by Rev. Albert Hammatt pastor of the Universalist church and only the relatives and a few intimate friends were present. The bride's dress was of white sapphire satin with rose point trimmings and she wore her mother's wedding veil. The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion and the ushers at the informal reception were Messrs. Francis M. Ryder of Roxbury, cousin of the bride; George L. Curtis of Worcester, brother of the bride, and Charles D. Burnham of Newton Centre. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Tomlinson will reside on Watertown street, West Newton, where they will be at home to their friends after December 1st.

Death of Dr. Holden.

Dr. Austin Holden, librarian of the American Academy of Arts and Sciences on Boylston street, Boston, was found dead in the cellar of his residence on Waverley avenue last Wednesday afternoon about 5 o'clock. He had gone down to look at some alterations and a half hour later his body was discovered by Mr. Stephen S. Beal, a carpenter who had been working about the house. Medical examiner Mead viewed the body and pronounced death due to natural causes, probably heart failure. Having but recently moved here from West Newton into the old historic Kendrick homestead which he purchased some months ago and repaired. Dr. Holden had been busy overseeing the alterations and arrangement of his furniture, much of it being antique and of great value. Deceased was 49 years of age. He had been connected with the American Academy for a number of years and was held in high esteem. A widow survives him.

Annual Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Auburndale Village Improvement Association was held last evening in Northumbria hall. In the absence of the president Mr. Quincy Pond presided. A debate was held over the proposition of the city to turn over, to the Metropolitan Park Commission, the little park at Auburndale.

Remarks were made by Judge J. C. Kennedy, W. A. Knowlton, Alderman Charles A. Brown, George M. Fiske, C. S. Ober, Rev. Dr. F. N. Peloubet, George D. Harvey, and others. The general sentiment was that as the association had spent nearly $4,000 on the park it would be advisable for the city to hold it and to appropriate money to convert it into a playground. It was finally resolved that the officers of the society together with the alderman of the ward should confer with the mayor in view of finding out what his intentions were in regard to the matter. A debate was also held in regard to the removal of the Ash street school and it was resolved that the society call the respectful attention of the mayor and alderman to the old building, request it be removed and the grounds be converted into a playground for the scholars of the Burr school. The officers elected were: Pres., J. Frank Ryder; Vice Pres., Quincy Pond; Sec., C. B. Conn; Treas., Henry G. Hildreth; Ex. Committee, George M. Fiske, F. A. McCicer, G. H. Bourne, A. J. Desoe.

At Jane Robinson's.

During the three days of Oct. 5, 6, and 7 an exhibition of trimmed hats, bonnets, turbans and toques will be held at Jane Robinson's, 194 Boylston St., Room 3. In the parlors every convenience for the comfort of the patrons may be found; and as the rooms are one story from the street they are exclusive enough to save one from coming in contact with many others.

The designer is always in the parlors to help in the selection of hats and to offer suggestions and ideas for things exclusive. From the beginning of the season hats may be found here at $8 and $10 to $30 inclusive. The French hats brought over for models will be shown and may be copied for those who might like a different color to better match a gown. A special effort will be made this season to supply children and misses with something stylish.

At the Republican County Convention held in Lowell yesterday, Samuel D. Upham, county commissioner, Joseph O. Hayden, county treasurer, S. H. Folsom, register of probate and Edwin A. Childs, registrar of deeds were renominated. Newton was represented on the committee on credentials.

Danes and Germans.

The character and temperament of the population of north Sleswick are very quiet and peaceable. As an official Prussian record of criminal cases states, there is in the whole German empire no single province in which so few sentences are passed by the criminal judges as in north Sleswick. There were only half the Prussian average of theft cases and cases of robbery with murder and murderous assault. These favorable crime statistics are due principally to the good bringing up and intelligence of the middle and lower classes as well as to the cordial and harmonious family life of the Danish population. Among the individual members of the family there always exists a consistently affectionate and hearty tone in their intercourse with each other. I visited many theaters, restaurants and inns, which were principally frequented by the Danish inhabitants, but nowhere saw an improper action nor an ill mannered offense. The intercourse between master and servant is also always friendly and polite.—W. Hartmann in Nineteenth Century.

Too Familiar.

Countess (to new valet)—Johann, I observed yesterday, to my intense horror, that you clean my husband's clothes and your own with the same brush. I most strictly prohibit any such familiarities for the future.—From the German.

Infantile Perversity.

Hubby (walking the floor at 2 a. m.)—I'd just like to know why this baby persists in staying awake every night. Wife—Really, I can't imagine. I never have any trouble in keeping him asleep in the daytime.—New York Weekly.

A woman usually follows fashions in dressing her hair till the second baby comes, when she hasn't time to experiment and clings to the style prevalent then till her death.—Athenian Globe.

Why should We Work?

Work is activity in some phase of our life. Life is manifested in activity, and inactivity would be stagnation, which would be fatal to life.

In the universe wherever there is life there is activity. This is true in the vegetable, the animal and the human worlds. This activity is a necessity which runs through all organic life. The life that is not crowned with ennobling work of some kind, either for one's own livelihood or for the good of others, is an empty life—an abnormal life.

Work is natural; idleness unnatural. Work builds up, and inactivity tears down. Idleness is a violation of our being. Hence it is immoral.

There are manifold reasons why we should work and no reason why we should not. Those who are not obliged to labor for their daily bread should choose work of some kind in obedience to the universal law that we see running all creation.

He who was of the opinion that "the man who does not work should not eat" realized the demoralizing influence of a life spent in idleness.—American Queen.

Looked Like Her Father's Work.

A certain surgeon had three leg amputation cases in a week. The unusual number of serious and similar operations naturally caused talk in the surgeon's household, and his little daughter was greatly interested. A few days after the last operation the surgeon's wife and daughter were rummaging in the attic. In a trunk was found a daguerreotype depicting a girl of about eight years of age. The portrait through a peculiarity of pose showed only one leg of the subject, the other being doubled up under her in a manner truly feminine.

"Whose picture is that, mamma?" asked the surgeon's daughter.

"Mine. It was taken when I was a child not much older than you are now."

"Did you know papa then?"

"No, dear. Why do you ask?"

"I thought maybe you did 'cause you've only got one leg."

The Mast Made His Coffin.

The Macedonian was sent to the Brooklyn navy yard to have a new mast put into her. Old Jack Stady bossed the yard then, and Captain Hudson was commandant. When the job was finished and the ship was about to sail Jack called on the commandant. "Captain," he said, "I've axed you few favors in my time, but I'm goin' to bother you with one now. When old Jack goes to Davy Jones' locker he wants you to send him below in a box made out of that old mast. Will you do it, sir?" The captain promised. Old Jack died not long afterward, and Hudson was as good as his word. The mast was cut down and sawed into boards, and the honest soul was buried in a coffin made of them.

Too Tempting.

Miss Arabella Paxton had long since said goodbye to her youth, but nobody had accused her of doing it with resignation.

"What were you thinking of to start Cousin Arabella off in that merry-go-round?" asked Mrs. Jennings at the county fair. She had just received her dizzy and disheveled relative at the end of a trip on the flying horses.

"You needn't look so severe at me," said Mr. Jennings reproachfully when Cousin Arabella had been deposited on a settee and left to recover her equilibrium. "She heard a woman say the machine was enough to scare anybody out of ten years' growth, and after that she was possessed to ride in it."

Queer Way to Display a Troussseau.

An Arabian bride is arrayed in all her dresses, one over the other. She is perched on a high stool, so that they hang down over it, and one by one they are taken off with much display and admiring comment from the guests. The last is, of course, the most beautiful. The bridegroom is hidden in some corner where he can see his future wife's dowry, which, however, he may not touch.

Servian Cruelty.

The Servians have long been notorious for the cruelty exercised by them in the punishment of political prisoners. They are confined in subterranean cells, with just enough air to keep them alive. The fortress at Belgrade contains a deep well, dating back to Roman times, which is believed to contain the skeletons of many of these prisoners.

Bullets and Botany.

A correspondent tells the London News that being at Palling, in Norfolk he asked permission of a local marsh owner to walk over his meadows. "What for?" he wanted to know. "Oh, to do a little botanizing," was the reply. There was a pause while the landowner scratched his head. Then, slowly and suspiciously, "Not with a gun?"

Fixed.

Super—No, sir, the ghost hasn't walked for two weeks.

Critтик—I saw the leading man with a wad today. He must have got his salary.

Super—Oh, yes; he's the star.

Critтик—What you might call a "fixed" star, eh?—Philadelphia Ledger.

Why He Kicked.

"Say, old chap, it isn't nice of you to refuse to lend me that V. One friend should always be willing to help the other."

"True, but I object to invariably being the other."—New York World.

Her Excuse.

Widow (to dressmaker)—You must really wait awhile for payment for the mourning dresses. We are still too sorrowful to consider financial matters.

And at 8.40 P. M. the board adjourned.

Albemarle.

The finals in the open amateur golf tournament of the Albemarle club were played Saturday afternoon, and a large gallery turned out to watch the game. In class 1, R. C. Crocker of Brockton won his match from W. F. Herrick of Brae Burn, 5 and 3. W. H. Cady of Brae Burn won the final in class 2, defeating S. B. Reed of Wollaston, 6 and 4. Prizes were also awarded to the runner up in each event.

Woodland.

The Woodland Golf Club of Auburndale announces that its open tournament will be held today and tomorrow. The event will be 18 holes, handicap, medal play, open to the members of all of the Newton clubs, including the Commonwealth Country Club and the Chestnut Hill Golf Club.

Newton Centre.

A handicap vs. bogey was played Saturday afternoon on the links of the Newton Centre Golf Club. Dwight Chester, with a handicap of 26, tied with the colonel at 80.

In a club team match team 2 defeated team 1, 24 to 16.

Newton Golf.

The qualifying round for the president's cup was played on the links of the Newton Golf Club. It was 18 holes, medal play, handicap, the best eight net to qualify for match play. M. Stanton made the best gross score of 90, and tied with F. T. Manning at 80 for best net.

Brae Burn.

The qualifying round for the October cups at the Brae-Burn Golf Club, West Newton, was a handicap vs. bogey, the best 16 scores to qualify for match play in two classes. W. B. Herrick beat bogey by six strokes.

A club team match in the fall series resulted in team 2 defeating team 1, 8 to 1.

Real Estate.

Edward T. Harrington & Co. have leased house No. 68 Warwick road, W. Newton to John Nevins; house No. 76 Elm street to Mrs. Norris.

Edward T. Harrington & Co., through their agent, Wm. H. Rand, have sold the Hyde estate, corner of North and Crafts streets, to J. M. Bridge of Somerville. The estate consists of 5.1-2 acres of land, house and stable. Assessed value $9000. Mr. Bridge buys for a home and will preserve the property in its present attractive state, which will be a source of gratitude to the public.

Financial.

The stock market has at last shown its ability to rise. After two weeks of liquidation and short selling, during which it seemed that prices would never find bottom, there came a very pronounced rally induced by buying of the best character. The undertone was stronger than at any time for a year past indicating apparently that liquidation is completed, and that bottom had been struck. There may be some odd lots still to be liquidated, but the best opinion seems to be that they will be well taken, and that the market from now on should improve.—Curtis & Sederquist.

Fall Disinfecting.

Is there anything more important to the health of the family than putting the house in a perfectly sanitary condition for the coming winter? Sanitary cleanliness—cleanliness by which the process of bactericidal life harmful to health is arrested and overcome—is occupying a very prominent place in the up-to-date housekeeper's mind. A little Sulpho-Napthol, one of the strongest bactericides known to science, in every part of a house used for cleansing, gives a condition of cleanliness and purity which is the highest point reached in home sanitation today. Sulpho-Napthol has revolutionized modern ideas of house cleaning.

Who is to blame?

My attention has been called to an article in a late issue of your paper from one whom it would seem has evidently been for several years a victim of fruit thieves. The question is asked, "Cannot something be done to create a sentiment against this large class of law breakers of both boys and girls, and we might add men and women. For when a father says, 'Oh! boys will be boys, I used to steal apples when I was a boy,' or a mother sees a child with fruit and does not ask whence it came or others who send their children into neighbor's gardens even to climb or shake the trees that they may obtain fruit for cookies? Are not these parents equally guilty with their children? Newton in the past few years has been started at the discovery and publication of swindles, thefts and defalcations of those who lived in the city and had been educated in its schools. Besides these are many smaller thefts known only to employers and employees and friends. Was it in these larger ways the criminals began? No, for whoever acts lightly by God's command will not stop at fruit stealing. At the dedication of the new school-house in Auburndale, I think it was Mayor Weeks who said, 'Teach the scholars the principle of mine and thine. Much is said about the culture of Newton. On some occasions statistics were given to show how much was spent for school buildings and maintenance of schools in Newton. All right, let us have the best, the most artistic, the best teachers and equipments, but remember the culture of Rome and Greece did not save them and our Saviour denounced Capernum on that very ground. Newton may be cultured, clubs, schools and churches may abound, but if its standards of morality are low, if we are raising up a class of hoodlums, thieves and drunkards, what will be the result? What can be done? There are improvement societies for beautifying the city, trees are guarded and edicts sent out in regard to them. Are not the children of more consequence in guarding and protecting of their moral characters than many trees? The mayor has lately had distributed at every house a letter asking for better care to be given to the grass borders. How would it do to also send a copy of the third, fourth, fifth and sixth commandments with the suggestion as in regard to ashes and refuse they 'be kept in sight.' Shall teachers dwell more on these commandments? Yes, many children even in Newton are scarcely aware there is a God, and are not taught reverence for His name. There are those whose nerves are affected by ringing of the church bell on the Sabbath, who will listen to the profanity, bilgewater and prize fighter slang six days in the week from playgrounds without a remonstrance. In a paper from a neighboring town I read these words, 'Do the people of this place know the low, vile talk that is heard from their children on the street every day? It is time they looked into the matter.' Amen! so let it be in Newton. Shall fines, as suggested in regard to fruit thieves, be increased? A good plan. For some people's morality lies in their pockets. But where fruit thieves, destroyers of lawn shrubs and flower beds, breakers of windows, etc., do not intend to be caught, if seen by the owner or neighbor, these remonstrances are met with impudence and profanity. condemn no one, but if more arrests were made, many might be saved in the future. In regard to temperance, what can be done to increase this sentiment. Must drug shops not only break the fourth commandment under the city license, but flaunting in our faces also city licenses, death and destruction be sold from soda fountains and 'junks' to ruin our souls and increase our criminal records. Could you have seen the working of the low state of moral sentiment on this matter you would not judge my words too strong. A few years ago the names of five students from Newton in a certain college was given to me as among those who were known to drink. Did they learn in college? No, but in drug shops, I almost wrote drug shops of the 'No license city of Newton' there seems to be a low standard of morals in many homes with not only boys but girls. How can this be raised? Children are sent forth on our streets to learn vile talk and vile ways, hands and faces dirty and in garments scarcely decent, not from poverty, but a parents carelessness and lack of proper sentiment against such things. Property and hands and ragged clothes are not conducive to self-respect. Not long since I read in a trolley car an advertisement to this effect: 'When one becomes careless in appearance or in cleanliness, they being to go down morally.' True, true, but to all these questions come a host of others. First, who is to blame for this low standard? What can we do? Where begin?

H. Davis of Newtonville in a recent sermon said: 'What Newton wants is not better meeting houses, more philosophy and ethics, but a revival of religion, a truer religion than it now has.'

New Savings System.

One of the leading banks of Boston has adopted a feature that is proving of great benefit to those desirous of opening a bank account even in a small way. The Provident Securities & Banking Company have solved the problem. Briefly their system is as follows: By depositing the sum of one dollar or more, a pass book is furnished to the depositor showing the deposit duly credited, and they receive a small oxidized steel bank with an ingenious patent money slot device which prevents moneys dropped in from being taken out. The Bank retains the key. With this small safe at home, it proves a constant reminder, and serves to collect surplus money. Thus the P. S. & B. Co. establishes a branch in the depositor's household. At certain intervals it is brought to the bank to be opened, the contents counted before the depositor and credited in their pass book. These deposits earn 3 1/2 per cent. interest. The feature of this saving system must commend it to every salaried individual and working man or woman.

KNOCKOUT BLOWS.

There Are Many Vulnerable Points in Man's Anatomy.

An impression prevails that there is only one blow—that on the point of the jaw—which really constitutes the knockout blow, says a writer in the British Medical Journal. This is an error. The temple is a very vulnerable part of the head, the lesion usually produced being laceration of the brain substance, with hemorrhage. A blow on the ear may cause rupture in the membrana tympani and collapse. Dangerous points are over the carotid and on the larynx, the danger lying in the concussion conveyed through the large nerve trunks which run down the neck. A blow on the larynx with the bare fist may cause instant death, as any one on the chest wall over the heart. Diaphragmatic blows are not so dangerous to life, the shock being temporary. Drisk rubbing and the use of stimulants is the most satisfactory mode of treatment. Blows over the kidneys may cause rupture and hemorrhage, with intense pain and shock. The most dangerous and infinitely painful form of knockout blow is that on the 'mark,' an area of the abdominal wall corresponding to the center of a triangle formed by the xiphisternal articulation above and a line joining the bony ends of the seventh ribs below. Behind this lies the pyloric end of the stomach. A blow here constitutes the 'stomach plexus' blow, but in reality it is the stomach which receives and transmits the shock.

Aristocracy of Wealth Not Probable.

Whatever the tendencies of wealthy Americans of the present day, it is extremely improbable that an aristocracy of wealth should ever come into being.

It has been seen that an aristocracy depends chiefly upon two conditions—the continued possession and exercise of power and the consequent unity of aims and ideals.

The aristocratic body in England, for instance, is self conscious; its members are united by mutual understanding. They acknowledge certain well recognized laws of life and manners. They depend upon each other to uphold these laws. Individually, wealthy Americans may be both self conscious and self assertive, but collectively they are antagonistic to one another. The accumulation of wealth implies struggle, and struggle does not bring forth the kind of qualities which make of the gentle and stately men and women of Vandyke's canvases one great family.—Anna McClure Sholl in Guntton's Magazine.

All Timekeepers Are Inaccurate.

The capacity of a watch for keeping good time is very much governed by its construction and its more or less perfect finish. It cannot be expected of the best horizontal watch that it should always keep good time and even less so of the inferior make of machine made watches. The changes of oil, the variation in temperature, the diversity of humidity of atmosphere, all greatly affect the going of a watch. Indeed, it is only the most perfect finish which neutralizes the adverse influences to the greatest degree. As a matter of fact, no watch keeps perfectly correct time, and even the best chronometers used in observatories and on board ships must be regulated according to tables which are kept to fix the variations to which all watches are liable.

A Bad Habit.

"Sixty-eight," murmured a young Brahmin as a woman waiting for a book leaned forward and touched her cheeks and lips to the top of the brass guard about the desk.

"Beg pardon," said the woman. "Did you speak to me?"

"Oh, no; I'm just counting the persons whose lips have touched that rail this afternoon. You are the sixty-eighth."

The woman started back in disgust and hastily wiped her lips on her handkerchief.

"I was unconscious of what I was doing," she exclaimed.

"I suppose they all are," was the laconic reply.—Youth's Companion.

English Estimate of Emerson.

A single short work of Emerson's, the essay on "Compensation," is enough to convince one that this was a man of true genius. We have never read anything in Thoreau approaching that and other works of Emerson in originality or beauty. But Emerson is the best of the American writers. Was it Henry James who called him "the unfallen man?" One cannot imagine an intellect which failed to admire "Compensation" or which was convinced by its transcendentalism.—London Saturday Review.

Basely Deceived.

"Did you believe him when he said he loved you?"

"No, I didn't."

"Did you believe him when he told of his great wealth?"

"No."

"Then there's no harm done."

"Yes, there is. I was goose enough to believe that the ring he gave me was a real diamond."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Noise and Work.

"You can't judge a man by de 'mount of noise he makes," said Uncle Eben. "De locomotive engineer is doin' his easiest work when he's ringin' de bell an' blowin' de whistle."—Washington Star.

The Pickards.

A family representing the best New England stock, and holding sacred all those virile traditions which have made New England men a potent force wherever their lot has been cast, is the Pickard family, born in Lewiston and Auburn, Me. Out of a family of thirteen brothers and sisters, seven survive, the oldest 79 years of age, and the youngest 54.

Five of the seven now living, together with other relatives, have been spending the last half of September at The Mount Washington, and after a pleasant stay which they all term "the best time of my life," return to their homes this morning.

The party comprises Hon. and Mrs. Edward L. Pickard, Auburn, Me., Mass., Mr. Samuel T. Pickard, Mr. and Mrs. Greenleaf Whittier Pickard, Amesbury, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Pickard, Portland, Me., Mrs. Sara L. Sanborn, Pasadena, Cal., Mrs. Addie M. Pickard and Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Dana, Westbrook, Maine. During their stay the party visited the various points of interest hereabouts, including Bethel, the Mt. Washington, and the Willey House.

Hon. Edward L. Pickard was mayor of Newton in 1902, nominated by the Republican party, but receiving the unanimous vote of his constituency. He also represented Newton in the Massachusetts legislature in 1897 and 1898, again receiving a unanimous vote. In fact no candidate opposed him. Mr. Pickard is a member of the N. W. Rice Company. Mr. Rice is also a Maine man, and has been associated with Mr. Pickard in business 43 years.

Four of the brothers graduated from Bowdoin. Mr. Edward L. Pickard started to fit for college, but entered on his business career at the age of 13 years. Mr. Pickard, who is a cousin to Dr. Charles E. Clark, is an old visitor to Bretton Woods, and says he shall spend every fall at the Mount Washington from now on. He is an enthusiast over the future of this "grand establishment," and says he cannot speak too highly in praise of the manner in which the house is conducted, and of all those who have contributed to the pleasure of his stay here.

Mr. Samuel T. Pickard married the adopted daughter of John Greenleaf Whittier, and with his son, Greenleaf W. Pickard, has fitted up the old Whittier homestead in Amesbury for his future residence.

Mr. Samuel Pickard was formerly proprietor of the Portland Transcript, and at present Mr. Charles W. Pickard is winding up the affairs of The Transcript.

After meeting such persons as the Pickards, and one gets a glimpse of their altruism, their sagacity, their courage, their belief that the world grows brighter and better each year, it is possible to understand how it is that New Englanders have conquered and won out in their tremendous struggle against adversity.—Bretton Woods Bugle.

Y. M. C. A.

On October 14th the Newton Young Men's Christian Association will occupy its new quarters in the Eliot block. The entire second and third floors have been remodeled and arranged especially for the use of the association. No pains have been spared to make the parlors, the game room, the reading rooms and the boys' room pleasant and attractive.

The gymnasium is one of the best in New England. It is equipped with the best modern gymnastic apparatus. The new running track, 26 laps to a mile, will be a feature. Mr. E. C. Wyatt will direct the gymnasium classes. Dr. M. E. Gleason has consented to act as medical examiner.

The bathing facilities are modern and very convenient to the gymnasium. The boys have a special bath room fitted up for their exclusive use. The hall on the second floor will be used for the men's and boys' meetings Sunday afternoon and such other social gatherings and entertainments as will be arranged in the future.

From Oct. 14 to 17, inclusive, the public is invited to inspect the new rooms. Members of the social committee will be on hand to show visitors about the building.

The rooms will be open from 10 A. M. to 10 P. M. on week days and from 2.30 to 6 P. M. on Sunday.

Political Notes.

Practical Politics has the following interesting comments regarding Newton men this week:—

"It is good to see a district stand by and nominate such a man for the senate as Dana of Newton. It is particularly good when the district is one in which they have had deals and sub-deals and such goings on as have distinguished this same district in the past. Dana will be a good senator a strong man in the position. He is the logical chairman of the judiciary committee, and under his wise and temperate mastership something can be done to elevate a committee which should be the ablest in the senate."

"In selecting Cong. Powers for chairman of the state convention, the republicans made a good choice. Powers caught the delegates almost at the opening of his speech. He held them to the end. The delegates did not know it, but for three years Powers has been high in the minds of the state committee leaders as a prospective chairman. They would have put him in last year, but for the fact that they were a little afraid that it would stir up some of the congressmen who perhaps have been a little longer in the service. Hence the delay in presenting his name."

The Franco-American Republican Club recently organized at Nonantum has over 100 members. The officers are Paul Champagne, president; C. Marchant, vice-president; P. J. E. Lacroix, treasurer, and A. Lefevre, secretary. The club is doing good work in naturalization and registration.

PERENNIAL OUTING.

"Come—and we will all the pleasures prove That hills and valleys, dunes and fields, Woods or steepy mountain yields."

This idly pleasure-seeking and self-indulgent looking title most emphatically does not mean what at first sight might be thought. It means nothing so vicious as that anyone is to have no regular duties or occupations, or is to be forever on the go in search of entertainment or excitement.

No, no. It only means that after delightful and refreshing summer outings are over and we have again settled down to work, the outing spirit should not be allowed to die out and leave us in the bare ruts of dull routine. It means that for the very benefit of our work itself, through constant pleasure in it, the outing spirit should be kept alive as an interwoven golden thread of life through daily touch with nature and free life as a part of nature.

One can be usefully busy in library, garden, business or other duties, and still not forget or slight the groves, the fields, the hills, the waters, the heavens.

As if to encourage her loyal children to prolong the summer life, and maintain its spirit, nature in this north temperate zone, which is the best of earth, contrives that the actual sun shall rise and set during these autumn months—as any popular astronomer will explain—appreciably earlier than the "mean sun" that governs "mean local time." This beginning September 1st, this increasingly early actual sunrise comes on October 27th to be sixteen minutes earlier than that of the so-called "mean sun" that regulates local clock time. Thence, as well suited to the advancing season, this earlier rising of the actual sun decreases until Christmas eve when actual and mean sun time agree.

Nightfall is likewise the same amount earlier during the same period, as many an outdoor worker has remarked, even with surprise at the extreme shortness of October, and early November afternoons. Thus, through the beautiful fall and Indian summer season, Nature whimsically, and as it were cunningly does everything to invite and favor early rising in behalf of harvesting, nutting and all wholesome woodcraft and sight-seeing and equally early bedtime in behalf of readiness for all healthful and delightful morning outdoor delights.

Then let every fond nature lover—parent or teacher—and who should not be?—enlive, beautify and uphold his own and his children's or pupil's autumn life by as many longer or shorter beautiful circuit walks as Newton and vicinity from Nonantum and Bigelow hills to Waban and Echo Bridge is full of; or as many delightful trolley circuits as the region from Waverley Oaks and Arlington Heights to Needham, Prospect Hill and Lexington, etc., is equally full of.

After an outing of more than usual beauty and benefit in a portion of the inspiring region immortalized in the late lamented T. Starr King's "The White Hills, Their Legend, Landscape and Poetry," perhaps no more fitting pendant could end this brief sketch than the mention of so choice a nature classic by a truly refined as well as fervently patriotic spirit. Published more than forty years ago, it may not now be generally known or readily found, but present nature lovers who can obtain a copy may congratulate themselves on possessing a treasure. S. E. W.

At the Churches.

The prayer meeting of the young people's society of the Immanuel Baptist church next Sunday evening will be in charge of Mr. F. W. Chase. The topic will be "Great Men of the Bible."

At the First church, Newton Centre, last Sunday the pastor preached upon the life and influence of Jonathan Edwards whose 200th anniversary occurred Oct. 5th.

During the nine years of the present pastorate at the First church, Newton Centre, 305 have been added to the church, 102 by profession of faith and 203 by letters from other churches; an annual average of 34. Letters have been granted to 87 and 57 have died. The net gain in membership is 161. There have been 50 infant baptisms and the pastor has attended 103 funerals and solemnized 36 marriages. The church has given for benevolence over $60,000, exclusive of legacies.

Mrs. Edmund I. Leeds was the leader of the young people's meeting at Eliot church last Sunday afternoon. The topic was "Our Privileges."

The opening meeting for the season of the Ladies' Sewing Circle was held last evening in the parlors of the Methodist church, Newtonville. Supper was served at 6 o'clock and was followed by an entertainment.

The first fall meeting of the Loyal branch of the Women's Christian Temperance Union was held Sunday afternoon at the First Baptist church, West Newton.

The Woman's Missionary society of the Newton Centre Methodist church held the first meeting of the season last week at the residence of Mrs. William Butler on Crescent avenue.

At the Newton Centre Methodist church last Sunday was observed as Rally Sunday. The members of the Sunday school heard several addresses and the children of the primary department were given diplomas to enter the main school.

The autumn muster of the Standard Bearers of the Newton Methodist church was held Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Urquhart on Church street.

The first sewing meeting of the sewing circle for the season was held yesterday morning in the Channing church parlors, Newton.

The Junior League of the Newton Methodist church held the first fall meeting in the parlors Tuesday afternoon in charge of Mrs. Charles Lawrence.

At the Auburndale Congregational church last Sunday evening Miss De Busk gave an interesting account of the work of the Congregational Education society in New Mexico.

Parents' Day will be observed by the primary and kindergarten departments of the bible school at the Immanuel Baptist church, Newton, next Sunday.

At the recent annual meeting of the young people's society of the Auburndale Congregational church the following officers were elected: President, Eugene F. Clark; vice-president, Walter Cary; secretary, Isabel A. Southgate; treasurer, Annie N. Mathews; cor. sec. and reporter, Blanche M. Noyes; junior supts., Mrs. F. E. Clark, Annie C. Strong.

Bowling League.

At the annual meeting of the Newton bowling league held last Friday at the Riverside Casino, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Charles W. Loring, Hunnewell club; vice-president, W. W. Travis, Mangus club; secretary, George B. Harris, Alston golf club. The season will begin the week of Nov. 15th. The makeup is the same as last year. A candlepin series will follow the big pin season.

Funeral of Andrew Potter

From his home at 404 Walnut street, West Newton, the funeral of Andrew B. Potter took place Saturday afternoon and was largely attended by those who had known Mr. Potter through many years, among them neighbors, church members and others. The service was conducted by Rev. Julian C. Jaynes, minister of the First Unitarian society. His reading of selections from the Scriptures and his prayers were interspersed with several hymns, which were sung by the Mendelssohn Quartet. Their selections included "Rock of Ages," "Passing Out of the Shadow" and "Lead, Kindly Light." The burial was in the Newton cemetery and the committal service was performed at the grave, followed by prayer.

Embarrassing.

In a suburban school a teacher once proved that it may be embarrassing to use oneself as an illustration. She was hearing a class in spelling and defining words. The word "orphan" had been correctly spelled, but none of the class seemed to know its meaning. After asking one or two of them she said encouragingly:

"Now, try again. I am an orphan. Now can't some of you guess what it means?"

The blank look on their faces remained until one of the scholars raised his hand and said, in the most guileless manner possible:

"It's some one that wants to get married and can't get a husband!"

The Vest a Minor Garment.

The waistcoat has always been a garment of minor consideration. It appeared and disappeared according to the requirements of the varying costumes in earlier times, and first had official recognition under the reign of Charles II. It was in 1696 that Pepys makes mention of the waistcoat in his diary: "This day the king began to put on his vest, and I did see several persons of the house of lords and commons wearing a long cassock close to the body."

Pertinent Advice.

A student noted for his carelessness in dress once approached Professor Simon Newcomb of Johns Hopkins university for advice. He was thinking of leaving college and going into business, having had a flattering offer.

"Now you know my case, professor," he said, "and if you were in my shoes what would you do?"

The professor looked very serious and replied:

Universal and Eternal.

"Yes, life is universal and eternal, for time is one of its factors; yesterday the moon, today the earth, tomorrow Jupiter. In space there are cradles and tombs. The red carbon stars will soon be dead; the hydrogen stars, like Vega and Sirius, are the stars of the future; Procyon, Capella, Arcturus are the stars of the present. Aldobarn seems to be already an autumn fruit." So said Flammarion.

An Obedient Boy.

Merchant—Did you deliver my message to Mr. Smith?

Boy—No, sir; he was out and the office was locked up.

Merchant—Well, why didn't you wait for him, as I told you?

Boy—There was a notice on the door saying, "Return at once," so I came back as quick as I could.

Sparring For an Opening.

Guest (after struggling valiantly but unavailingly for some time with fowl)—Walter, what kind of a bird is this?

"Canvassack duck, sir."

"No wonder I couldn't do anything with it. Run and get me the scissors."

A Cautious Answer.

A writer on New England and New England people some years ago said that the caution of the New Englander is giving an answer to a direct question was illustrated to him one day when he asked an eastern friend whose family were not noted for very active habits, "Was not your father's death very sudden?"

Slowly drawing one hand from his pocket and pulling down his beard the interrogated cautiously replied, "Was, rather sudden for him."

A FLIGHT FROM RUSSIA.

What Tennyson's Father Knew About Emperor Paul's Assassination.

Shortly after the assassination of Emperor Paul of Russia, Tennyson, the father of the poet, dined with Lord St. Helens, the British ambassador, in Moscow. Several Russian officers of high rank whose names he did not know were also guests. During dinner a guarded reference was made to the emperor's death. "Why do you speak so gingerly about a matter so notorious?" cried Tennyson impulsively, leaning across his neighbor, a Russian whose breast was covered with orders. "We knew very well in England that the Emperor Paul was murdered. Count Zoloff knocked him down, and Benihusen and Count Pahlen strangled him." There was a strained silence; then the ambassador abruptly changed the subject. As the guests filed out into an adjoining room Lord St. Helens drew Tennyson aside.

"Don't go into the next room," he whispered, "but fly for your life. The man next you, across whose breast you leaned, was Count Pahlen, and Zoloff was also at the table." He gave a few hurried directions, and Tennyson rushed off, threw his clothes into a portmanteau and fled behind fast horses to Odessa, still in evening garb, though the cold was intense. He lay hidden for weeks and at last, in the disguise of a servant, was smuggled on board an English frigate.

A Kind Action.

When you rise in the morning form a resolution to make the day a happy one to a fellow creature, says Sydney Smith. It is easily done—a left off garment to the sorrowful, an encouraging expression to the striving. Trifles in themselves as light as air will do it, at least for the twenty-four hours, and if you are young depend upon it it will tell when you are old, and if you are old it will send you gently and happily down the stream of time to eternity. By the most simple arithmetic sum look at the result—you send one person, only one, happily through the day; that is 365 during the course of the year. And suppose you live only forty years after you commence that kind of medicine you have made 14,600 beings happy, at all events for a time. Now, is not this simple? It is too short for a sermon, too homely for ethics, too easily accomplished for you to say, "I would if I could."

Forests and Human Vitality.

One has but to look back through history to see how closely related is the forest to human vitality. It was in the forests of Thessaly that the early Greeks received their energy that later flowered into genius. It was the forest dwellers of Germany that conquered decadent Rome and later gave to Spain the vigor that swept back the Moor and brought under her flag almost the whole known world. But today what is Greece, what is Italy, what is Spain? They have been stripped of their forests, those nurseries of vigor, and their decay has set in. Everywhere the law holds good. It is in the forest that the manhood is nourished which builds up great civilizations. But cities arise, trees are swept away, and the inevitable decline sets in. Forests once destroyed cannot return, and over all the sites of ancient civilization are blowing the desert sands.—Arthur Goodby in New York Times.

Servants in Soda.

"Twice a year, on April 23 and Oct. 23," writes a young Bulgarian woman living in Soda, "our streets are full of servants, and people bargain with them for service. During the winter season they are very cheap, as the peasants send all their girls to the city to be hired, they having no work for them at home. The price paid differs. One can get a girl for her board, or pay up to 20 liras ($4) a month for one who cooks, washes and irons. Girls are often thankful to enter a good family for their board. For the men there is very little work, and the papers are full of suicides on account, during the dull seasons of starvation."

The Candlefish of Puget Sound.

Very queer fish are caught in the waters of Puget sound. One kind is called the candlefish. It is dried and packed in boxes like candles. We are told the fishermen use them to light their homes and that at one time all the boats on the sound used them instead of sperm oil lamps. By putting the heads of the fish downward in a candlestick and lighting the tail, which, in conjunction with the backbone, acts as a wick, it burns like a candle. They eat this fish, and when cooking it is so fat it fries itself.

An Ancient Work on Angling.

The greatest work of antiquity on angling is said to be the "Halleutika" of Opplan, a Greek poet who flourished in the time of Severus, A. D. 198, from which we learn that many artifices in fishing thought to be modern were known to ancients. We also learn from Athenaeus that several other writers had written treatises or poems on fishing some centuries before the Christian era.

His "Turnout."

Clerkley—Isn't this earlier than your usual time for going home?

Barkley—Yes, but my wife said if I came out by the 3:45 she'd meet me with the carriage.

"I didn't know you kept a horse and carriage."

Explicit.

Van Quizz—Where does young Chipston work?

Fitz-Bile—In a wholesale grocery concern.

Van Quizz—I know, but for whom?

Fitz-Bile—Oh, for a gambling house.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

the advertising columns.

The discontinuance of the meetings of the Newton Choral Association on account of the lack of a suitable concert hall at Newton, emphasizes the need in that village for adequate and convenient quarters for concerts, lectures and similar entertainments.

Armory Hall is not available on account of its nearness to the railroad, the noises from which are most disturbant.

We believe that our public spirited and wealthy citizens who will erect a building containing a hall seating from 700 to 800 people, with a modern swimming pool on the street floor, would not only meet a public necessity, but would find it a profitable investment.

The City of Newton owes a large debt to the late Charles A. Miner for the valuable work done by him while holding the office of principal assessor of this city. He succeeded the venerable Isaac Hagar in that position and the present high standard of that office is largely due to his untiring and faithful work.

No one will question the statement that he rendered the city of Newton possibly the most valuable service it has received during the last generation in modernizing and systemizing
the assessing department.

We venture the prediction that a new City Hall will not be built in the near future on account of the provincialism of this city in regard to a site and because the city is not in a financial condition to build at the present time.

The opportunity afforded by the banquet of the Ward 7 Republican Club to hear the best orators of the National House ought not to be neglected by the republicans of Newton.

Schroeder-Kelley.

At the First church in East Derry,
N. H., last Tuesday afternoon Miss Mollie Gertrude Kelley, daughter of Mrs. Grace Kelley was married to Mr. Nathan Southwick Schroeder, son of Anthony D. Schroeder of Brooklyn, N. Y. The decorations were very elaborate and consisted of a background of pines, in front of which was a canopy constructed of pillars and garlands of oak leaves.
On each pew was fastened a beautiful bouquet of white chrysanthemums.
The bride party entered the church at 3 o'clock, led by the ushers, Messrs.
J. Gardner Stevenson of Brooklyn;
Roland Sherman of Lawrence, Mass.;
Springer H. Moore of Seewick, Pa.;
Clinton V. Meserole of Brooklyn;
William B. Reed of Manhattan and Charles L. Putnam of Brooklyn.
The ushers were followed by the bridesmaids, the Misses Katharine Southwick of Brooklyn, Minnie Kimball of Lawrence, Nan Jordan of Gloucester, Mabel Berry of East Derry; Helen Baldwin, of Andover and Harriet Walworth of Lawrence.
Next in order came the maid of honor,
Miss Elizabeth M. Schroeder, sister of the groom, the flower girls, Miss Corita Kimball of Lawrence and finally the bride on the arm of Mr.
Arthur L. Kelley of Providence.
The bride party marched down the aisle to meet the groom and groom-smen, Mr. Morris W. Ely of Brooklyn, who waited there with the officiating clergymen, Rev. Julian C.
Jaynes of West Newton and Rev. D.
C. Saur of East Derry. Music was furnished by Miss Eunice and Mr.
Guterson of Boston. After the ceremony the bride and groom with their families received in the MacGregor Mansion.

FEARNSIDE-WARD.

A strictly family wedding took place last evening at the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, when Miss Alice Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
Edgar T. Ward of West Newton, was married to Mr. William D. Fearnside of Boston. Rev. John Matteson, rector of the church, performed the ceremony and a reception followed at the home of the bride, 102 Highland street, West Newton.

READ-CLAPP

Miss Alice Gertrude Clapp, formerly of Newton Highlands, was married to Mr. Walter Augustine Read of Boston on Wednesday evening at the Hotel Vendome. Rev. George Gardner
Phipps officiated. It was a brilliant wedding. The elaborate decorations were in green and white. Three hundred invitations were issued.
Many elegant toilettes were worn.
The bridegroom, a graduate of Tech-1901, is a naval architect in the New York navy yard. Mr. and Mrs. Read will reside in Brooklyn, N. Y.

Newton Hospital.

The regular quarterly meeting of the trustees of the Newton hospital was held on the 30th ult. at the hospital. President Leeson occupied the chair, and there were present Messrs. Bacon, Cobb, Haskell, Lodge, Mason, Nichols, Messrs. Jullens, Bray, Day, Ellison, Hardy, Hinchin-son, Shinn, Travelli, Tyler; Doctors Hunt, Keith, Porter.

The treasurer reported receipts for the quarter from care and treatment of patients, $5,451.62; income from endowment funds, $1,202.50; donations and interest, $407.42; expenses for the same time, current bills, $8-800.00; telephone equipment, insurance and sundry small items, $442.49.
The endowment fund has received $1000 on account of legacy from Frederick Davis estate.

Mr. Bray, for the executive committee, reported the average number of patients in the hospital for eight months about 52. The general expenses thus far this year show a decrease from those of the same period of last year, and the receipts from the private and other wards are increased this year.

Dr. Hunt gave a verbal report of matters pertaining to the Training school, showing routine work of lectures and classes again underway, and a change from Miss Seales, who has gone to New York, to Miss Leach as instructor in massage. A few more of the pupil nurses have been spared to answer calls outside for private nurses on account of the lighter work in the hospital.

The resignation of Miss McDowell
as matron was received with regret, and appropriate action was taken by the Board upon resolutions presented by Dr. Shinn, a copy of which cannot be published till later, owing to the departure of Dr. Shinn from the city.

A conference of the physicians of the city has been held relative to the necessary changes, and Dr. Hunt reported the opinions of the physicians of both schools of medicine to have been very harmonious. The advisability of different courses was discussed, and it was thought best to appoint a resident physician from the Harvard Medical College or the Boston University, who would be expected to live at the hospital and give his whole time without any outside work looking after patients in emergencies of different kinds, assisting at operations, doing laboratory work, examinations and analyses, and keeping fuller medical records. All thought an arrangement of this kind would promote unity between the city authorities, Board of Health and the institution, and the co-operation in the work of the staff and the other departments of the hospital, nursing and training would result. The advantages to patients and physicians of prompt laboratory work, as well as resident medical attendance are obvious and confirmatory action by the Board followed this report. After careful discussion of many details, the meeting was adjourned.

Rice-Felton.

The Unitarian church at West Newton was filled to overflowing on Thursday evening at the wedding of Miss Grace Felton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frederic L. Felton of Chestnut street, to Mr. Archibald Ernest Rice of Waterbury, Conn. The church was handsomely decorated with laurel and chrysanthemums and southern smilax.

The bride, who is one of the best known and popular young ladies in Newton society looked charming in white panne velvet with chiffon and point lace. She was attended by Miss Anna B. West of Somerville, gowned in white liberty crepe with white silk lace, as maid of honor, and the Misses Eleanor W. Leatherbee Caroline L. Freeman, M. Edith Peters of West Newton and Miss Ruth Adams of Lincoln, Mass., as bridesmaids.
These young ladies were dressed in white liberty silk, with trimmings of yellow lace and wore girdles of pompadour silk. Mrs. Walter E. Felton of Brookline was the matron of honor.

The bride, on the arm of her father, and preceded by the ushers, matron of honor bridesmaids and maid of honor was met at the altar by the groom, attended by Mr. Stiles E. Goodsell of Bridgeport, Conn. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Julian Clifford Jaynes pastor of the church.
A largely attended reception followed until 10 o'clock at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rice, Felton on Chestnut street, Mr. and Mrs. Rice being assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs.
Felton and Mr. and Mrs. Frederick B.
Rice.

Mrs. Felton was gowned in silver gray brocade with trimmings of chiffon and rose point lace, while Mrs. Rice wore white crepe de chine embroidered in lavender with trimmings of rose point.

The bride and groom received under a canopy of laurel, smilax and white chrysanthemums and the drawing room was beautifully trimmed with the same decorations.

Messrs. Herbert L. Felton, Walter
E. Felton of West Newton, Samuel P.
Williams, Jr. William H. Wilcox,
David C. Griggs and C. Sanford Bull of Waterbury, Conn., were the ushers.

Free Scholarship at N E Conservatory

The New England Conservatory of Music is offering a free scholarship for one year in the vocal normal department to young men and women of limited means who have good voices and natural musical ability. All that is required of those who wish to take advantage of this generous offer is a personal application and examination at the Conservatory.

ganist at Tremont Temple, and recently of Berlin, Germany, will receive pupils on the piano and organ at her residence, 35 Jewett street, Newton.

Mr. Clarke Resigns.

At a recent meeting of the Trustees of the Newton Free Library, Hon.
Julius L. Clarke, for many years the faithful secretary of the board, presented his resignation.

His letter is as follows:
To the President and Board of Trustees of the Newton Free Library.
Gentlemen:-

As introductory to my connection with your Board, I desire to say that when the matter of a City Charter for Newton was under consideration by the town in 1872 and 1873, it then had competent and faithful auditors, but for reasons explained in the municipal register, as printed for 1873, the Board of Selectmen wanted a Special Auditor and the writer was honored with election to that office.

The City Charter having been received and accepted to take effect on the first Monday in January, 1874, and Marshal S. Rice, who had been town clerk since 1846, having declined further re-election, the Special Auditor above referred to was elected as the first City Clerk and first City Auditor.

When at the commencement of 1876
the city became the owner of the Newton Free Library, I was surprised to find myself one of the trustees of the library and a member of the Committee on Buildings and Grounds with Mayor Hyde as chairman and later on a member and chairman of the City School Committee. I was very soon elected secretary pro tem of this board, the then secretary being often unable to be present, so that I was finally elected as secretary of this board, and in response to its kindly re-election from year to year I have endeavored to be a faithful and loyal servant to the exemplification of its best interests, although during my nearly twenty-eight years of such service I have been necessarily designed from our monthly meetings five or six times, although leaving in every case a copy of the proceedings of the previous meeting.

But, in conclusion, gentlemen, I must add that I have felt from the first that the Newton Free Library is proving a golden factor for the social, moral and educational welfare of our beautiful city. After all this routine of town and city service, and as I am now just entering my ninety-first year, I realize that the time has come for me to resign as your secretary.

May God's richest blessing be with you all.

Kindly and fraternally yours,
Julius L. Clarke.

The resignation was accepted and Mr. Sydney Harwood elected to the position.

Appropriate action will be taken on Mr. Clarke's services in the near future.

Death of Mr. Ripley.

Mr. Nathaniel L. Ripley, an old and well-known resident of Newton died at his home on Centre street last Monday morning. Deceased was the son of William Z. and Adaline
B. Ripley and was born in Plymouth, 71 years ago.

Mr. Ripley had been subject to attacks of dizziness and it is supposed one of them caused him to fall near the corner of Centre and Hollis streets last Saturday evening. He suffered severe injuries to his head and was removed to his home where he gradually failed until the end came. Deceased was a prominent business man in Boston, where he was a manufacturing jeweler and he was a constant attendant at Channing church. He was a man of quiet tastes and never entered public life. A widow and one son, Prof. William Z. Ripley of Harvard college, survive him. Funeral services were held from the house
Wednesday afternoon at 1.30 o'clock.
Rev. F. B. Hornbrook officiating and the interment was in Newton cemetery.

Death of Charles A. Miner.

Mr. Charles A. Miner, a former resident of Auburndale for nearly 20 years, died last Friday at his home in Brockton after a protracted illness.
Mr. Miner was about 59 years of age and leaves a widow.

The funeral was held at the Newton Cemetery Chapel at 2.30 Monday afternoon and there was a large attendance of Mr. Miner's many friends. Rev. T. W. Bishop of Auburndale officiated, assisted by a Brockton clergyman.

The Mendelssohn quartet sang
"Lead, Kindly Light," "Some Sweet Day" and "Passing Out of the Shadow."

The pall bearers were Willis F.
Haddock, Asa C. Jewett, J. Franklin
Ryder and Ralph E. Thorne. Beautiful floral designs were sent by Gethsemane Commandery, Dalhousie lodge, Auburndale lodge, A. O. U.
W., Riverdale lodge, N. E. O. P., and others.

Webster-Noyes.

The marriage of Miss Helen M.
Noyes, the daughter of the late Albert F. Noyes, a former city engineer and alderman of Newton, to Mr. Hollis Webster of Cambridge, took place at the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, last Tuesday evening in the presence of a large number of friends. Rev. John Matteson, rector of the church, performed the ceremony. The bride, who was gowned in white silk, trimmed with lace and carrying a spray bouquet of violets, was given away by her brother, Mr. Harry F. Noyes of Auburndale. She was attended by Miss Mary Noyes, who wore white crepe de chine over yellow silk and carried yellow daisies.

Mr. William W. Nolen of Cambridge was the best man, and the ushers were Messrs. Merritt L. Per-nau and Ralph E. Hatch of West Newton, Francis G. and Edw. H.
Barnum of Cambridge and Clarence
G. Haskell and Frank S. Ashenden of Auburndale. Mr. and Mrs. Webster will reside in Cambridge.

Golf.

Albermarle's golf course at Newton-ville has been selected for this year's all-Newton championship tournament. Oct. 15, 16 and 17 are the dates for the qualifying rounds, at medal play, after which the first sixteen will play off at match play whenever convenient, so long as they keep within the time specified by the committee in charge. The final match for the championship probably will be played the last Saturday in the month at Albermarle.

Gowell Morrill.

On Wednesday evening last at the home of the bride on Crafts street West Newton occurred the marriage of Miss Bertha May Morrill daughter of Mrs. Mary C. Morrill to Mr.
Louis Nelson Gowell of Weston.

Rev. Ozora S. Davis of Newtonville performed the ceremony under a wedding bell of white astors before the intimate friends and relatives of the happy couple. The parlors were prettily decorated with green and white with here and there a touch of red.

The bride was gowned in white silk trimmed with duchess lace and carried bride roses. The maid of honor Miss S. Edna Springer of New York was dressed in white crepe de chine with lace trimmings and carried pink roses. Mr. J. M. French of Weston was the best man and Messrs. Lyman
B. Morrill of West Newton Percy E.
Morrill of Waltham and Thorpe E.
Tilton of Lowell were the ushers.

A reception followed the ceremony and the wedding gifts were many and beautiful including a houselet from the bride's mother and a generous check from the parents of the groom. After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Gowell will reside at 515 Crafts street.

The bride is an accomplished artist and a former student at the Boston Normal Art school, while the groom is a graduate of M.I.T. 1900.

PROBATE COURT.

To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Austin
R. Mitchell, late of Newton, in said County deceased.

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by James A. Richards and Eugene H. Smith, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, without giving a surety on their official bond.

You are hereby directed to appear at a Probate Court, to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-seventh day of October, A. D. 1903, at nine o'clock in the forenoon, to show cause, if any you have, why the same should not be granted.

And said petitioners are hereby directed to give public notice thereof by publishing this citation once in each week, for three successive weeks, in the Newton Graphic, a newspaper published in Newton, the last publication to be one day, at least, before said Court, and by mailing, postpaid, or delivering a copy of this citation to all known persons interested in the estate fourteen days, at least, before said Court.

Witness, CHARLES MCINTIRE, Esquire,
First Judge of said Court, this 1st day of October in the year one thousand nine hundred and three.

—Miss Louise Rand of Austin street entertained the members of the Farther Lights society at her home last Monday evening.

—Mr. E. Hayward Ferry, vice-president of the National Shawmut bank, was a passenger on the recent return trip of the steamer "Oceanic" from Europe.

—Mrs. T. A. Fleu and Miss Ethel Fleu of Winthrop street are back from South Bristol, Me., and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Otis of Elm street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Lowe of Highland street have returned from Lenox where they attended the meeting of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of New England.

—Papers have been recorded in the transfer by Henry C. Little to Michael C. Hayes of the James T. Allen estate on Washington street, assessed on $24,500 and comprising a frame house and 12 acres of land. It is said that 25 houses are to be erected on the property.

—It is an interesting fact that two of the Horace Mann desks, purchased for the first woman's normal school in the world and used for fifty years in the Allen school, have been sent for as historical relics. One has gone to the Columbia University Museum in New York city and the second to the Framingham normal school.

—Miss Elizabeth A. Healey passed away at her home on Washington street last Monday aged 46 years. She was a well-known resident of this place and was the sister of James B. and Daniel Healey and the late Rev. T. J. Healey. Funeral services were held from the house Wednesday morning at 8.30 o'clock, high mass following at St. Bernard's church at 9.

—A wedding of interest to Newton friends was that of Miss Mabel Storr Pitcher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Pitcher, and Mr. William Stewart Mitchell of this village which took place at the bride's residence in Medford last evening. Mr. John Mitchell, brother of the groom was best man, and Miss Margaret Mitchell, sister of the groom was maid of honor. Mrs. Walter H. Soley of Brockton was matron of honor. Rev. Warren S. Woodbridge of Tufts College was the officiating clergyman. After an extended wedding journey Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell will reside at 1 Riverbank court, Cambridge, where they will be at home after Dec. 1.

—The work of demolishing the old dwelling on the Crafts estate, corner of Woodward and Boylston streets, occupied once by the late James Edmunds is now in progress. This house is believed to be over 100 years old, and together with the old stone blacksmith shop (torn down some 18 years ago), was a landmark for many miles, standing as they did on the old turnpike. The land back of the house (now occupied by houses on Erie avenue), was then a cornfield. It was in the old blacksmith shop that the late Amasa Crafts made his anvil ring, until he became blind. His father before him ran the shop. Now the land will soon be vacant again, as the body of the house will be moved to a vacant lot in Elliot. Who can say for what it will be used next?

The first of the Union services will be held at Central Congregational church, Newtonville, next Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Albert Hammatt will preach the sermon.

Rev. Albert Hammatt will preach at the Universalist church, Newtonville, next Sunday on "Marriage." The day will be observed by the Sunday school as Rally Day.

The Immanuel Baptist church is fortunate in having secured the services of the Arlington Male Quartet, of Boston, for the Sunday evening work. Beginning next Sunday evening, Oct. 11 this quartet will furnish the fine music of which it is capable. It has been arranged to open the auditorium of the church for these Sunday evening meetings. Mr. Matthews begins a series of special sermons next Sunday evening on "Isms and Schisms" the first being—"Anarchy or Constituted Authority Defied."

A Fortified Wife.

The Rev. John Matthews, who was a pioneer Methodist preacher of Alabama, has been remembered for his strict views and many peculiarities, according to Lippincott's. His wife, who was more liberal in her ideas, was fond of dress and once sold a bureau and with the money bought a new hat. The following Sunday Brother Matthews, being disturbed at the beginning of his discourse by several of the congregation turning to see the late arrivals, said: "Brethren and sisters, don't bother to look around any more; I'll tell you who comes in." This he did, calling each one by name, much to the mortification of the tardy members. His wife was among the last, and when she walked down the aisle he said: "Make way there for Sister Matthews. She is coming with a bureau on her head."

Philadelphia's First Book.

The first book of any kind published in Philadelphia was Atkin's Almanack for the year 1780. It was an unpaginated pamphlet of ten leaves, only two copies of which are now known to be in existence. The first copy of the Almanack printed was sent to Colonel Markham, Penn's deputy, who reported to the council that the book had erroneously declared Pennsylvania to have been founded by "Lord Penn." The council disapproved such a high sounding title and directed the author and printer (William Bradford) to "forthwith and effectually blot out the words 'Lord Penn.'" This had the effect of recalling the whole edition and the abolition of the obnoxious words.

Throwing the Slipper at a Wedding.

The throwing of the slipper after the bride comes apparently from barbarous times, when the relations of man and wife were really very much akin to those of master and slave, for it seems that the shoe was an emblem of authority, and at an Anglo-Saxon marriage a shoe was given by the bride's father to her husband in token of transference of power over her, the groom usually indicating his appreciation of that fact by tapping his new wife lightly on the head with it.

Coral From Italy.

Much of the costly red, white and pink coral used for ornamental purposes is obtained from the coast of Italy. Men go out in boats and drag the rocky bottom of streams with wooden frames or nets, in which the coral becomes entangled, but the delicate branches are crushed in this way. The finest coral is obtained by diving.

USES FOR NETTLES.

They Are Good to Eat and Furnish Thread and Clothing.

There was a time once when the common nettle was not the usually despised weed it is now. People did not root it out of existence or shun it as a nuisance, but cultivated it for use as food, for clothing and for paper manufacture.

It certainly does not look inviting as a food, and yet during the Irish famine hundreds of poor people existed entirely on it, cooking the young plant as greens. There was a method of blanching it by "earthing up," as is now used for sea kale.

Animals, while refusing to touch the growing nettle, devour it eagerly when made into hay, and in Russia, Sweden and Holland it is mowed several times a year for fodder.

The common name given to the nettle in some languages means "that with which one sews," for the fiber was used as a thread several centuries ago.

In Kamchatka the natives use the thread for fishing lines and cordage. In France it is used for paper. In Hindustan and China it is woven into grass cloth, and the Scotch have prepared, spun and woven it into as good linen as the flax makes.

The Chinese nettle yields a fiber as soft as silk, and there is now in Dresden a "China grass" manufactory devoted to the industry of weaving cloth from this and the common nettle.—Stray Stories.

Resourceful Major Pond.

Major Pond was never upset in difficulties. Once he was travelling with Ian MacLaren. There was a breakdown on the railway and the prospect of a lecture engagement being missed and $1,000 lost. What he did was to telegraph a long and merry message to the audience about the breakdown, saying he and Ian MacLaren would be arriving not more than half an hour late. Singing was provided to entertain the audience. When the half hour was up in came another telegram more cheerful than ever, saying that they were coming along and that Ian MacLaren was determined to lecture to that audience if all the railways in the world had broken down.

The Americans are an emotional people, and they were interested. Every twenty minutes in came a fresh telegram with something funny and bright about it and always declaring that the great novelist was advancing. It was half past 10 when the couple reached the platform, and the welcome given them was hilarious.

A Natural Weather Vane.

It was an old belief that if the preserved body of a halcyon or kingfisher were suspended by a thread from the ceiling its bill would always turn toward the quarter from whence the wind was blowing.

Thus Barabas in Marlowe's "Jew of Malta" says:

"But now how stands the wind? Into what quarter peeps my halcyon's bill?"

Shakespeare also alludes to it in "King Lear" when Kent in his reply to Cornwall rebukes those who—

"Turn their halcyon's beaks With every gale and vary of their masters."

In more modern days a stuffed kingfisher has been seen hanging from the beam of a cottage ceiling at Botley, near Southampton, and in other places of that neighborhood, where there is a kindred belief that if a dead kingfisher is hung up by its beak its breast will turn with the ebb and flow of the tide.

Cassius M. Clay as a Fighter.

General Cassius M. Clay fought many duels in his day, usually with his long bladed knife, meeting pistol or rifle equally with that trusty weapon. His physical strength was gigantic. He was accustomed to the use of weapons, and he was always cool and never lost his judgment. For example, when an adversary shot him and he supposed he was done for he inflated his lungs to the full, conscious that he would live as long as he could hold his breath; then he drew his knife and did his bloody work. That was when he killed Turner. After all, speaking mustily, reviewing his life, he confessed to a reporter when he was above eighty-four that he was opposed on principle to the duel, thinking it a savage way to settle a difficulty. "But there are some cases for which it seems to be the only remedy," he added.

A Beautiful Tomb.

On a grand day in the old chivalric times, when the lady of each knightly heart was styled by name, when it came to St. Leon's turn he lifted the sparkling cup on high and gave them this: "I drink to one," he said, "whose image never may depart, deep carved on the human heart, till memory is dead." With that he paused as if he would not breathe her name in careless mood thus lightly to another, then bent his noble head as though to give that word the reverence due and gently said, "My mother!"

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Globe Theatre.—A distinctly American spirit animates Victor Mapes' few play "Captain Barrington" in which Mr. Charles Richman is to make his debut as a star under the management of Messrs. Weber and Fields. The main story concerns itself with a plot to capture George Washington by treachery. While Washington is one of the characters in the play, and in one sense, the pivot on which the whole action turns, the part is only a secondary one, as far as the requirements of acting are concerned. The hero is a young Continental officer, whose courage and resourcefulness are put to the severest test in a series of situations which are intensely exciting and strongly emotional by turns. There is a good vein of comedy in the play, just enough to make it refreshing. A rather unusual thing about these comedy characters is that they are all directly involved in the main plot of the play. The cast is a large one, comprising 28 speaking characters, while in some of the scenes nearly 100 people participate in the action.

company of competent artists will provide adequate support. The usual matinees will be given during this engagement on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Majestic Theatre.—The opening performance of the dramatized novel, "The Virginian," about which so much has been printed, occurs at the Majestic theatre on Saturday evening of this week. Manager Kirke LaSelle, who with the author, Owen Wister, made the stage dramatization, was determined that the first production of "The Virginian" in Boston should be an even performance. While the play was originally produced in New Haven more than a week ago, at which time it scored an unqualified success, the leading lady that had been engaged did not come up to the expectations of Mr. LaSelle and he decided to make a change. He secured the services of Miss Nannette Comstock, the talented actress who was last season the leading lady with Mr. Otis Skinner and who is a warm favorite with Boston theatregoers. The engagement is limited to two weeks and will be followed on Monday, Oct. 26, by the great New York success, "The Earl of Pawtucket," with Mr. Lawrence D'Orsay and the original cast in the production.

Keith's Theatre.—The management at Keith's is certainly keeping up the record for new acts, as the program announced for the week of Oct. 12 includes at least six acts that have never before appeared on the stage in Boston and two of the stellar turns are selections made in Europe by young Mr. Keith during his recent trip abroad. The better known of these foreign acts is that of Amoroso Werner troupe of pantomime comedians and novelty jugglers. Mile Nirena and her beautiful white horse, Loka, are the central figures in a series of living pictures, some original and others in imitation of the works of well-known artists, but all of them most artistic and beautiful. Some of the other entertainment to be furnished is as follows: Willis family of instrumentalists, one of the best organizations of the kind in the varieties; Jessie Conthout, monodrama comedian; Tom Senecal, expert foot juggler; La Belle Dazie, toe and novelty dancer; Smith and Bowman, colored singers and dancers; Nossen and Nessen, expert club jugglers; George Thatcher, blackface humorist, and Quigley brothers, Irish dialect comedians. There will be the usual change of motion pictures, including a capital film showing the Honourable Artillery Company of London on parade in Boston and Providence.

Grand Opera House.—The attraction at the Grand Opera House next week will be Jane Kennark in the magnificent "Blanche Bates," production of "Under Two Flags," which will be given here exactly as when seen in New York during its ten months' run. While there have been other stage versions of Ouida's novel, Mr. Paul M. Potter is the first to make of it a romantic drama with the despairing love of the intense "little daughter of the regiment" the dominant theme. Miss Jane Kennark will play the leading role, and a lowed on Monday, Oct. 26, by the great New York success, "The Earl of Pawtucket," with Mr. Lawrence D'Orsay and the original cast in the production.

Hub Theatre.—Lincoln J. Carter's successful melodrama, "The Heart of Chicago," which is now in its tenth season of prosperity, comes as the next week's attraction to the cory Hub theatre at the corner of Washington and Dover streets. This play seems destined to take rank with "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and other long-lived stage offerings, for this season the business on the road has been something phenomenal, and in every city in which the play has been presented, enormous audiences have been the rule. Every particle of scenery used in the production is carried by the management, and the piece is interpreted by a splendid cast. The usual daily matinees will be given and there will be coupon bargain matinees on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons.

Lady Denbigh in Newton.

At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon Lady Denbigh was the guest of honor at a most elaborate luncheon, tendered her by Mrs. Alexander M. Ferris, at her beautiful home on Washington street.

Covers were laid for 12 ladies, the other guests being Mrs. Samuel L. Powers, Mrs. C. A. West, Mrs. W. R. Evans, Mrs. W. R. Evans, Jr., Mrs. Francis E. Stanley, Mrs. E. B. Coes, Mrs. J. W. French, Mrs. W. M. Ferris, Mrs. William Dibble and Mrs. Joseph Tillinghast.

Lady Denbigh and Mrs. Ferris received the guests in the library, which was elaborately decorated with Jacqueminot roses, red carnations and an abundance of maidenhair ferns.

Lady Denbigh wore a handsome and modish gown of black crepe de chine, the bodice being of crepe de chine and black chiffon. It had a low collar of black velvet, over which she wore her pearl necklace. Her hat was a handsome blue. It was a new shade of blue, neither very dark nor very light.

In the dining room the prevailing color was red. Little English and American flags, fastened together by red rosettes, were in the wine glasses, and were afterwards treasured as souvenirs of the occasion.

The name cards were in the form of Jacqueminot roses and very artistic, while at each place was a corsage bouquet of red carnations and maidenhair ferns. In the centre of the table was a tall epergne filled with the same dark roses, and red candles ornamented by red shades in the form of roses gleamed all over the table.

Mrs. Alice May, for years resident on the continent of Europe and a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music at London, will give lessons in French and German (conversation and theory) and pianoforte for beginners. A specialty, made of children. Address, 11 Meredith avenue, Newton Highlands. 13t

Annual Game between Dartmouth and Williams.

At Cedar St. Grounds Tomorrow

Dartmouth and Williams are making special preparations for the game which Newton people have come to regard as particularly their own, and which will be played at 3 P. M. tomorrow on the field at Newton Centre.

E. K. Hall and E. B. Bowen are looking out as usual for the entertainment of the visiting teams and arrangements for the game. They are the gentlemen who must be thanked for the fact that their fellow citizens see a big football game every year at home and if their efforts are properly appreciated there is no danger of Dartmouth and Williams meeting anywhere else as long as there is a field in Newton.

The constantly increasing interest in the keen rivalry between the purple and the green has necessitated superior accommodations and facilities for the large and typical college crowd which will witness the game tomorrow and all requirements have been met. The erection of stands on the side of the Newton A. A. field hitherto unprovided with them will bring the total seating accommodation to upward of 4000 people, and also provides for the distinctive Dartmouth side and Williams side of the field, which means the genuine big-game flavor to a college contest.

The Dartmouth men will be massed in the new sections, across the field from the original stands where the Williams following is expected to congregate.

The special train and trolley facilities will be increased to adequate proportions, making direct transit through the Newtons to Boston and other nearby cities easy and comfortable. The fact that the boulevard cars now run direct to the subway in Boston should mean something, for instance, to Boston football lovers, many of whom entertain the totally mistaken idea that the Newton Centre field is less easy of access than Soldier's where, parenthetically, there will be no game on the date in question, Harvard playing at West Point a week from tomorrow.

A special train will leave the Terminal at Boston about 2 P. M. for Newton Centre. The contending teams will be quartered at the Woodland Park Hotel, Auburndale, prior to the game, Williams arriving Saturday morning and Dartmouth Friday afternoon.

Dartmouth constructively appears to be a slight favorite for the game, this impression gaining ground because there has been considerable controversy drawing attention to her new men, Lindsay and Turner being declared ineligible last year after some debate, and Hooper, the big center from Exeter, getting his name in the papers frequently this fall until it was finally decided where he would matriculate.

Williams, however, has several husky freshmen who also expect to get into the lime-light next week, notably Pease, a big center, and Longley, a 206 pound guard.

Both teams have their exceptional backfields of last season practically intact and both have the best in the way of coaching and leadership. Peabody, the long-distance punter and drop-kicker, is captain at Williams, and ex-Captain O'Neill, of the team which virtually defeated Dartmouth here two years ago, is head coach.

Dartmouth's game will be directed from quarter-back, the best possible position, by Capt. Witham, while P. I. Folsom, '95, is proving a worthy successor to Wallie MacCormack as coach.

Death of Dr. Albert Nott.

Dr. Albert Nott, an old resident of this city, and one of its best known physicians, died suddenly Saturday morning at his home on Washington street, West Newton, after an illness of but a few days. Death was due to rheumatism of the heart.

Dr. Nott was born in Claremont, N. H., 53 years ago, and was educated at the University of Vermont, where he received his degree of M.D. He came to West Newton in 1874, where he has since resided. He was at one time dean of the Boston college of physicians and surgeons, and later occupied the same office at the Tufts college medical school. He was a prominent Mason, a member of the local lodge I. O. O. F., and a member of the Second Congregational church. A widow survives him.

Funeral services were held from the house Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock and were conducted by Rev. Dr. T. P. Prudden of the Congregational church. The Mendelssohn quartet sang "Looking This Way," "Just a Little While," and "Softly and Tenderly." Messrs. George Breeden, T. C. Nickerson, Henry H. Hunt and Isaac H. Snow were the pall bearers. The interment was at Newton cemetery.

Death of Charles B. Bourne.

Charles B. Bourne died Sunday morning at his home on Auburn street, Auburndale, after a long period of ill health.

Mr. Bourne was a native of Auburndale and the son of Benjamin Bourne. He was educated in the Newton schools and in his business life engaged in building and contracting. He was about 57 years old. He was a member of Dalhousie lodge, F. and A. M., and attended the Grace Episcopal church. He is survived by a widow.

Funeral services were held from the family residence Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Rev. John Matteson officiating and the interment was in Newton cemetery.

P. P. ADAMS.

His Career as a Waltham Merchant.

The Beauties of the New Store Set Forth.

To the many thousands of people in Waltham and vicinity, who have followed the growth of the P. P. Adams' store during the last six years, the opening of their new addition and the completion of the extensive alterations in their main store, marks an epoch in the dry goods business in this city.

The success of this store is remarkable from more than one standpoint. It illustrates in a forcible manner the outcome of a clever application of brains and energy; the consistent following up of a policy of honesty in business and stands as a shining example of the value of a judicious use of advertising which has made the name of P. P. Adams a household word within a radius of 20 miles of this city.

It is a decided tribute to the business ability of Mr. Adams when one considers that all this success has been achieved in so short a time.

Scarcely eight years ago he came to Waltham almost an entire stranger and bought the store on Main street, then occupied by Mr. Follett. With characteristic foresight it did not take him long to discover that the growth of Waltham, as a business center, was fast moving towards the South side of the river and at the earliest chance he secured a single store in Lincoln block and by his aggressive and up-to-date business methods made an immediate hit.

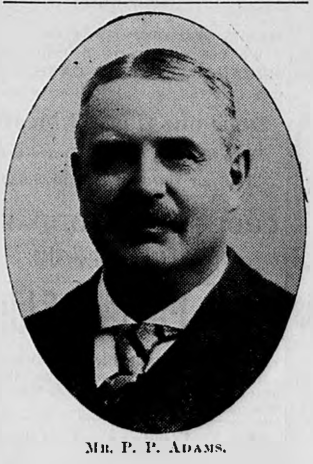

Since that time the growth of the store has been nothing short of marvelous. Not a year has passed but what has shown some addition, some improvement, developing with each year's growth from 1200 feet floor space to the 15,000 square feet now occupied, until it stands today, a monument to his ability as a manager, the largest and best equipped store in Waltham.

A brief description of the store as it presents itself after these latest and most important alterations, will not be out of place at this time.

The outside appearance of the store presents one continuous line of plate glass, almost 90 feet, divided into three of the largest show windows in the city, each fitted with mirrors at both ends.

These windows are each about 18 feet in length, all in one sash and each window is fitted 40 inches from the top, the entire length, with the celebrated prism lights which reflect the daylight to the extreme depth of the store, making the best lighted store in New England. In fact, it has been aptly termed The Sunlight Store.

The entrance is 18 feet wide, is of red birch, stained with cherry and has three large windows.

MR. P. P. ADAMS.

The side windows are curved plate glass also fitted with end mirrors.

The entrance landing is fitted with prism blocks to aid in lighting the basement salesrooms.

Eight full power arc lights are used to light the windows and entrance, making an electric display not equalled anywhere.

On entering the store the customer is at once impressed with the bright appearance and the convenience of the interior arrangement.

New steel ceilings have been fitted throughout the entire store and the effect of the prism light is most marked, while in the evening 18 arc lights make the store bright as day.

Each department is entirely separate and the stocks are displayed to the best possible advantage.

The right hand wall counter is given to small wares, ladies' kid gloves, McCall patterns, yarns and dress goods.

Directly in front of the entrance is the ribbon and ladies' neckwear department, containing a display of ribbons not even equalled by many Boston stores.

To the left of the entrance, occupying the entire corner to the depth of 30 feet is the men's furnishing goods department, conveniently arranged and carrying the largest stock of men's furnishing goods in the city.

To the left of the main aisle in the centre of the store is the corset and cotton underwear department, enlarged and occupying a convenient location.

Directly opposite is the ladies' and misses' hosiery and underwear department on the one side and the infants' wear department on the other, each showing complete and up-to-date stocks.

The entire rear wall section, occupied by the domestic and wash fabric department, a store in itself, more than ever destined to please the women folks.

Probably the most interesting section to the ladies, especially, at this season, is the new suit room, a department which is under the personal supervision of Mr. Adams, and of which he is justly proud.

This room is reached from the main store by a large archway and the customer finds on entering, an entire store, elegantly fitted up, devoted exclusively to ladies' ready made wear, children's outer garments, waists and wrappers. Convenience in arrangement, care in the selection and display of stock, are evident to the most casual observer on entering this room, and the light, a most important feature, is perfect.

The basement section is reached by a large, well lighted stairway, from the centre of the store, and like the main store is lighted with the aid of daylight prisms.

To the left at the bottom of the stairway, is the new drapery and rug department and is in charge of Mr. Ellis Olmstead, formerly with P. H. Graves & Sons. One half of the basement is given to this department, making an attractive and unusual display.

The other half is divided between the shoe department and the boys' clothing department, each having additional room and more attractive than ever.

The whole arrangement of the store is decidedly well executed and shows the result of much study, combined with a thorough knowledge of the needs of an up-to-date department store.

The entire sale space covers over 15,000 feet of floor space and two large stock rooms are used for duplicate stock. The store is lighted by 26 arc lights, 28 stations of cash railway facilitate making change and 70 people are employed.

Mr. P. P. Adams, the owner, is justly proud of his achievement and Waltham is justly proud of Mr. Adams. tory Fall Sale. He invites you one and all to come and inspect his new store.

The feature of the week was the cutting of the dividend on steel common from a 4 per cent to a 2 per cent. Although the stock market had previously discounted not only the deduction, but also the passing of the dividend, yet such was the temper of professional traders that the stock sold off and had an unsettling effect upon the whole list. The industrial stocks especially have lost heavily, many reaching new low levels. The idea seemed to prevail that it the directors of the steel corporation, among whom are some of the ablest financiers of the country, see danger ahead, then the dividends on industrial common stocks are likely to suffer.

Cool-headed observers, however, are not so pessimistic. They see in the action of the steel directors only what has long been expected. No one looks for the continuance of dividends on the common; indeed it was understood from the first that the policy of paying dividends on the common was inherited from the subsidiary companies and would be abandoned on the first opportunity. If it had been generally believed that the dividends could be maintained, the stock would have been selling above 60.—Curtis & Sederquist.

Equal Suffrage League Reception.

A delightful social affair is anticipated for Thursday evening, Oct. 29, when the Newton Equal Suffrage League gives a reception at the Hunnewell club to the officers and members of the Massachusetts Women's Suffrage Association and other friends are invited from near and far.

Brief addresses will be made by Mayor Weeks, Mr. Henry B. Blackwell, Hon. Samuel L. Powers and Rev. Anna H. Shaw of New York will answer questions.

The annual convention of the Massachusetts Women's Suffrage Association will be held in the West Newton Unitarian church. The business meeting at 10.30 A. M. Friday, Oct. 30, will be for members only. Luncheon in the supper room at one o'clock will be followed by a brief work conference. Public meeting at 3 o'clock, at which Mrs. Florence Kelley, secretary of the National Consumers' League, Rev. Anna H. Shaw, Hon. Gorham D. Gilman will speak.

Luncheon tickets at 50 cents each may be obtained by sending money and a stamped addressed envelope to Mrs. John Bellamy, 133 Webster street, West Newton.

D. A. R.

The first fall meeting of the Lucy Jackson Chapter, D. A. R., of Newton, was held at the home of Mrs. Arthur P. Friend in West Newton last Monday.

The meeting was called to order by the vice-regent, Mrs. Friend, who said that Miss Fanny B. Allen, the regent, found it would be impossible for her to fill the position the coming winter and the vice-regent would act for her.

Mrs. Avery, Mrs. Friend, Mrs. Whitmore and Mrs. Eaton were elected delegates to the state conference at Brockton.

As is usual at the first meeting of the season there was no paper, and the afternoon's entertainment took the form of an informal reception. Instrumental music by Mrs. Carter and a few songs by Miss Van Wageningen added much pleasure to the meeting.

Mrs. Alice May, for years resident on the continent of Europe and a graduate of the Royal Academy of Music at London, will give lessons in French and German (conversation and theory) and pianoforte for beginners. A specialty, made of children. Address, 11 Meredith avenue, Newton Highlands. 13t

HARPOONING A TARPON.

An Exciting Sport That Demands Coolness and Dexterity.

The harpoon is cast. There is a crash in the water and a big wave rolls outward. As the skiff is driven forward by your boatman you recover your harpoon pole. As you take it aboard your first spare glance discovers the line drifting rapidly over the bow.

The line is seized loosely and paid out hand over hand. If clutched tightly there will be torn and blistered fingers. If the line is hauled twisted it will suggest red hot wire. It will tear the flesh; it will kink and squirm and writhe. Beginning gently, an increasing strain is put upon the line until the boat is in rapid motion. As the tarpon feels the strain a grating, glistening, silvery mass hurls itself six or eight feet clear of the water.

The sight of the skiff gives him new life. His next dash carries him through a narrow channel and you lose line to him. In making a sharp turn your skiff grounds on an oyster bar. By the time you are again afloat you have out nearly 300 feet of line, with not a dozen coils left. But the boat is soon under headway, the boatman pushing frantically and the stretching of the line helps. You have taken up the tarpon's gait, his speed slackens; once more you recover line and again breathe freely.

Fifteen minutes of alternate rushing, leaping and sulking, with bubbles of air rising more and more frequently to the surface, and the end comes. The great fish rises to the surface, and, rolling over on his side, surrenders as completely as he has struggled tenaciously.—Country Life in America.

Testing the Lungs.

Draw in as much breath as you conveniently can, then count as long as possible in a slow and audible voice without drawing in more breath. The number of seconds must be carefully noted. In a consumptive the time does not exceed ten and is frequently less than six seconds; in pleurisy and pneumonia it ranges from nine to four seconds. When the lungs are sound the time will range as high as from twenty to thirty-five seconds. To expand the lungs go into the air, stand erect, throw back the head and shoulders and draw in the air through the nostrils as much as possible.

After having then filled the lungs raise your arms, still extended, and suck in the air. When you have thus forced the arms backward, with the chest open, change the process by which you draw in your breath, till the lungs are emptied. Go through the process several times a day, and it will enlarge the chest, give the lungs better play and serve very much to ward off consumption.

Microscopic Penmanship.

The subject of microscopic workmanship really divides itself into two classes—penmanship and mechanical construction. History has handed down to us many examples of this form of calligraphic mania, of which the chief symptom is a desire to compress the greatest number of words into the smallest possible space.

Pliny the Younger declares that Cicero once saw the "Iliad" written so small that it could be inclosed in a walnut shell. This affirmation was regarded as improbable until the seventeenth century, when Huet, bishop of Avranches, France, an excellent Greek scholar, proved that it could be accomplished.

The gospel of St. John and the Acts of the Apostles were written within the circumference of a farthing in the sixteenth century by an Italian monk.

How a Dying Man Feels.

Numerous experiments made in hospitals and upon heroic scientists who have permitted tests to be made upon themselves right down to the moment of death, warrant these conclusions: That a dying man may be burned with red hot irons and yet not feel the least pain; that consciousness may remain in the dying almost to the moment of actual dissolution, but that most people generally lose the power of thought long before death; that in cases of death where there seems to be extreme suffering, with writhing and spasms, such phenomena are generally due to reflex muscular action; also that fear weakens the muscular system and hastens death, while the reverse may prolong life.

Enemies at a Social Function.

Mrs. Lowe, wife of Robert Lowe, afterward Viscount Sherbrook, was a tremendous partisan whenever her husband was concerned. After the reform bill of 1807 Disraeli and the Lowes made no pretense to any mutual liking. At a dinner once at Lady Waldegrave's the guests had all paired off till only Disraeli and Mrs. Lowe were left. With his insouciant smile and complete appreciation of the humor of the situation, Disraeli bowed and extended his arm. "I suppose there's no help for it, Mrs. Lowe," when both burst into hearty laughter.

Slightly Confused.

"What nonsense that man talks!" remarked Senator Sorghum as the department visitor closed the door.

"What did he say?" "Something about a profit being without honor somewhere or other. I want to go on record as saying that there isn't a country on the map where a profit is not held in high esteem."—Washington Star.

Cruel.

"Ah, me!" sighed the lovelorn Mr. Kallow. "I tossed and turned upon my bed last night, and I couldn't sleep a wink." "That so?" replied the heartless maid. "What's the matter? Are you teething?"—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

SWEDENBORG.

His Life and Teachings
Briefly Described.Letter from Rev. John Goddard of Newtonville.To the Editor of the Graphic, Dear Sir:—

A pamphlet, entitled "Claims of Emanuel Swedenborg and Mary B. G. Eddy," by Mrs. Ellen J. Foss Metcalf, has been placed in my hands. Since this production emanates from a resident of Newton, and presumably has more or less of a local circulation, it seems only just and proper that it should receive a local reply.

The pamphlet, in associating the names of Swedenborg and Mrs. Eddy, [since both make claim, in some measure, to an extraordinary or supernatural source of spiritual knowledge] naturally regards them both as among the "false Christs and prophets," shewing signs and wonders," predicted by our Lord.

It seems clear that the writer is not familiar with Swedenborg's writings, but depends upon what others have said about him, or quoted from him. She therefore fails to grasp the breadth and depth of his universal thought. She fails to see that the truths which he seeks to bring down to the low plane of earthly thought must be adapted, conveyed, by comparison, symbolism and metaphor, in order to be understood at all. She fails to see that he is also addressing the various forms of mind in the universal church, and hence various states or planes of intelligence. In these two facts—the difficulty of conveying spiritual thought in natural language, and the necessity of adapting the truth to different forms of mind—the secret of what seem to Mrs. Metcalf, Swedenborg's contradictions, as might easily be shown.

Her charges, then, of a lack of consistency, I will pass by without further remark; and also the parallels which are drawn between Swedenborg's and Mrs. Eddy's claims, however interesting it would be to consider them; and will confine myself to the pamphlet's most serious and erroneous charges, namely, that the followers of Emanuel Swedenborg, or rather the believers in his theology, while apparently worshippers of the Lord Jesus Christ, are really worshippers of Swedenborg, the man, depending, as they do, upon his interpretation of the Bible's meaning rather than its plain literal meaning, and so making his interpretations a substitute for the Bible itself. I will reply as briefly as possible first, by reference to Swedenborg's character as a man; secondly, by reference to his teachings with regard to the duty of approaching the Lord; and thirdly, by his teachings respecting the use to be made of the Scriptures.

1. Swedenborg's character as a man, as revealed by his life and records, was above reproach. One of his rules of life required of him to be as "universally useful as possible." His father was a Lutheran bishop of ability and piety. From his childhood as he testifies, religion meant to him a life of obedience to the decalogue, and of loving usefulness to the neighbor. Long before he became conscious of a special mission, his single-eyed love for the truth for its own sake, which had led him to make a profound study of the human body, in the hope and expectation that he might find the soul (the object of his search) imaged there, compelled him to leave the dissecting room, where he was making discoveries which would bring him honor among men, for fear that he might be led astray from the search for truth by the love of being considered a discoverer. Nor did he have any deep and reflex reference to himself in this, always ascribing all honor and glory to the Lord alone. There was never a trace of our modern method of confusing the essence of God with the individuality of man—talking about "the divinity in man" and giving glory to the creature. From the beginning to the end of his career, God alone was Life and Self-Personality, and man only a free recipient of that life either perceived by self-reference or unperceived as when humility, the highest human virtue, rules the deepest recesses and fountains of the soul. Before he was prepared for his higher work, and when more than fifty years of age, he passed through a series of profound soul-searchings, revealed in his private diary, (which was only discovered in recent years, whose burden is that he may be wholly the Lord's, and not his own. History can scarcely supply another such example of a man of perfect balance of faculties mental and spiritual, of scientific capacities blended with religious faith, and who, with all the world's prizes in his grasp, completely turned his back on honor and emolument, surrendering all selfish things, to give himself to his Master's service.

2. Again, Swedenborg's teachings were wholly in accord with his life. Everywhere he leads us to go to the Lord Jesus Christ alone, and to keep His commandments looking to Him for strength and motive. He warns his readers against blind authority. "The heart of faith is love, which is a gift by the Lord Jesus to the soul that seeks Him. His love brings insight into revealed truth. It gives one the power to recognize the truth, as one would recognize a friend. Swedenborg puts himself in the place of an unbeliever. He makes him ask in substance, 'how can I have this living, loving faith and insight—I fear I cannot,' and then replies, 'I will tell him how he may. Let him shew evils as sins against the Lord, not as merely hurtful in a worldly way; and let him look to the Lord Jesus as his God, and trust in Him and then he will have all the faith he can desire.' Swedenborg, the man, is mostly out of sight in his writings.

He sought no proselytes. He founded no church. He published his works at his own expense, placed them in libraries and passed on into the great Beyond with joyful anticipations, receiving the sacrament at the hands of a Lutheran minister, acknowledging the Lord as the only Fountain of Life, and himself an only sinful apart from Him. Although the Sceptic Kant became convinced by investigation of Swedenborg's supernatural gifts, and although Swedenborg himself was frequently importuned to reveal information from the other world, he invariably refused except where there was some actual use to be performed, always leading those who could easily have been made his personal followers away from belief induced by marvels to a faith of reason and of love away from him as a man to the Lord who had revealed the truth through him, and to the truths which were the Lord's alone.

3. And finally. The only outward authority that Swedenborg acknowledges is the written Scripture. All that he has written is to be judged by that, and by that in its plain and literal teaching. For while the true Scripture has an internal or spiritual meaning throughout, like everything that God has made yet the word is like a man whose body for the most part is clothed, but whose face and hands are necessarily left unclothed, in order that he may do his work in the world. All the leading truths which Swedenborg taught are found in the literal, plain sense of Scripture—its unclothed face and hands. It required indeed a revelation to enable men to see them in their beauty and to their connection, for the real truths of the literal sense had been so mingled with its clothed or apparent truths as to excite the torture of a Savonarola, the burning of a Servetus, or the hanging of witches. With Swedenborg, the written Word, is the only outward authority, and this only as a stepping-stone to an inner enlightenment of faith.

It is possible for men to follow Swedenborg, as some of the apostles of old followed Paul, and some Apollos. Hero worship is ingrained in human nature. Even Peter followed his master at first as an earthly potentate, and defended him with the sword. But if Swedenborg has any such heroic worshippers (and Emerson seems to have been one) they can find no warrant in his writings. Everything that he had discovered was the Lord's doing, and marvellous in his eyes. The Lord Jesus was his Lord and Master, and to Him alone was all glory and honor due. With him, the worship of an invisible, impersonal God was really the worship of self, of material nature, or force, and the glory of the church of the new age would be that it would worship a visible God in whom is the invisible, as the soul is in the body. Thus Swedenborg made himself as nothing, and the Lord Jesus Christ was all in all to him.

I might continue indefinitely, Mr. Editor, but this communication is already too long.

Yours very truly,
John Goddard.

At the Churches.

Mr. E. C. Wyatt will be in charge of the prayer meeting of the young people's society at the Immanuel Baptist church, Newton, next Sunday evening.

At the recent annual meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent society of the Auburndale Congregational church the following officers were chosen: President, Mrs. W. H. Blood; vice-president, Mrs. C. W. Higgins; secretary, Mrs. Philip Willner; treasurer, Miss L. A. Rider; directors, Mrs. F. E. Porter, Mrs. W. H. Bancroft, Mrs. C. P. Darling, Mrs. G. D. Harvey, Mrs. H. G. Hildreth, Mrs. Edward Almy.

The first monthly sociable for the season will be held at the parlors of the Unitarian church, Newton Centre, this evening at 8 o'clock.

The opening meeting of the West Newton Women's Alliance will take the form of a reception and will take place next Friday afternoon in the parlors of the West Newton Unitarian church.

The young men's league will meet next Sunday noon at the Immanuel Baptist church. Mr. George C. Travis will take temporary charge of the meetings of the league.

The annual collection for Home missions will be taken at the Second Congregational church, West Newton, next Sunday.

A meeting of the Girls' Friendly society will be held next Monday evening at 7.30 in the parish house of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale.

The first of the evening services in the main auditorium was held at the Immanuel Baptist church on Sunday. Vocal selections were rendered by the Arlington male quartet. Rev. F. B. Matthews gave the first in his series of sermons on "Isms and Schisms." His subject was "Anarchism or Constituted Authority Defined."

At the Second Congregational church, West Newton, last Monday afternoon a meeting of the Woman's Foreign Missionary society was held. The annual meeting of the Ladies' Benevolent society was held Thursday afternoon in the parlors of the Immanuel Baptist church, Newton.

A fair for the benefit of the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, is to be held in November. At a recent meeting an executive committee was chosen to represent the ladies of the parish in making final arrangements.

The annual meeting of the Auburndale Congregational church will be held Wednesday evening, Nov. 4. Supper will be served and will be followed by the business session.

HALLETT-STANLEY.

The marriage of Miss Blanche May Stanley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Edgar Stanley to Mr. Edward Merriew Hallett last Wednesday evening at the Channing church was witnessed by a large and fashionable audience including many people of note from all over the city, Boston, Brookline and other places in New England.

The church was beautifully decorated for the occasion by Galvin, greenery and white chrysanthemums predominating.

While the audience was assembling the following artistic musical program was rendered by Everett E. Truette, organist, Heinrich Schuecker, harpist and Daniel Kuntz, violinist.

March for organ, Whitney; harp, violin and organ, andante, Perihou; harp solo, Ballade, Alvares; violin solo, andante, Bruch; organ solo, andantino, Schaeuvt; and Handel's Largo for harp, violin and organ.

At 7.30 to the strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, the bridal procession came slowly down the aisle, headed by the ushers, Messrs. Robert G. Howard, Prescott Warren, Walter B. Trowbridge, Fred H. Loveland, Louis A. Hall all of Newton, Guy B. Haskell of Binghamton, N. Y., and Nananie P. Simmons of Salem, Mass.

They were followed by the bridesmaids, the Misses Sally A. Cutler, Jennie L. Haskell, Sallie Hallett, all of Newton, Florence Dingley of Auburn, Me., Mildred Gill of Baltimore, Md., and Grace Stanley Page of Bath, Me. These young ladies were gowned in white net over pink mousselin de soie and carried bridesmaid's roses.

Two flower children, Raymond Walter Stanley, a brother, and little Marjorie Warren, a niece of the bride, came next, carrying baskets of marguerites. Mrs. Prescott Warren, the matron of honor, sister of the bride, dressed in pink crepe de chine over mousselin de soie and carrying a bouquet of Fairmaid pinks, immediately preceded the bride who was escorted by her father. She was gowned in a beautiful creation of real lace and wore the customary tulle veil and orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The bride was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Mr. Gray Blaudy, and the ceremony was performed by Rev. Adelbert L. Hudson, pastor of the church. The Mendelssohn wedding march was played as a retrocessionary.

A reception followed until 10 o'clock at the beautiful Stanley residence on Centre street. The large reception room was adorned with roses innumerable and the other apartments had a profusion of chrysanthemums, smilax and roses. Mr. and Mrs. Hallett were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Stanley and Mrs. William H. Hallett.

Mrs. Stanley wore gray crepe de chine with old rose point lace and Mrs. Hallett was attired in black.

After a wedding tour Mr. and Mrs. Hallett will reside at 584 Centre street, where they will be at home on Mondays, Nov. 30 and Dec. 14 from 10 to 10 o'clock.

A WESLEY INCIDENT.

First Methodist Lay Preacher Followed in a Year by Ten.

The societies met on Sundays, but never at the hour of church service, and, when neither Wesley nor any other clergyman was present, spent the hour in prayer and religious conversation or exhortation. From exhortation before the society to formal preaching before it was only a step, but to Wesley it seemed a very long step.

While in Bristol he learned, one day in 1739, that one of his converts, Thomas Maxfield, had been preaching before the Foundry society. He hurried up to London to stop it. But his mother, who since the death of her husband had been living in a room of the Foundry building, met him with a protest, "John, take care what you do with reference to that young man, for he is as surely called to preach as you are." Admonished by this counsel from one whose caution on all churchly matters he knew to be quite equal to his own, Wesley reluctantly consented to hear Maxfield preach. After listening, he exclaimed: "It is the Lord's doing. Let him do as seemeth to him good." Convinced in spite of deep rooted disinclination, he sanctioned the first Methodist lay preacher. Within a year there were twenty.—C. F. Winchester in Century.

Professional Trust.

To any who regard the whole legal profession with suspicion I can only answer: "You are probably right in saying that if a lawyer had played the vulture he would not tell of it, yet in truth these evil birds of prey are not the majority in the law. If they were more than a small minority our profession could not sustain the almost boundless confidence it enjoys from the whole business world. Remember, a lawyer is judged day by day, and by his deeds he is justified or condemned. If a significant number of us were traitors to our clients or if by our hypocrisy we undermined the body of professional ethics, the keen and undecieved men of this generation would not be placing in lawyers' hands every day their most momentous interests and trusting implicitly in the honesty of their advice. Suppose we do have our little professional attitudes and poses and pomposities; those are but superficial mannerisms which may make us awkward and tedious when we, too, would write a popular article, but which have nothing under heaven to do with our faithfulness to our clients. On that faithfulness we meet our judgment day six times a week."—Everybody's Magazine.

Beecher's Application.

One Saturday afternoon two Brooklyn men were on their way over Fulton ferry to the City of Churches. Mr. Beecher happened to be on board. As the ferryboat felt its way into the slip Mr. Beecher seemed to be looking on abstractedly. As the boat struck the piling at the side, which creakingly yielded, Mr. Beecher's face lighted up. One of the men, who knew Mr. Beecher's method of sermonizing, remarked to the other: "There will be something about that in tomorrow's sermon. Let us go and see." The men were in Plymouth church the following morning as suggested. Sure enough, in the course of the sermon Mr. Beecher made some such reference as this: "There are in every community men who perform for society the service that yonder piling does in the ferry slip—when they are struck they gracefully yield, yet are not quite swept from their position. They stand for principle, but they tactfully yield in nonessentials. Those buffer souls are valuable members of society."

His Second Stomach.

Smugglers' brains are proverbially fertile, and a clever expedient was once adopted to import brandy into Paris without paying the octroi duties, says the Golden Penny. For several weeks a splendid elephant and his keeper belonging to a circus had constantly gone in and out of one of the Paris gates, when one day a custom house officer suddenly thrust his probe into the creature's side. The spectators were horrified, but the elephant did not appear to feel any pain, while from the wound fell four tiny barrels of brandy. The keeper, considering that a little extra size in the unwieldy shape of his change would not be noticed, had increased its stomach in the old skin of a larger elephant and had filled out the space with brandy—a very profitable enterprise.

A Desperate Man.

It was in a restaurant, and the young wife looked anxiously at her husband as he devoured a double portion of lobster salad.

"I wish you wouldn't eat that, dear," she urged. "You know it never agrees with you, especially at night."

"It doesn't, but I don't care," he said as he tackled a huge mouthful. "It's my turn to take care of the baby tonight, anyhow."—New York Press.

A Fair Warning.

Mrs. Browne—Don't you think the new neighbor is cute? She has such a coaxing little way about her.

Mrs. Greene—Well, she'll get herself into trouble if she tries her coaxing little way on either of my hired girls.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Where Friendship Ceases.

"That girl with Johnson there—a friend of his, I presume?"

"Nope; used to be, though."

"So? Had a falling out?"

"Not exactly. He married her."—Baltimore American.

The Young Men's Christian Association deserves the assistance of every one in its good work which it is now doing in this community.
This is particularly true this fall when the Association has entered upon a greatly enlarged work. Its new quarters in the Eliot Block are so very convenient and its new gymnasium so large and amply equipped, will prove very attractive to old and young. Encourage the Association by becoming a member.

The democratic nomination of David H. Warren for representative to the General Court is construed as a deliberate trick to confuse the voter who wishes to return the present able republican representative, Edgar W.
Warren. Pass along the word to every republican voter to make his cross opposite the name of the right Warren. There is considerably more difference between the men than there is between their names.

Petitions generously signed by residents of Newton Highlands urging the purchase of a large tract of land adjoining the Hyde School now used as a playground have been presented to the aldermen. Newton Highlands would be entitled to more consideration in this matter if it followed the lead of the other villages and presented a generously signed subscription list instead.

The action of the Eliot church authorities in asking that the city assume the cost of maintaining the illuminated clock on their church tower is natural and logical, considering such a clock at Newton Centre.
We rather imagine, however, that the clock will still be illuminated whether the city grants the petition or not.

The proposition to widen Centre street in front of the First Church at Newton Centre is commendable.
That portion of the street is too narrow for a main thoroughfare and the generous act of the church should be promptly and gratefully accepted.

City Hall Notes.

A largely attended and spicy hearing was given Monday evening by the board of health on the petition to revoke the stable permit now held by the Gilfix Bros. on Clinton street.
William F. Bacon represented the petitioners and H. L. Whittlesey appeared for the Gilfix Bros. Quite a number of witnesses were examined and later the board refused to revoke the license.

The assessors, city treasurer, city engineer and city clerk appeared before the Public Works Committee on Monday evening regarding office accommodations in the City Hall. Two propositions were presented, one for a brick addition on the land now occupied by the police patrol stable on Cherry street, and also for a small enlargement on the east side for the engineer and treasurer. The committee was also urged to delay any matters affecting the present building and to prepare for a new city hall within the next few years.

The Civic Club of Newton to which all past and present members of the city government are eligible will meet for organization Monday evening, Oct. 26 at the Newton Club. Congressman Powers and Mayor Weeks will speak at the smoke talk which will follow the business meeting.

Mayor Weeks sends his estimates jolly series of interesting events. The address by Supt. of Schools Fred

W. Atkinson; Saturday, Oct. 24,
Round-Up No. 1; Wednesday, Oct. 28,

HANGMAN'S PAY.

The Way an Oriental Executioner Helps to Fill His Purse.

In the east a hangman's trade is very profitable. As soon as a person is condemned to be hanged notice is sent to the executioner, who has the privilege of erecting the scaffold wherever he pleases, and at sunrise the next morning he begins his work. Accompanied by his assistants, who guard the condemned man and carry material for the scaffold, he goes to some prominent place in front of a large dwelling and there proceeds to erect the scaffold.

A few minutes later the owner of the large dwelling rushes out and implores him to go somewhere else.
"I don't want to have a man hanged in front of my house," he explains.

"All right," says the hangman, "I'm willing to go elsewhere provided you pay me for my trouble in coming here and for the time which I have spent at the job."

Though the sum which he names is pretty large, the owner of the large dwelling pays it without a word, whereupon the hangman goes to another large dwelling, where a similar scene is enacted.

In this way several hours are spent by the executioner in extorting money from all the magnates in the neighborhood. When his purse is at last well filled he erects the scaffold in some dark wood, and soon the unfortunate man, who has been tramping after him all day, is at rest.—New York Herald.

The Kind of Ear That Is Rare.

The ear that Darwin illustrates in his "Descent of Man" as being allied to the pointed type belonging to our simian relatives is not as uncommon as many may imagine. It is his observation that this peculiarity of the fold in question is often to be observed in women, and in many of these cases the persistence of the wisdom teeth is also a characteristic. I have in mind two cases of this sort, one of a man, the other of a woman, both residents of one of our leading cities and among their social and intellectual forces.

The Russian Bride.

A Russian bride has a very much more trying time on her wedding day than has her American sister, for she must fast until after the ceremony is over and that after enduring the trials of a "farewell party" the day before.
As the wedding, to be fashionable,
must not take place till the evening, it is easy to imagine in what an exhausted state the bride often enters on her new life. Besides bridesmaids there are also bridesmen, who have to provide the bridesmaids with sweetmeats. The number of bridesmaids is unlimited, and they are not dressed alike. Following the bridal procession is carried a picture in gold and silver of Christ, which is stationed against the altar.
The bride's old nurse is entrusted with the removal of the bride's dowry from her father's house to that of her future husband.

A Million For Advice.

Sometimes representing a client pays a lawyer well. There is a persistent story, which probably will never be printed as to names and details, that a famous trust magnate paid a lawyer a million dollars in cash for simply saying to him: "Don't fight. If you insist on fighting I will take your case. But if you fight remember all your books will be opened and all your methods disclosed." The bewildering multitude of that instant fee of a million was a record for wise philanthropy which showed the genius of the philanthropist. Never was a fee better earned if the tale is true.—Everybody's Magazine.

At the Churches.

The services next Sunday at Eliot church will be held in the main auditorium. It is expected that one of the organs will be ready for use and possibly both of them. The special offering for the American Board will be taken. The vesper services will be resumed in the afternoon at 4.30.

The coming Sunday will be observed as Y.M.C.A. Day in the Immanuel Baptist church when in the morning service a collection will be taken for the Newton association.

At the morning service at the Universalist church, Newtonville, next Sunday Rev. Albert Hammett will preach on "A Thrilling Experience."

The first social for the season will be held at Central church, Newtonville, next Tuesday evening and will take the form of a reception to the pastor.

The 20th anniversary of the Maria
B. Furber Missionary society will be held Thursday, Oct. 22, at the home of Mrs. F. A. Foster on Gray Cliff road, Newton Centre. An account of the work of the society will be given and there will be music and refreshments.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Boston Music Hall.—Plays that are along the same line as the teachings of the church are few and far between. "The Volunteer Organist," which scored such an enormous success when it was presented at Boston Music Hall last season, and which returns there next Monday afternoon for a week's engagement with a matinee every afternoon is just such a drama, and as the Rev. Howard Sturgis has said, the tie between church and stage is made the more secure by this beautiful play. As a grand moral lesson, no play of latter days can offer anything in comparison. It is sublime, impressive, and is carried in one's memory for many a day after witnessing it. The entire cast, and it is an unusually large one, was carefully chosen.

Majestic Theatre.—Next week will be the last of the engagement of Kirke LaShelle and Owen Wistar's dramatization of "The Virginian," which had its premier presentation at the Majestic theatre last Saturday evening. The unusually heavy advance sale for the concluding performances is strong proof of the firm grasp the characters of Mr. Wistar's novel have taken upon their readers.
Matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons. "The Virginian" will be followed on Monday, Oct. 26, by the first presentation in Boston of the splendid American comedy, "The Earl of Pawtucket."

The piece has been hailed as the greatest comedy that has ever been presented in this country and it enjoys the enviable distinction of having run through almost an entire year in New York, being played at three different theatres. The seat sale for the opening week begins at the box office of the Majestic theatre on Monday morning. Matinees will be given on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons during the engagement.

Political Notes.

Mr. Lewis P. Everett will be a candidate for re-election to the School Board from Ward 5.

Thos. W. White will be a candidate for election to the Board of Aldermen from Ward 5.

At Natick last Friday night, James R. Entwistle of Framingham was

DEDICATION

The Oak Hill Union Evangelical chapel on Nahanton street, Newton, Centre, was dedicated Wednesday evening in the presence of a large audience. The exercises included music by a quartet, congregational singing, scripture reading by the Rev. D. A. Morehouse, an historical sketch by Frederick W. Emerson, a report on the building by the Rev.
Lyman W. King, dedication prayer by the Rev. William M. Mick and a sermon of dedication by the Rev.
Francis E. Clark of Auburndale.
The new chapel is built of wood, 32 by 40 feet in size, and has a seating capacity of 160 persons. Leading off from the main room are a number of class-rooms with movable partitions, and a large room when desired. The building cost about $2300, including heating, plumbing, etc.
The furnishings have been supplied by the friends of the enterprise.

UNITARIAN CLUB

In the Channing Unitarian church parlors last evening the opening meeting for the season of the Unitarian Club was held. After supper had been served Mr. F. W. Atkinson, superintendent of the Newton schools, gave a thoughtful and interesting address describing the natural characteristics of the Philippine Islands, the products, the natives from an ethnological standpoint and the final result of American influence and education. A brief address was also made by Rev. Albert Hammett and solos were rendered by Mrs. Ida Fox Allen.

WEAK OBJECTIONS.

MUST WOMEN BEAR ARMS IN ORDER TO WIN THE BALLOT?

Most of the Opponents of Equal Suffrage Could Find Causes Nearer Home—Women Their Own Worst Enemies.

An edifying spectacle was that of the venerable Lyman Abbott, aged sixty-eight, braving the rigors of a New Hampshire March to oppose the pending suffrage amendment on the ground that women cannot render military service! During all the crucial years of the civil war, when Lyman Abbott was in the full vigor of young manhood, his country received no military service whatever from him, not even in the capacity of chaplain. During the recent Spanish-American war he was too feeble to fight except with his goose quill. By what right, then, has this venerable gentleman been voting all these years? He has not a fighting ancestry behind him, and he has furnished no soldiers in his progeny. What special service, then, has he rendered the nation beyond that given by thousands of women which entitles him to the ballot that he is using all his influence to keep from them? Every mother who has laid a son on the altar of her country, every wife who has given her husband to be sacrificed in its defense, is more justly entitled to vote on the ground of military service than is Dr. Lyman Abbott.

Another feature of the campaign which was so humiliating that one cannot even smile at the humor of it was the appearance of two women, one from Massachusetts and one from Delaware, pleading with the men of New Hampshire in representative hall at Concord not to grant the women of the state the right of representation. Was it to produce such as these that the seven years' war of the Revolution was fought? Mrs. A. J. George of Massachusetts declared that the women of that state are "the most privileged class the world has yet seen, and they have been made so by the masculine sense of justice." And yet at this very time the average monthly salary of the women school-teachers in Boston is $60.08 and of the men $218.01, and in the entire state the average paid to women teachers is only about one-third that paid to men. The average weekly salary of other wage earning women is considerably less than $5, and on this point Carroll D. Wright, most trustworthy of statisticians, says, "The lack of political influence constitutes a powerful reason why women's wages have been kept at a minimum."

Until last year the women were practically under the old common law so far as their property rights were concerned, and fathers were the absolute guardians of the children. The suffragists had been petitioning for forty years to have these laws equalized. Mrs. George's antisuffrage society, since its organization, had declared them just and satisfactory and had issued a pamphlet against giving mothers equal guardianship. But with the beginning of the new century the legislature itself finally mustered the decency to wipe them out. At the present time no taxpaying woman in the state has any voice in the levying or spending of her taxes. There are 18,000 of these women in Boston alone, who pay annually $3,000,000 into the city treasury. No woman has a voice in the regulation of the liquor traffic or in a single law which she must obey. None can hold the smallest office without a special act of the legislature. Gradually, however, the right has been extended to women to sit on various boards, and Mrs. George herself has joyfully taken advantage of it.

Miss Emily P. Bissell, who came from Delaware—that abode of pure politics, that state which has but one high school within its borders, but one college and this enrolling only 114 students and excluding women; which gives a widow only a life interest in one-third of the real estate and one-third of the personal property; which until 1880 kept the age of protection for girls at seven years, then raised the age and declared the crime only a misdemeanor—Miss Bissell, representing this great and glorious state, based her argument on the ground that "equal suffrage would be of no benefit to women, but would harm the state."

Could a keener satire be imagined than was presented by these two women, traveling hundreds of miles from their homes for the purpose of standing upon a public platform in a statehouse, surrounded by men who were strangers and pleading with an immense audience not to grant any more rights to women? These things make one almost ashamed to be a woman. They cut deep with the painful truth that this is indeed the "inferior" sex, for, with all his follies and sins, man is never so weak or so wicked as to pray that liberty may be withheld from himself and his brothers. He is never so ignorant or so stupid as not to recognize the blessings of freedom. If it were not for the light of experience which shows so clearly that every opportunity secured for women has developed their character and removed in a large measure the stigma of inferiority, the discouragement over the attitude of many who belong to the comparatively privileged classes would be so profound as to prevent any further effort. Women are indeed in some respects the worst enemy of woman, but we must not forget that if we accept the Bible version through woman knowledge came to the world, by means of woman the Redeemer was sent, and therefore it is but logical to believe that woman will be the agency by which eventually woman herself shall be regenerated.

Death of Edward E. Hardy.

Edward E. Hardy died suddenly Monday morning at his home on Central street, Auburndale, of apoplexy.

Mr. Hardy was born in Dorchester about 53 years ago and was the son of Alpheus and Susan Hardy, his father being a Boston business man. He was educated in Stuttgart and Kammstadt universities, Germany, and at Amherst College, where he was prominently identified with athletics.

He engaged in the insurance brokerage business about 28 years ago, and had been very successful. Mr. Hardy was a charter member and former president of the Newton Boat Club, a member of the Auburndale Improvement Association, also belonged to several Boston clubs. He was a trustee and clerk of the Newton Hospital and attended the Auburndale Congregational church. He served on the school board from 1897 to 1903.

He is survived by his wife, one son, Charles A. Hardy, and by a daughter, Mrs. Thomas Nickerson of Wellesley.

The funeral was held from the house at noon Thursday, Rev. George A. Gordon of Boston officiating. There was a large gathering of friends and relatives and the School Committee, Newton Hospital, Newton Boat Club and the Village Improvement Society were represented officially. The interment was at Mt. Auburn, where the committal service was read by Rev. C. M. Southgate.

DAVY CROCKETT.

His Knowledge of Politics and His Description of Himself.

As an example of Crockett's early electioneering methods one might mention his first canvass for the legislature. Regarding this, he says, "I didn't know what the government was; I didn't know but General Jackson was the government." Meeting Colonel Polk, later to be President Polk, the latter remarked, "I think it possible we may have some changes in the judiciary." "Very likely," replied Davy, "very likely," and discreetly withdrew. "Well," he comments, "if ever I knewed what he meant by 'judiciary' I wish I may be shot. I never heard there was such a thing in all nature."

Again, Crockett, in what is called his "autobiography," a work which he no doubt in part dictated or at least authorized, gives the following account of one of his speeches to a stranger at Raleigh, while Crockett was en route to Washington to take his first seat in congress. "Said he, 'Who are you?' Said I, 'I'm that same Davy Crockett, fresh from the backwoods, half man, half alligator, a little touched with snapping turtle, can wade the Mississippi, leap the Ohio, ride a streak of lightning, slide down a honey locust and not get scratched. I can whip my weight in wildcats, hug a bear too close for comfort and eat any man opposed to Jackson!'"—Emerson Haugh in Outing.

Fruit Seeds and Appendicitis.

Many very intelligent people are deterred from swallowing the seed of berries, grapes and other fruits lest the lodgment of these small bits of indigestibility may induce that dreaded accident, appendicitis. This fear is utterly baseless, since the healthy appendix is protected by a valvular arrangement which prevents even the smallest seeds from entering it. It is only after inflammation has already destroyed its normal protection that any foreign substance can gain access to it. To feel compelled to eschew all seeds, berries and fruits is to seriously curtail one's diet, and it is entirely unnecessary. In fact, the free and constant use of ripe berries and fruits of all kinds is one of the best preventives of this dangerous disease. Fruit eating prevents or helps to overcome constipation, and constipation is the most prolific cause of appendicitis. The physician should thoroughly disabuse his patients of this mistaken notion. All the smooth seeds are harmless.—Hygienic Gazette.

Her Old Sweetheart.

A young man and a young woman, lean over the front gate. They are lovers. It is moonlight. He is loath to leave, as the parting is the last. He is about to go away. She is reluctant to let him depart. They swing on the gate. "I'll never forget you," he says, "and if death should claim me my last thought will be of you."

"I'll be true to you," she says. "I'll never see anybody else or love them as long as I live."

They part. Six years later he returns. His sweetheart of former years has married. They meet at a party. She has changed greatly. Between the dances the recognition takes place.

"Let me see," she muses, with her fan beating a tattoo on her pretty hand, "was it you or your brother who was my old sweetheart?"

"Really I don't know," he says. "Probably my father."

Treasure Trove Law in England.

In England treasure trove belongs to the crown. According to the law, if any one finds hidden treasure and conceals it for his own use he is liable to fine and imprisonment. It used to be a hanging matter. However, it may be some encouragement to English treasure seekers, if any such there be in these enlightened days, to know that the laws of treasure trove only apply to such as is discovered by accident. Treasure discovered by systematic search would not come within this description; neither would finds discovered by astrological or cabalistic sciences or by the potent influence of the divinizing rod.—All the Year Round.

An Impatient Man.

In a restaurant near Park row a man who had just ordered luncheon called the waitress' attention to the pepper canister, from which he could get no pepper.

"Oh, I'll make that all right, sir," she said cheerfully, and, taking a hairpin from her hair, commenced to free the openings over his plate. Instantly he seized his hat and stick and rushed out, greatly to the amusement of the obliging waitress, who remarked to another customer:

"Oh, Lord, isn't he impatient! Why, I was clearing it as quick as I could!"—New York Press.

Blackbird Days.

Jan. 30 and 31 and Feb. 1 are famous at Constantinople, Breslau and along the Danube and the Rhine as the "blackbird days." A curious legend says that originally all species of grackles (blackbirds) were white and that they became black because during one year in the middle ages the three days mentioned above were so cold that all the birds in Europe took refuge in the chimneys. As Breslau the three days are celebrated with a feast called "I glorii della merla," or "the feast of the transformation of the bird."

His Return.

Mrs. Hattuske—Suppose I should give you a nice dinner today, what return would you make?

Hungry Hattuske—Well, ma'am, if I liked your cooking I'd return just as often as I could.—Philadelphia Press.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Boston Theatre.—The fourth and last week but one of the phenomenally successful engagement of "Quincy Adams Sawyer" at the Boston Theatre will commence next Monday night and the heavy advance sales indicate a continuation of the crowded attendance which have prevailed during the first three weeks. "Quincy Adams Sawyer" is deserving of the name of rural comedy for the country characters provide plenty of amusement and are a pleasing background for the more refined presentations of the leading roles. A special production was made for the Boston Theatre engagement and the management was careful that every detail should be natural and nothing mar the genuineness of the country atmosphere. There are but few more opportunities for witnessing this interesting drama, as the engagement is limited and seats should be obtained well in advance to avoid disappointment.

Park Theatre.—On visiting the Park Theatre in Boston, one wonders after seeing it why Charles Frohman, Rich and Harris, who are now the lessees and managers, did not apply the term new to it. Certainly it is that in every respect. It is easy to understand that they spent a large sum of money in remodeling the house. The theatre is now as fine as any in the city and it has taken on a new lease of life. The attraction now there is one exactly suited to the house and it is playing to business that fills the pretty theatre at every performance. Charles Frohman has given to Annie Russell, who is now at the Park, in "Mice and Men," a play in every way suited to this dainty woman's personality and nothing but praise is heard of her charming performance. By far the largest and best company Mr. Frohman has ever given Miss Russell supports her in "Mice and Men." To miss seeing this quaint and interesting play is to miss a great opportunity. It is one of those plays that is bound to please all classes. Prominent in the support of Miss Russell is Mrs. Gilbert, who has the distinction of being the oldest living actress now on the stage, and John Mason, a long and valued member of the Boston Museum Stock Company. During the engagement of Miss Russell the Wednesday matinees will be omitted.

Grand Opera House.—Patrons of the Boston Grand Opera House will have an excellent attraction next week in the sensational melodrama, "The King of Detectives." In this play, which has been enormously successful wherever it has been presented, there are many thrilling and sensa-

Mechanics Fair.

Notwithstanding the drenching rain, Mechanics building on Monday was once more the Mecca for all New England as an educational and amusement centre, and the big Fair drew an enormous attendance. It was the beginning of the second week of the Exposition, and the very generous attendance demonstrated most clearly its ever increasing popularity with all classes; the musically inclined, who rave over Creators, and the public generally, who find in the multiplicity and variety of the exhibits and entertainments their every taste gratified. As it was on Monday, so it has been every day since then, save that with the improved weather conditions the tide of patronage has swelled to extraordinary proportions. The Midway marvels with their scenes from Fairyland, their sketches of life in the Arctic regions and the Orient, their dwarfs and giants, Geisha girls, Hawaiians, Eskimos, Chinese and Japanese, make this particular feature of the Fair a loadstone for all, but more especially for the juveniles, the school children, who, thanks to the generosity of the management, are admitted free, not alone to the Midway but to all other parts of the Exposition. There is one place where the women patrons go the most to congregate, and that is the Infant Incubator circle, a big pavilion in the balcony on the Huntington Avenue side. As usual the Creator band concert (afternoon and evening) proved an irresistible attraction and evoked numerous encores. The evening's program included selections from such masters as Verdi, Donizetti, Giletti, Rossini, Puccini, Strauss, Chopin, Herbert, Mercadante, Mascagni and Creator himself.

Stewart-Page.

Miss Caroline Gertrude Page, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren B. Page of Newton Highlands became the bride of Mr. William Sanborn Stewart of Franklin Falls, N. H., last Wednesday noon, the ceremony taking place at the bride's residence, 1048 Walnut street.

Rev. George T. Smart of the Newton Highlands Congregational church was the officiating clergyman and the Episcopal service with the double ring ceremony was used.

The bride was attired in white crepe de chine, cut en train, trimmed with real French lace, and the conventional veil was caught with a diamond crescent. She was attended by her sister, Miss Irene D. Page, as maid of honor, who wore pink china silk, and the flower girls were Helen and Pauline Bartholt of Clinton and Vivien Borden of Fairhaven, Mass.

Mr. George S. Smith of Franklin Falls, N. H., was the best man and Messrs. Maurice J. Page, Percy Page of Newton Highlands and Roland Page of Clinton, Mass., brothers of the bride were the ushers.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at which Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stewart were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Page and Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Stewart. The house was decorated with southern snail and chrysanthemums and guests were present from the Newtons, North Adams, Clinton, Franklin Falls, N. H., and Baltimore, Md. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart were the recipients of many beautiful gifts.

national features. An audience admires a hero who has a right against odds, and yet wins his way—not by impossible efforts of the ordinary heroes of fiction—but by the use of brains, cunning and strength, and in a manner that is not only probable but entirely logical. Mr. James Pearce, the detective, is well fitted for the role having had experience in real life in that capacity while covering police headquarters on a New York paper. The usual matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Columbia Theatre.—It is doubtful if there is on record a more remarkable instance of the complete establishment in popular favor of a playhouse than has been demonstrated by the wonderful success of the Columbia Theatre, Boston, under the management of Sam S. and Lee Schubert. There are many reasons why this house should enjoy vogue. It is one of the most beautiful and comfortable playhouses in America, and has been entirely remodelled and refurbished by the Messrs. Schubert. On Monday, the 19th, "The Runaways," the big New York Casino musical comedy success, was open for a limited engagement, with Fay Templeton at the head of an extraordinary cast. "The Runaways" has been pronounced the most gorgeously mounted and expensively presented musical comedy New York has ever seen.

Keith's Theatre.—For the week of Oct. 19 another big vaudeville show is scheduled at Keith's, with another European act as the featured attraction. The latter is the much advertised Amoros-Werner troupe of comedy pantomimists and jugglers, said to be the best of their class who have ever visited America. The ball juggling between two of the men is said to be exceedingly skillful and ridiculously funny. At the conclusion of their act about every property on the stage is destroyed. Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne, in one of their rural comedy creations; Nat Haines and Will Vidocq, favorite blackface talking comedians; Charlotte Guyer George, a talented contralto vocalist; the Mollasso troupe of whirlwind dancers from Paris; Reed's troupe of trained Boston terriers, and Mr. and Mrs. Thorn, in the ridiculous farce, "An Uptown Flat," are among the entertainers of prominence who will contribute to the program. George Primrose, the former minstrel king, assisted by the famous Foley twins, in singing and dancing specialties, is underlined for the week of Oct. 26.

Newton Hospital.

Resolutions adopted by Trustees Oct. 14 1933.

Our late associate trustee, Edward E. Hardy, clerk of the corporation will meet with us no more; suddenly he has been called away leaving a void which cannot be filled.

True and wise in thought, helpful in purpose, strong and sufficient in effort, he was a never failing support on whom we had learned to rest with unquestioning assurance. With patience, forbearance and calmness, he carried more than his share of the burden of caring for the Hospital's needs. All of us were strengthened by his presence and stimulated by his example.

The Hospital has lost a zealous friend and tireless helper. Deeply we sympathize with those near and dear to him with whom we mourn his loss, and cherish his memory as a priceless and lasting treasure.

Death of Joseph W. Grigg.

Mr. Joseph W. Grigg, a well-known resident of Newtonville, died at his home on Otis street last Saturday after a short illness, aged 71 years. Deceased was in the slate business in Charlestown, was formerly secretary of the Union Masonic Relief association, and was a member of Massachusetts lodge F. and A. M., Newton, Royal Arch Chapter and Gethsemane Commandery. A widow and son survive him. Funeral services were held from the house Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Thomas W. Bishop officiating and the interment was at Forest Hills.

Clubs and Lodges.

In Forester's hall, Newtonville, Thursday evening of last week a large number gathered to witness the exemplification of degree work on 20 candidates from Middlesex Court of Newton and Mt. Auburn Court of Mt. Auburn. The work was performed by the degree staff of Middlesex Court, G. O. P. Addresses were made by H. O. S. Stuart, Deputy O. T. O'Leary and others. The 19th annual social of the Court will be held in Armory hall Oct. 23.

A meeting of Mrs. A. E. Cunningham Tent 2, Daughters of Veterans was held last Tuesday evening in G. A. R. hall, Newtonville. Department President Grace Putnam and Department Inspector Millie Leighton were the official visitors.

A home meeting of Riverdale lodge N. E. O. P. will be held next Monday evening at the residence of Mr. F. W. Jones on Chaske avenue.

The Carpenters' Union will hold a whist party in A. O. U. W. hall, West Newton, this evening.

WHY NOT SPEAK ENGLISH?

The Use of Some Words in the Singular and Plural.

Is there an English word? If so its plural is cherubim, and not the Hebrew word cherubim. Is lexicon an English word, and criterion also? If so their plurals are lexicons and criterions, not the Greek lexes and criteria. Is appendix an English word, and index and vortex? If so the plurals are appendices and indices and vortices, and not the Greek appendices, indices and vortices. Is memorandum an English word, and curriculum, gymnasium, medium and sanatorium? If so their plurals are memorandums and curriculums, gymnasiums, mediums and sanatoriums, and not the Latin memoranda, curricula, gymnasia, media and sanatoria. Is formula an English word and nebula also? If so the plurals are formulas and nebulae and not the Latin formulae and nebulae. Is bean an English word, and bureau? If so the plurals are beans and bureaux, and not the French beaux and bureaux. Is libretto an English word? If so its plurals are librettos, and not the Italian libretti. Why not speak English? Crisis is thoroughly acclimated in the English language, and so is thesis, and yet there are those who prefer crises and theses to the normal and regular crises and theses. Perhaps they are seeking to avoid the unpleasant hissing of the English plural; but none the less they are falling into pedantry.—Blander Matthews in Harper's Magazine.

The Friendly Catfish.

There is a species of fish that never looks at the clothes of the man who throws in the bait, a fish that takes whatever is thrown to it, and when once hold of the hook never tries to shake a friend, but submits to the inevitable, crosses his legs and says "Now I lay me" and comes out on the bank and seems to enjoy being taken. It is a fish that is a friend of the poor, and one that will sacrifice itself in the interest of humanity. That is the fish that the state should adopt as its trademark and cultivate friendly relations with and stand by. We allude to the bullhead. The bullhead never went back on a friend.

To catch the bullhead it is not necessary to tempt his appetite with a portulacae steak or to display an expensive lot of fishing tackle. A pin hook, a piece of liver and a eelworm are all the capital required to catch a bullhead. He lies upon the bottom of a stream or pond in the mud thinking. There is no fish that does more thinking or has a better head for grasping great questions or chunks of liver than the bullhead. The bullhead has a fine India rubber skin that is as far ahead of fiddlestring material for strength and durability as possible.

The Iron Pillar of Delhi.

The famous Iron Pillar of Delhi is dealt with in Cassell's Magazine. The pillar is a solid shaft of wrought iron, sixteen inches in diameter and of a length that is variously reported. The total length is from forty-eight to sixty feet under ground and above, including a capital of three and one-half feet. The pillar contains about eighty cubic feet of metal and weighs about seventeen tons. The metal is, of course, charcoal iron, made directly from ore in small billets; but how it was welded up no one can tell, as no record exists of any early method of dealing with great masses of wrought iron. An inscription roughly cut or punched upon the column states that Rajah Dhara subdued a people in the Sindh, named Vahlilikes, and obtained with his own arm an undivided sovereignty on the earth for a long period. The date of the inscription has been referred to the third or fourth century after Christ, but on this authorities are at variance.

Another Name For It.

"And now," said the inquisitive person who had been asking all sorts of impertinent questions of the raw-boned mountaineer who sat at his cabin door smoking a corn-cob pipe—"now I will explain to you why I have been so inquisitive. I am a sociological investigator and I am doing this in the interest of science and humanity."

"How things do change!" remarked the mountaineer as he leisurely stretched himself. "When I was a boy we called you kind of people dem snop nosed meddlers."—Baltimore American.

An Ardent Reader.

"Well," said the sheriff, with an air of satisfaction, "noospapers don't make no great sight out o' me, now I tell ye, for it's seldom ever I set down to look at one on 'em. I got a book up home there I take an' read out on, ef I ain't got nothin' better to do. His Rash Act.

"I suppose," said the man with the searching eye, "that drink was your downfall?"

"It was," answered Meandering Mike. "I took a drink o' water dat had microbes in it, an' dat's what damaged me health so I can't work."—Washington Star.

The Popular Tune.

"What is your idea of a popular tune?"

"A popular tune," said the man who takes music seriously, "is one that gets to be universally disliked."—Exchange.

Delhi, the Gem Market.

Delhi remains the center of all Indian art industries. The most skillful jewelers and gem cutters, painters, carvers, embroiderers and craftsmen whose creations could tempt the purse or minister to the luxury of the greater and lesser Moguls have gathered there for centuries, and trade habits are but slowly broken. Along Chandni Chalk, plump merchants in snow white clothes and their jewelers' turbans invite one to their whitewashed, felt paved inner rooms, and there, treading catlike in stocking feet, they unroll gold and silver embroideries, Kashmir shawls and "camel's hair" stuffs and cover the last inches of floor space with jewels.

Necklaces, eardrops and a queen's ornaments are drawn from battered boxes, scraps of paper, cotton cloth or old flannel. Nothing seems quite as incongruous in this land of the mist and the incense as the way in which the jewels of a rajah are produced from old biscuit tins, pickle bottles and marmalade jars. One buys the gems of a temple goddess, and they are laid in grubby cotton wool and packed in rusty little tin boxes of a crudely inconceivable—From Eliza Rubamah Seidmore's "Winter India."

Resolutions.

At a meeting of the Newton Cemetery Corporation held at their office on the 12th inst. the following expression of remembrance and esteem was placed on record by a unanimous vote, and the clerk instructed to forward a copy to the respected families.

Since the last meeting of the Board, two of its members have passed away and in accordance with our usual custom it seems proper to place on our records an expression of our remembrance and esteem.

Otis Pettie had been a member of the Board for thirty-nine years. He was also for twenty-three years the treasurer of the corporation. Mr. Pettie was faithful to the duties of his trust, and a constant attendant at the meetings of the Board, always taking a keen interest in the proceedings and showing as a citizen an honest pride in the improvement of the cemetery. He had many amiable qualities and always gave a cheerful greeting to his associates. His long services and his kindly nature entitle him to the respect and esteem of all who knew him.

Austin R. Mitchell had been a member of the Board fifteen years. He was a constant attendant at the meetings, except in the last years when he was sometimes kept away by the state of his health. He was deeply interested in the improvement of the cemetery and his good judgment in regard to investments enabled him to give valuable service as a member of the finance committee. He was quiet and unassuming and a genial associate and is entitled to our respect and esteem.

FORKS AND FASHION.

A Young Girl's Embarrassment and a Token of Appreciation.

She had lived all her life in a country village, a daughter of the poorest of poor country doctors, and when the great surgeon who once had befriended her father visited him in his illness the pretty daughter was invited to a dinner and reception at his house.

Aglow with excitement, the girl picked her "Sunday dress" and took the train for New York.

When the guests were all seated at dinner she hesitated at the shining array of silver beside her plate, then picked up her meat fork and began to eat her oysters. Glancing under her eyelids at the guest nearest her, she blushed crimson as she realized her mistake.

Her hostess, perceiving her embarrassment, quickly drew attention to herself by telling a story, which was drawn out to the length of the course. At the end of the story, in illustrating a point, she held up a fork, saying: "And the stem of this wonderful flower was no longer than this fish fork."

The social novice was further relieved at the meat course when a fork was quietly dropped on the table by the same hand that placed the plate before her.

When the evening's entertainment was over, as she approached her hostess, the young girl, unobserved by any one else, took from her corsage a beautiful rose, which she laid in the white hand extended to say "Good night."—New York Press.

Eyes That Change Color.

Although the eyes of children may deepen or alter in color with their growth, the change of hue in the iris is principally due to the development of disease. The most marked changes are produced by an inflammatory disease known as acute iritis. The iris of the eyes of the sufferer from this disease entirely changes color, principally owing to the loss of distinctness in its fibers, with a consequent clouded appearance. The pupil is contracted, and small brownish white specks appear in it, produced by the breaking away of adhesions of the iris to the capsule of the lens.

The varieties of color in the eyes of different individuals and of different kinds of animals mainly depend upon the color of the pigment which is deposited in cells in the substance of the iris, and the eye can, therefore, only be said to change color when there is a change in the color of the iris. The color of the sclerotic coat, or white of the eye, is frequently affected by disease or accidents, of which the well known bloodshot appearance is most common.

"Original" and Actual Sin.

A wealthy Australian Scotsman named Allan died some years ago and bequeathed a considerable sum of money to provide perpetual prizes to the Presbyterian children of the commonwealth for proficiency in Scriptural knowledge. A report of the Allan bequest committee, presented to the Presbyterian general assembly in Melbourne, contained some entertaining reading. "What is the difference between original sin and actual sin?" elicited these answers among others: "Original sin is Adam eating forbidden fruit; actual sin is Cain killing Abel." "One is good sin; the other is bad sin." "Original sin is sin without murder, but actual sin is sin; meaning swearing." "Original sin is the things we ought not to do." "Actual sin means a work of obedience; but original sin is a work of Providence."

Treatment of Bunions.

Bunions are serious and hard to treat. About the only thing to do is to wear seamless stockings and shoes with kid or fine calf uppers. Avoid heating the feet and change the shoes frequently. Any sweet oil will heal the soreness of a joint, and sometimes anointing it with iodine will bring relief. When a bunion gets troublesome the best plan is to buy a stick of sulphate of copper, pare away the dead skin and cauterize the spot. The operation is a trifle painful, but it is only momentary, while the sense of relief that is sure to follow is like the "peace that passeth understanding."

"The High Seas."

By "the high seas" referred to in article 1 of the constitution of the United States is meant the open sea—that is, the waters outside the civil jurisdiction of any country whatever, which, according to the law of nations, is limited to one marine league, or three geographical miles, from the shore. Even the great lakes, beyond the limit designated above, are regarded as "high seas."

The Usual Delay.

Restaurant Proprietor (to guest)—It's too bad you have had to wait so long. Our men have just gone on a strike. How long since you gave your order? Guest—About half an hour. I didn't know there was a strike. I thought it was merely the usual delay.—Chicago Tribune.

Airing His French.

"Gracious! What in the world is that man ordering such a lot of dishes for? Will he be able to eat them?" "Oh, no. He merely likes to show that he can pronounce all those French names."—San Francisco Bulletin.

The Unblushing Rascal.

"Sniffing says that when he gets married he wants not only a pretty girl, but a good one." "The bignamist!"—Town Topics.

BABIES IN SIAM.

They All Receive the Same Name, "Bang," at Birth.

All babies in Siam receive the same name at birth, says Ernest Young, the author of "The Kingdom of the Yellow Robe." This name is Bang, which means red, and it is the only designation vouchsafed the newcomer for some months. For several years they wear no clothing, though perhaps a string of beads or bracelets or anklets as ornament. At a child's birth a cord that has been blessed by the priests is tied around the outside of the house, and three balls of rice are thrown in "lucky directions" by three old women, who are always present at such a time and whose business it is to solicit for the little one the patronage and protection of sundry guardian angels. The cord and the scattering about the premises of a certain kind of native fruit are supposed to be efficacious in preventing the entrance of evil spirits. As a matter of fact, what with the heat of the climate and the "cleansing fires" kindled in portable earthenware stoves and the presence of many people in the small, low ceilinged rooms, the atmosphere is so stiflingly hot and uncomfortable that it is doubtful whether even evil wanderers from below would care to stop there long.

Nature and Plants.

Dr. Andrew Wilson writes: "If we assumed that flowers were merely evolved to gratify human senses we should be entertaining a woefully limited view of nature. The botanist will tell you that everything about a flower is meant to favor one end. That end is the production of seeds and the propagation of the species. The colors of flowers—may, even the little splashes of a hue or tint seen on a petal—are intended to attract insects that they may carry off the fertilizing dust, or pollen, to other flowers of the same or near species and thus insure a sturdier race as the result of cross fertilization. It is to this end also that your flowers are many of them sweet scented. The perfume is another kind of invitation to the insect world. The honey they secrete forms a third attraction—the most practical of all, perhaps. Then the arrangement of the flowers on the stalk, the times of opening and shutting of the flowers and the position of the stamens and pistils are all so many features whereby nature is giving each plant a help on the way."

Praise Sentences.

The winner of a prize of a guinea offered by the London academy to the person who should select the three most pregnant and felicitous sentences from any authors, chose the following three quotations. The first was from Ruskin:

"Fancy plays like a squirrel in its circular prison and is happy; but imagination is a pilgrim on the earth—and her home is in heaven." The second sentence was taken from the works of Mazzini: "Discontentment is but disenchanted egotism." The third was the following from Robert Louis Stevenson: "The true wisdom is to be always reasonable, and to change with a good grace in changing circumstances. To love playthings well as a child, to lead an adventurous and honorable youth and to settle when the time arrives into a green and smiling age is to be a good artist in life and to deserve well of yourself and your neighbor."

Harder Work.

When the clever writer and caricaturist, Max Beerbohm, succeeded George Bernard Shaw as dramatic critic of the London Saturday Review, he was told by the manager that Shaw was getting such and such play. "Of course, being comparatively inexperienced," the manager added, "you can scarcely expect so much."

"Oh, yes, I shall," rejoined Mr. Beerbohm decisively. "Indeed, I shall expect more. You see," he explained, "as Shaw knows the drama thoroughly it was perfectly easy for him to write about it. Whereas I know nothing about it, and it will be shockingly hard work."

A Cross in the Heavens.

On Oct. 28, A. D. 312, Constantine the Great is said to have "heard a great and mighty noise above and to the east of him" and upon turning his eyes in that direction "was astonished beyond measure at what he there beheld." Clearly outlined upon the blue sky was a cross of pure white, and in the halo which surrounded the top was the Latin phrase, "In hoc signo" ("By this sign"), in letters of deep scarlet. Mackey, the great historian, says that there was a second inscription in Greek, the letters of which in English would be "En to nikai."

A Very Smoky Reason.

"Yes, I know it's an expensive and useless habit," said the old smoker, lighting a fresh cigar with the stump of the old one, "but you can't think what a solace it is."

"A solace for what?" asked the other man.

"Why, for the—or—discomfort and craving you feel when you're not smoking, you know."—Chicago Tribune.

His Choice.

Agent—Yes, sir; I will guarantee that this is the most concentrated food you ever ate.

Consumer—But I don't want that kind. I want the kind that spreads all over my system.—Life.

Much Depends.

Joey—Yes, Pietro; in whilst playing a good deal depends on your luck.

Pietro—Quite so. And your luck depends on a good deal, hey?—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Reduced Prices on Slightly Used Ivers & Pond Pianos

We have a few desirable pianos of our own make that have had slight use in one way or another. We frequently loan new pianos for use at recitals or rent them to careful people; and sometimes have pianos returned from our dealers' warerooms. In many cases such slight use as the pianos have had is really an advantage, as the action and strings get thoroughly settled, and will wear and stand in tune better for it. Some of these can hardly be told from new. Easy payments; a list of our bargains in used pianos might interest you. Send for it.

The estimates of receipts, $285,175 and expenditures, $1,175,806.39 for 1904 submitted by the Mayor was referred to the Committee on Finance.

A report of the Street Commissioner relative to the completion of Green street and Windsor road was first referred to the Finance Committee and later referred to the Committee on Public Works.

The claim of W. S. Carr for damages on account of grade of Windsor road was referred to the Committee on Claims.

A communication from Fannie W. Fogg relative to sewer near Woodward street, and of Henry E. Cobb et al for a footbridge over the railroad near Jackson road was referred to the Committee on Public Works, a hearing being ordered on the footbridge matter.

Petitions of James E. Wallace for carriage license, of J. F. Schworer for a carriage license and of Wiley S. Edmunds for an auctioneer license were granted.

Petitions of the Telephone Company for pole locations on Walnut street, on Central street, and on Madison avenue; of the Gas Company for pole location on Park street, and for attachments on Centre street; of the American Mica Company for attachments on Washington street were referred to the Committee on Public Franchises, hearings being ordered thereon for Oct. 29 at 7.45 and 8 o'clock P. M.

COMMITTEE REPORTS.

These reports were received: DEPARTMENTS. Recommending increase in number of assistant assessors.

FINANCE. Recommending grant of $83,355.63 for city expenses until Nov. 15, recommending various additional appropriations amounting to $10,476, approving sewer construction in various streets and approving $1500 for construction on Broadway.

PUBLIC FRANCHISES, etc. Recommending granting Telephone Company attachments on Cypress street and Glenwood avenue, and recommending that Gas Company receive a pole location on Deerfield road and orders for these grants were subsequently adopted.

PUBLIC WORKS. Recommending $1500 for construction of Broadway, recommending widening of Centre street, Ward 6, recommending laying concrete sidewalk on Lowell avenue under betterment act; majority and minority reports relative to purchase of additional land for Wade school, majority and minority reports as to demolition of old Mason school house and recommending sewers in Hale street, Cherry place, River avenue and Elliot place.

RULES, etc. Submitting draft of amendment to inspection of wire ordinance.

These committee reports were adopted: FINANCE. Recommending commitment of matter of water mains between Institution avenue and Cypress street. Alderman Lothrop explained that the Finance Committee believed the Theological Institution should pay something for this work. The report of the Committee on Public Works on the same matter was also recommended.

PUBLIC FRANCHISES, etc. Recommending leave to withdraw on petition of Telephone Company for poles on Church street, recommending leave to withdraw on license petitions of Carmine Colalucia, street musician, Toni Bontempo, street musician, Angelantonio Viscio, street musician, Luigi Trandimozzi, street musician, Hyman Milman, junk, Arthur Pouliot, wagon, John Riley, wagon and Donald Stewart, common victualler, and favorable to Minnie Patterson's petition for an intelligence office license.

PUBLIC WORKS. Recommending reference to select commission on public records of letter from Public Records Commissioner Swan relative to safety of city records, inexpedient on communications for more office room at City Hall, inexpedient on sewer construction in Evergreen and Oakland avenues, and inexpedient on removal or demolition of old Ash street school building.

ORDERS.

These orders were adopted: Instructing Ordinance Committee to report ordinance increasing number of assistant assessors to 15; granting $83,355.63 for city expenses; appropriating $200 for Military Aid, $1000 for Care of Sick Poor, $1400 for Fuel for Schools, $3876 for Interest on Temporary Loans, $4000 for Water Maintenance, $1500 for Construction of Broadway, assigning hearings Nov. 2, on taking land for sewers in Elliot place and in River avenue, and for laying concrete sidewalk on Lowell avenue under betterment act; taking lands in Cherry place and in Hale street for sewers, authorizing sewer construction in Cherry place, Ellis street and Hale street.

MASON SCHOOL.

Alderman Saltonstall offered an order directing the removal or demolition of the old Mason school, and said that the building was condemned for its unsanitary conditions and it should not be kept there for its future use. There would be a continual expense for maintenance, but the principal reason for taking down was on account of its appearance. Its presence ruins the appearance of the square at Newton Centre and destroys the view of the new building when approaching from Boston. While there is no legal condition now in force it was the original understanding that only one building was to be erected on this piece of land.

Some discussion followed as to cost of taking down, the statements varying from nothing to $1000 for taking down and $600 for grading afterwards.

Alderman Bowen read a letter from Miss Harriet Cousins whose father sold the town the land for the school in which it was stated that Mr. Cousins had stipulated that the school should have a pleasing aspect from the east. He also read a letter from John Ward who gave a history of the erection of the previous building. Alderman Bowen then said that $1100 had been raised at that time by Newton Centre and the citizens had a moral if not a legal right to be considered.

The alderman did not believe the Mason and Ash street schools should be connected together, but that each should stand on its individual merits.

Alderman Webster opposed the pulling down of the building, and Alderman Barber said it would cost the city nothing to leave it there for a year or two, and he did not believe the city should pay anything for removing so good a building.

Alderman Ellis did not favor demolition, saying that if pulled down it could not be restored and he saw no haste in the matter. He believed the two schoolhouses should be considered together as the tearing down of one would establish a precedent.

Alderman Baker said that the sentiment of both wards was in favor of demolition, but he believed such action would be a great loss to the city.

Alderman Lothrop favored taking down the Mason building, but would not vote to do so at the meeting.

The order was then defeated, but later reconsideration prevailed and it was again refused passage. Alderman Bowen, Brown, Chesley, Hubbard, Johnson, Norris, Saltonstall and Sweeney (8) voting aye, Aldermen Baker, Barber, F. A. Day, Ellis, Ensign, Hunt, Lothrop, Mellen, Webster and Weed (10) voting nay.

WADE SCHOOL.

Alderman Chesley then introduced an order for $5500 for purchase of the Mills estate adjoining the Wade school. He said that $80,000 was to be spent for the new building and the entire Upper Falls wanted it to face on High street.

Alderman Hunt called attention to the fact that as now planned every building would receive sunlight and that changing it round will seriously affect the light.

Alderman Barber said the indefiniteness as to the increased expense of the change was the stumbling block. There was not only the cost of the land but the building would cost more, the grading would be more expensive and the architects would probably be relieved from their present agreement as to cost of the building.

Alderman Lothrop thought it dangerous to attempt to change the plans, as such matters had been expensive in the past.

Alderman Saltonstall spoke in a similar vein, and Alderman Chesley suggested that the plans might be figured for both sites.

Alderman Baker believed that the cost should be determined before the land was purchased.

The order was then defeated, Alderman Chesley casting the only favorable vote.

The ordinance to amend the inspection of wire ordinance was then enrolled after President Weed had explained that the changes were to comply with new legislation, eliminate extracts from statutory law and to abolish hearings on petitions for attachments.

The junk license of Max Canter was withdrawn from Gardner to Chandler street on motion of Alderman Webster.

President Weed gave notice of the coming meeting of the Civic Club on the 26th inst. and at 9.25 p. m. the board adjourned.

Despite the discouraging weakness in the stock market, there have been several developments which will help the Wall street situation materially. The most important of these is the assurance of bountiful crops this year. It has turned out that the corn crop was not injured by the frosts at all. Instead of being 2,000,000,000 bushels or less, the crop will be over 2,300,000,000, exceeding all expectations. This will be the largest crop, with one exception, in the history of the country.

Another encouraging development is the beginning of investment buying of bonds on a large scale. This buying of first-class securities by large corporations, trustees of institutions and other investors, always marks the beginning of a sustained upward movement. The buying spreads itself into first-class stocks, and later into the general market. The investment buying means, however, that good stocks are about on bottom, and that the next important swing in the market will be upward. —Curtis & Sederquist.

The Entertainment Club.

Hallowe'en Party, Oct. 31, Will Mark Opening of Promising Season.

An old-fashioned Hallowe'en party is to be given Saturday evening, Oct. 31, in the parlors of Channing church, Newton, by the Entertainment Club as the opening of its '03-'04 season. The club has planned many interesting features, which are intended to further the organization's popularity and prosperity. These are to be presented during the year.

The program of entertainment to be given, so far as at present arranged, is to include:—A repetition of some play given here years ago and by the original cast so far as possible; a play to be cast entirely from among the children; a St. Valentine party and dance at the Hunnewell club-house; and at least two dramatic entertainments by those interested at the present time.

For the Hallowe'en party a short play has been prepared. It is called "The Dream of Dorothy," and was written by Freeman F. Tilden of Malden and Leverett D. G. Bentley of Newton. The following are to take part:

Doctor Christopher of reality, Mr. Ernest Walker Wright Mrs. Judd his housekeeper, Miss Helen A. Mead Dorothy, Mrs. Robert E. Mandell Doctor Christopher of the dream, Mr. Leverett D. G. Bentley

VACATION SCHOOL.

The vacation school at Nonantum closed its seventeenth year on Tuesday, the eighteenth of August, with an exhibition of sewing, carpentry work, cooking, basketry, clay modelling and straw plaiting. The exhibition was so creditable both to pupils and to teachers, that it is to be regretted that so few beyond those immediately interested in the success of the school saw the result of its efforts. In no one year of the seventeen, in which the school has been carried on, has it so vindicated its right to existence. The attendance has been regular, the work has been accurate and the interest has been most eager.

The Nonantum school—one of the first if not the first to be established in this commonwealth—was founded in 1887, by the Social Science Club, with the conviction that children needed to be trained the year through, especially in those sections of a town where parents are unable to provide change and recreation for their children during the long summer holiday. Each summer since then has seen the school in operation, with classes for girls and for boys and a kindergarten for the little ones in the charge of paid teachers. The work has been under the supervision of a committee of the Social Science Club and has entailed up to the present time an expense of nearly $7000. This sum has been provided almost entirely by the members of the club, in the but few appeals to interested friends, and none at all to the general public. The object has been, not merely to keep the children of the district where the school is located from the streets, but to give them the manual training which thus far our public schools supply only in very scant measure.

To those of our children who are fitting for professional or mercantile careers, our city provides most generously, but for those whose education closes with the grammar school, and who must begin at an early age to earn their own living, the preliminary training which should fit them to enter upon the career of skilled hand workers, is wholly lacking. It is to supply this want that vacation schools are now being established all over the country, and it is to be hoped by those whose wisdom and judgment none can deny, for example, by President Eliot, Professor Zuehlke, John Graham Brooks, Edwin D. Mead, the late Mrs. Alice Freeman Palmer and many others.

No one who has ever had to do with the establishment of vacation schools, can have failed to be impressed with the estimation of the value, given by the parents of the pupils and often substantiated by the later attainments of the children themselves.

In most cities and towns where vacation schools are established, they are begun by private enterprise and gradually come under the control of the city authorities. The arguments for the public control of vacation schools have already been briefly suggested.

Our whole school system recognizes the principle that the government is responsible for the education of its citizens; and manual training, which implies the cultivation of observation, accuracy and dexterity, is no less than laboratory work in science teaching—an essential part of the education of children.

2. The complete interruption of school training by the long vacation, though necessary from many points of view, is none the less injurious, especially to children for whom change, vacation study and healthful recreation cannot be provided by their parents.

In the educative value of vacation schools consists their main claim to public support. They are not trade schools though they may unquestionably shorten a workman's apprenticeship, or render it more intelligent. Neither are they boys' clubs, though there is no doubt that like boys' clubs they provide a safe retreat from the streets and thus tend to prevent juvenile offences. In the main, however, they are to be regarded as an essential part in the education of intelligent, industrious citizens. As such they have an undoubted claim on the municipal support which is necessary to their greatest efficiency. It is hoped that here in Newton—as in Allston, Brookline, Woburn and many other places—the care of the vacation schools will be recognized as the duty of the city.

IN DESPERATE CASE.

MANHOOD SUFFRAGE HAS BEEN TRIED AND FOUND WANTING.

Growing Political Corruption Demonstrates the Need of Women's Votes—Despotism or an Enlarged Electorate the Alternative.

The growing political corruption which debauches our state and municipal elections is becoming an evil so glaring that some radical remedy will have to be applied. Either the electorate will have to be limited and controlled or enlarged by the admission of women.

The first method was adopted in Washington by congress soon after the war. The voting constituency of the District of Columbia, largely composed of recently emancipated slaves, became so notoriously and shamelessly corrupt that self government was abruptly abolished, and the District was put under the control of three commissioners appointed by the federal authorities. Residents of Washington have been for a generation absolutely without political power and live under a paternal government which taxes and governs without the slightest regard for the public will.

Similar political evils have driven many of the southern states to eliminate the negro vote, in so doing setting aside constitutional guarantees and practically nullifying the express conditions of reconstruction, so that the colored race in state after state is practically excluded from representation.

Judging from these salient facts, there is great danger that wherever large bodies of legal voters prove themselves incompetent and corrupt we shall have a reversion to despotism by an indignant and outraged community.

Certainly indications are ominous. Mrs. Catt has been informed that 10,000 New Hampshire voters sell their votes. The same is true in Rhode Island. George Kennan has unearthed a general corruption of voters by Adicks in the state of Delaware. The rule of Tammany in New York is a conspiracy of vice and crime. Republican Philadelphia is equally rotten. St. Louis has been controlled for years by a band of robbers. The Boston city government is ruled by fraud and jobbery, so that nearly one-half of the taxes are wasted and misapplied. It is not a question of party. It goes deeper—the voting constituency has proved itself incapable of honest and intelligent self government.

What are we going to do about it? Shall we abandon our glorious principles of liberty, fraternity and equality? Shall we repudiate the sublime affirmation that "governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed?" Shall we tamely submit to the rule of the aristocracy by force or fraud through the instrumentality of a venal legislature?

There is only one alternative. We must go forward and make suffrage really universal. One-half of our citizens are without votes. Experience has shown that a limited suffrage is more easily corrupted. Sir Robert Walpole governed England with limited suffrage upon the avowed maxim that "every man has his price." We must have a voting constituency too numerous to be bribed and too independent to be bullied and coerced. We must admit that great body of citizens who are anchored in their homes, who constitute two-thirds of our hard workers and only one-tenth of our criminals. Do this, or Democracy will be a failure. HENRY B. BLACKWELL.

SUCCESSFULLY TRIED.

Giving Women the Ballot is a Benefit to a State.

Woman suffrage has had a most beneficial effect upon the home and upon women in general. We are losing the old narrow, selfish love for our own and our own only. The testimony of a neighbor of mine in regard to the good the work during election had done his wife was: "Why, my wife is a changed woman since she voted. She is always happy and cheerful as the result of the work she is doing, and we talk over the situation and the influence of her work upon the results, and together we forget the grind of everyday life. She is happy through her intercourse with other women, and I in her happiness." Yes, we have gained a blessed fellowship—common interest with our husbands, sons and brothers as well as with one another.

We have gained much in the ability to discuss subjects in an impersonal manner and without bitterness. Many a home has changed entirely in its atmosphere through the mutual interests inspired in husband and wife through politics.

We are gaining an insight into business affairs, we are losing the old helplessness which made us a prey to scheming people. Indeed the home is happier and the children have a better mother for the change brought about by the interests the mother has in something above drudgery. Instead of the pale, silent mother of the lunch or dinner table comes the vigorous, cheerful woman full of the day's work and new experiences.—Mrs. Hugh France, Wardner, Ida.

"Emminently Fitting." Mayor Hayes of Baltimore has appointed twelve trust officers, of whom eight are women. The salaries are $750 each. The law requires these officers to be "persons" of certain qualifications, and the mayor consulted City Solicitor Whyte as to whether women were eligible. Mr. Whyte said that in all legislation a masculine term was held to include the feminine except where it would be absurd or unreasonable, and in this case the inclusion of women was neither absurd nor unreasonable, but "eminently fitting."

FIRST GUN.

Political Banquet at Newton Club.

Strong Republican Doctrine Outlined by Noted Congressmen.

The first gun in the political campaign in Newton was fired by the Republican Club of Ward Seven at the Newton Club last Friday night at its annual banquet.

Nearly 150 good republicans were present and gave enthusiastic greeting to the well-known speakers who honored the Club with their presence.

Prior to the dinner an informal reception was held in the Club library and at 7 o'clock the march was taken for the assembly hall. The tables were decorated with small American flags, and an orchestra furnished popular music.

The menu was in the shape of legislative calender and its clever hits were much appreciated.

Mr. Nathan Heard, the president of the Club was the toastmaster and gracefully introduced the guests of the evening. Congressman Charles E. Littlefield of Maine, Congressman David J. Foster of Vermont and our own Congressman, Samuel L. Powers.

Congressman Littlefield, the first speaker, gave a most convincing address taking as his subject the relations of the tariff to the trust problem and proved conclusively that the trust flourishes without tariff protection, and that the tariff has absolutely no connection with the formation of trusts. His speech made an excellent impression.

Congressman Foster was in fine fettle and kept the assemblage in a constant roar of laughter with his jokes and sallies, and his more serious talk on the policy of the government in the Philippines was well received.

Congressman Powers was right among friends as usual and was made to realize that fact by numerous cheers, tigers and hearty applause. He spoke on the matter of disparity of wealth as outlined by Bourke Cockran, and closed with a strong argument to support Gov. Bates and the entire state ticket in the coming election.

Among those present were noticed: Major Thomas Talbot and J. B. Reynolds, Chairman and Secretary of the Republican State Committee, Hon. Geo. E. Smith, ex-president of the Senate, Senator Edward L. For Senator,

WILLIAM F. DANA;

PARTRIDGE-COLBY.

Mr. Albert Safford Partridge, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Partridge of Newton, was married last Wednesday evening at Portland, Me., to Miss Helen Preston Colby, the daughter of Mrs. Franklin H. Colby of that city. The ceremony took place at 8.30 o'clock at St. Luke's Cathedral, the very Rev. Dean Vernon officiating.

The bride, who was gowned in white panne crepe de chine, with yoke and applique of duchess lace, and carrying a shower bouquet of bride's roses, was attended by her sister, Miss Frances Louise Colby, the maid of honor, who was dressed in white satin, and carried a white green, and carrying a bouquet of violets.

The bridesmaids, Miss Clare Breittling of Randolph, Mass., Miss Elizabeth W. Varnum and Miss Ola A. Cole of Portland, and Miss Helen E. Partridge of Newton wore white silk muslin over violet, with violet sash and carried bouquets of Maiden hair ferns and violets.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Warren Partridge of Orange, N. J., as best man, and Messrs. George Westcott Beyer of Portland, Hiram Dexter of Brookline, and Robert Kerr Dickerman and William Lewis O'Brien of Boston were the ushers.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother.

The fair sex was out in full force, early in the week, for the millinery opening of Jane Robinson, 194 Boylston street, Room 3. It was a truly charming display of hats, and not the least attractive feature was the head of the establishment, gracefully clad in a trailing gown of black velvet, with rich collar of white lace, and her fair hair worn high. She was the most effective of models, and each hat which she donned seemed prettier than the predecessor.

There were exquisite all black designs, toques, bouquets, severe hats, and the piquant high-crowned picture shapes with plumes and wide ties which cross in the back. Some were of velvet, some of lace and a wide variety of intermediate materials. All white chapeaux were shown in alluring numbers, those of white lace being especially chic, particularly when combined with a bit of fur, or the beautiful flowers now in fashion. Colored hats were shown in the favorite baby blue, which is to be a prime favorite the coming season in the new dahlia reds, browns, blues and heliotropes and were suited to all occasions. The rolling sailor hats were among the prettiest offered and were both severely or simply trimmed as occasion demanded. Birds and wings figured on many of the hats, as did quillings and platings of soft, shaded ribbon, and much handwork. It was noticeable that the designs were not all intended for the young and beautiful, and there were many for the middle-aged and others for children, all handsome and desirable.

The toques, bonnets and turbans were greatly admired, and met a liberal patronage. There are still many from which to select, and new models are daily added. Imported models are shown and will be copied at moderate prices. Patrons are certain of being intelligently and wisely served at Jane Robinson's, and of obtaining what is exclusive and becoming.

AN APPEAL.

The financial year of the Pomroy Home ends on November 8, and during the next three weeks our volunteer collectors will call on the members of our religious societies for their annual contribution. Owing to high prices for coal and provisions during the past year and some extra repairs more money than usual is required to maintain this charity and it is to be hoped that the good people of Newton will respond as they ever have done.

This Home undertakes the care of twenty homeless girls from five to fifteen years of age, those living in Newton having always the preference in filling vacancies; it takes these children, sometimes literally, from the gutter, gives them a Christian home, sends them to a public school and provides suitable places for them when old enough to earn their living. The amount of good thus done cannot be expressed in figures, but even from a selfish standpoint it is undoubtedly a fine investment for a community.

The directors feel that this year a special effort must be made as the Home in the loss of Nathaniel T. Allen, its president for many years, receives a severe blow, coming soon after the death of Miss Mary Shannon, its most liberal benefactress.

They feel that such losses must be made up by enlisting new friends and obtaining more liberal contributions, so that instead of turning homeless girls adrift to reduce expenses, they should increase the work and the usefulness of the Home and make it an enduring monument to its founders who have passed away.

A very wrong impression has obtained that our institution is heavily encumbered; this is not the case and it is not best that it should be, for then our people would lose all interest in this charity to their own spiritual detriment. As a matter of fact the low interest on safe investments will not pay one third of the annual expense of maintenance and we ought to collect at once $2000 to meet present wants and avoid the suicidal policy of drawing on the principal of our investments.

Contributions may be handed to our collectors or to anyone of our directors or may be mailed direct to the undersigned.

Arthur C. Walworth, Treasurer.

Mrs. Emily Grant Wilkinson, organist at Tremont Temple, and recently of Berlin, Germany, will receive pupils on the piano and organ at her residence, 35 Jewett street, Newton.

WOMEN'S PROGRESS.

Pioneers Needed to Advance the Cause of Equal Suffrage.

Every theory against woman suffrage has been completely demolished in the light of practical experience until about all that is left for the opposition is the one which is being used for all it is worth, "Women do not want the ballot," "Whenever a majority of women ask for it, they will get it." Many opponents frankly admit that this is the only argument worth considering, but still claim that it is sufficient reason for withholding the ballot until such time as a majority of the women ask for it.

To the unthinking this may seem very reasonable, but when one considers the history of all past progress, together with present facts, this excuse, for it is nothing but an excuse, for deferring justice seems milder indeed. A majority of women have never demanded a single privilege that has been granted them in the past, nor was one of them ever asked for by even a small majority.

The long discussion over woman's rights has by no means been confined to the franchise, but has included the right of women to speak in public, to organize, to receive higher education, to enter the professions and industrial occupations, to control their wages and to hold property, all of which have passed exactly the same gantlet of objection and been belabored with precisely the same clubs that have been used to prevent women receiving the right to the ballot.

The effort for the right to speak in public and to organize was made by less than a hundred women. It was with the utmost difficulty that a few thousand women in the state of New York could be persuaded to sign a petition for the right of women to own property after marriage, and there was practically no petition for it from the women of other states. Most of them expressed themselves satisfied with the laws as they were. If the universities of the country and the founders of the great women's colleges had waited until a majority of women asked for them, not one woman in the United States today would be receiving the higher education.

The majority of women have never asked for anything, and they never will do so. In each case a few far in advance of the masses made a determined and persistent effort and secured these privileges for their sex, which when secured the great body of women availed themselves of without a thought as to their benefactors.

ELNORA MONROE BABCOCK.

MODERN CHIVALRY.

Present Day Men Fight Against Women. Not For Them.

By what commission, I would ask, does man hold his commission to keep in thrall the other half of humanity? Not, mark you, a wild or savage moiety as yet unfitted by moral or intellectual evolution to breathe the larger air of political freedom, but a half that is his inseparable companion, the partner of his daily bread, the sharer of his life in all its phases—nay, much more its very source and destiny—the mothers, wives and daughters of his race. Look up and down the perspective of the ages, and the eye of reason shall rest upon a single cause. In the beginning man was bigger of bone and burler in muscle than his mate, and use and wont have consecrated the brutish inequality into law. It is the chief glory of advancing civilization, however, to substitute the rule of right for the tyranny of might, to raise up the weak and to give to the minority a just protection. So now the old brute force is disguised under a new veneer of courtesy. We hear much of keeping woman in her exalted station, of preserving her unspotted from the mire of politics. Chivalry is the shibboleth.

Far be it from me to disparage by one word "that unthought grace of life," "that chastity of honor which felt a stain like a wound" and which now breathes alone the swift current of an all engulfing commercialism. But who can afford a sneer at a chivalry that laughs at the object of its devotion behind her back, keeps her standing when she should sit, swindles her in the markets, lives in idleness on her earnings, takes from her her good name and her children in the courts and then, keeping her on a plane with its idols and its felons, refuses her the common means of self defense? Frankly I have no faith in this plea of chivalry. If they who advance it were sincere in their protestations, how could they consent that all which is loveliest and best in character and morals should be excluded from direct influence on the public life? No; men deceive themselves. Behind this pretense a deep rooted conceit of their own intellectual superiority has supplanted the old masculine pride in the physical.

—Dr. Henry D. Bruns.

Louisiana in the Van of Progress.
The New Orleans board of trade has not only passed a cordial vote approving of the invitation to the national suffrage convention to meet in that city next March, but has also voted to endorse the extension of limited suffrage to women. Louisiana already gives taxpaying women the right to vote upon all questions submitted to the taxpayers. In this respect she is in advance of any New England state.

Where is Woman's Place?
When the question of equal suffrage is raised, there is always a creature present to remind one that the woman's place is in the home, but when the question of women in factories is brought up there is a great gust of silence from that same direction. How sollicitous some are not to allow the possibility of contamination on election day, but are willing for women to battle with all the horrors!

The mayor's estimate for the city expenses for next year are nearly $40,000 more than those of 1903.
The largest increases are in the school appropriation and for sinking fund and interest accounts. It is difficult to see how these important matters can be cut down. The school increase is for more teachers and for the increased cost of maintaining our modern school buildings. The tendency of the school committee to reduce the number of pupils to a room, while undoubtedly improving the educational facilities, increases the number of teachers required, and adds largely to the cost of the schools.
This tendency should be restricted as much as possible as the cost of Newton schools is certainly very great.

The financial charges are fixed and must be met. We have heretofore commented on the policy of the city in charging into the annual tax levy the large sums expended each year for drain construction, and we note that the Mayor approves of the sum of $27,500 for this item. Of this about $15,000 is intended for new work. Drainage construction is the same as sewer construction, one system caring for storm water, the other for sewage matter. Sewers are paid for by bonds running for 30 years, on the theory that posterity which will enjoy the use of such sewers should also pay part of the expense of the same. The same argument is true of drainage construction, but the city has persistently made fresh of one and fowl of the other.
This item eliminated from the tax levy would make a difference of 25 cents in the tax rate for next year and in our opinion, the city should immediately adopt the policy of ponding its drainage expenditures.

The Republicans of this city ought to realize that every vote will be needed in the approaching state election, not only to elect Governor Bates and the remainder of the state ticket, but to sound the trumpet for the presidential election of next year.
Great efforts are being made by the Democracy to elect Gaston, and they confidently count on General Apathy to command the Republican forces.
This is the only real danger to Republican success. In our own city and senatorial district it is of the utmost importance that the Republican candidates should be elected.
Newton pays about one fifth of the state expenses and only our best men should be sent to the House and Senate.

The first gun fired in the political campaign in Newton was at the banquet of the Ward Seven Republican Club last Friday evening and it was a rouser. The dinner was good, the speaking was excellent and the enthusiasm aroused was immense.
The gathering refutes the assertion often heard that Newton Republicans will not enthuse. Secretary Garcelon is to be congratulated on the success of the affair.

Another child ordered from the schools of the Bigelow district by the family physician on account of the bad effects of the pernicious one session system now in force in that locality, calls attention again to the strain of long continued effort on immature minds and bodies. Someday the parents of this alleged intelligent district will realize that physical health is far more important than a little knowledge of music and dancing.

Mayor Weeks' plan to enlist local co-operation in the thinning out of shade trees on our heavily wooded streets, has been tried in Newton Centre with considerable success, and its extension to other districts would greatly improve the appearance of the city.

The crooked streets of Boston are said to follow the old paths along which the early settlers of the place drove their cows to and from their pasture on the common. However true this may be, it is certain that many of the main streets of the old city proper mark geographic features, formerly of importance, but now almost entirely forgotten. Atlantic avenue follows closely the original shore line; Washington street preserves in its curves the old road along the narrow neck of land which was the only connection for a long time between the mainland and Boston peninsula, with its three hills, which gave the name Tremont; Causeway street represents the dam to the earliest tidal mill pond, and Beacon street, the "mill dam," was built later to hold back the waters of Back bay at high tide to be used for power at low tide; the curve of Park square gives the shore line of this Back bay, where the fathers and grandfathers of the present generation used to put on their skates to glide over the area now occupied by Trinity church and the Public Library. —F. P. Gulliver

Living, Yet Dead.
In a German law journal may be found a curious account of a woman who, though actually living, is legally dead. Some years ago she disappeared from her home, and after three years had elapsed the court formally pronounced her dead and turned over her property to her next of kin. Soon afterward she returned to her native place, and as there was no question as to her identity she naturally thought that she would have no difficulty in recovering her property. The court, however, flatly refused to comply with her request.
"You have been declared dead," it virtually said, "and it is impossible for us to regard you as living."

Thereupon the woman appealed to a higher court, but her labor was in vain, for the verdict of the lower court was upheld, and, moreover, an official notice was issued to the effect that the plaintiff, having formally been declared dead, could not now be restored to life, as the law understands that word, and must remain dead until doomsday.

Over His Patient's Head.
When the doctor, who forgot what kind of medicine his patient was taking, asked, "Was it a fluid medication?"
the puzzled German patient answered:
"I don't know what it was. You said
I should take five drops three times a day in water." —New York Press.

Nothing to Speak Of.
The little blind girl was writing a composition on the rabbit and, never having seen a creature of any sort, inquired of her teacher whether the rabbit had a tail.

"Yes, a small one, none to speak of," answered the teacher.

This is the way the little girl introduced the matter into her composition:
"The rabbit has a small tail, but you mustn't talk about it."

Patrick-Vermilye.

Last week Wednesday afternoon at half-past four Miss Cornelia Lathrop Vermilye, whose father was the late William G. Vermilye, was married to Mr. Arthur Loomis Patrick, of New York, son of Dr. H. J. Patrick of Newtonville. The ceremony was performed by the father of the groom, at the home of the bride's mother, on Lydecker street, Englewood, N. J., in the presence of the relatives and a few intimate friends. Mr. Patrick's brother, Mr. H. B. Patrick, was best man, and Mr. Charles Walker of Hartford, and Mr. Rowland Vermilye the bride's brother, were ushers.

Miss Annie Vermilye, sister of the bride, Miss Augusta Patrick, sister of the groom, Miss Caroline Chapin and Miss Lucy Jackson, gowned in white, led the bridal party, stretching white ribbons to form an aisle, down which came the bride, gowned in accordance with white crepe de chine, carrying bride roses, and her attendant maid of honor, her sister, Miss Jennie Vermilye, attired in pink shirred mull with lace, and carrying pink roses, and the bridesmaids, her little nieces, Miss Katherine and Louise Vermilye, in white with pink ribbons and carrying pink carnations.

After the ceremony a reception was held. A number of guests were present from out of town, Middletown, Conn., Yonkers, Montclair, Elizabeth, Flushing, L. I., Newtonville, and Newark, N. J., of which latter city the bride's grandfathers, the late Jacob D. Vermilye, and Rev. Henry Rowland, pastor of the Park Presbyterian church, were residents.

The bride received many pretty gifts. The house was prettily decorated with pink and white roses and chrysanthemums. Van Baar played the wedding music.

Holden-Savage

In Auburndale, Oct. 15th, the wedding of Miss Harriet S. Sawyer daughter of Mrs. Martha W. Sawyer of Napa Cal., and Mr. Adam P. Holden of the Concord Manufacturing Co., Concord N. H., took place at the home of the bride's sister Mrs. Franklin T. Miller. The ceremony being witnessed only by the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Francis N. Peloubet, D. D. The house was decorated for the occasion with quantities of chrysanthemums and palms.

The bride was prettily gowned in white lace with bridal veil and carried the conventional bouquet of white roses. She entered the room on the arm of her brother-in-law, Mr. Franklin T. Miller.

The groom was attended by his brother, Mr. Paul R. Holden. A wedding supper immediately followed the ceremony.

After a few months' sojourn in California Mr. and Mrs. Holden will make their home in Concord, N. H.

Death of Captain Doane.

Captain Alfred Doane, a well-known resident on Central avenue, Newtonville, died at his home Wednesday morning after a long and painful illness. He followed the occupation of sea captain for many years mainly on voyages to China and the Straits settlements and was the owner of a number of vessels. He was a native of Orleans where he was born 65 years ago. During his residence in this city he was of eight and measures for 5 years and later was appointed superintendent of Lewis wharf, Boston, which position he occupied until health compelled his retirement. A widow, two sons and one daughter survive him. Funeral services will be held from the house this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock.

A NEEDLESS HARSHIP.

Women's Influence on Affairs Should Be Direct, Not Roundabout.

Women are continually reminded whenever they ask for the right of suffrage that they do not need it; that any injustice in the laws can be righted through their influence. This may be true, but the indirect method is needlessly long and hard. If women were forbidden to use the direct route by rail across the continent and complained of the injustice, it would be no answer to tell them that it is possible to get from New York to San Francisco by going around Cape Horn.

The slowness with which some of the worst inequalities in the laws are corrected shows the unsatisfactoriness of the indirect way. In most states a married mother has literally no legal rights over her own children so long as she and her husband live together. Here is a case which actually happened and which might happen today in thirty-three out of the forty-five states of the Union:

A Chinaman had married a respectable Irishwoman. When their first baby was three days old, the husband gave it to his brother to be taken away to China and brought up there. The mother through the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children appealed to the courts, but the judge promptly decided that the husband was within his rights. He was the sole owner of the baby. He had the sole legal right to say what should be done with it. For more than half a century the suffragists of the United States have been trying to secure legislation making the father and mother joint guardians of their children by law, as they are by nature, but thus far the equal guardianship law has been obtained in only twelve states out of the forty-five. Massachusetts got it last year after fifty-five years of effort by Massachusetts women. In Colorado, after women were given the right to vote, the very next legislature passed an equal guardianship law.

In Massachusetts the State Federation of Women's Clubs, the Woman's Relief corps, the state Woman's Christian Temperance union, the Children's Friend society and sixty-four other associations united in asking for the bill. The only society of women that has ever ranged itself definitely on the wrong side of this question is the Massachusetts Association Opposed to the Further Extension of Suffrage to Women. It circulated for years under its official imprimatur a leaflet in defense of the old law which gave the husband the sole control of the children.

Last year in Massachusetts the laws of inheritance between husband and wife were made equal, but it had taken more than half a century of work to secure this self-evidently just measure. The experience in other states has been similar. The roundabout way is almost always long and slow.—Woman's Journal.

COLORADO'S SYMPATHY.

Centennial State Believes, After Trial, in Woman Suffrage.

The Colorado Springs Gazette in commenting upon the failure of the Kansas legislature to grant presidential suffrage to the women of their state says: The people of Colorado have reason to feel that the Kansas legislators have made a mistake in this matter. Equal suffrage has worked well in Colorado, and there is no reason to believe that it would not work well in Kansas. While it has not accomplished everything that its enthusiastic advocates predicted, it has unquestionably raised the general tone of public affairs, and it has given the women of Colorado a voice in the public affairs to which they are justly entitled and which it is for the general welfare that they should have.

So far as Colorado is concerned, woman suffrage is a success, and we believe it would be a success in any community where it was given an intelligent trial. It is something that is in accord with the spirit of American institutions, involving the principles of justice, liberty, equality, self government and the dignity of womanhood. The successive defeats of equal suffrage at the hands of double dealing legislators will be only a temporary setback to a cause that has right behind it, and the success of the experiment wherever tried must inevitably lead to its ever increasing endorsement by the people.

Using Legitimate Influence.

Ithaca is one of the eleven third class cities in New York which by their charters allow taxpaying women to vote on questions of taxation, and they have just voted on the municipal ownership of the waterworks. It is said that they showed the liveliest interest, getting voters out to the polls and sending their own carriages when necessary. In cases where women were very old or feeble the ballot box was taken to the carriage. The result was an overwhelming majority in favor.

Now with any one dare assert that these women were doing an unwomanly thing, that they were out of their sphere, that they were neglecting their sacred domestic duties, when they were exerting their influence in a direct and legitimate way to secure a pure water supply and save their city from another terrible epidemic of typhoid fever? Is there a greater danger to a city from impure water than from the saloon, the gambling den and the brothel? And yet men in general and many of these very women would stand against the idea of their voting for the officers who are entrusted with the moral health of the municipality. The first evil may count its victims on this one occasion by the hundreds; the others have an annual record of thousands, and there is just one way to reach them—viz, through the ballot box. IDA HUSTED HARPER.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Columbia Theatre.—Before a house which was packed from pit to dome, Miss Fay Templeton, called by the New York newspapers, the "Duce of musical comedy," made her first appearance as a star before the Boston public at the Columbia theatre on Monday night, appearing as "Josey May," the comic opera queen, in Sam S. Shubert, Nixon & Zimmerman's elaborate musical extravaganza entitled "The Runaways." Miss Templeton scored one of the greatest hits ever known in the stage annals of the city of Boston. From a scenic standpoint it must be said that the Messrs. Shubert, Nixon & Zimmerman have simply lavished money on the production and on the costumes. The engagement is for four weeks with Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Globe Theatre.—Mr. Charles Richman in "Captain Barrington," the new American play by Mr. Victor Mapes is crowding the Globe theatre at every performance. "Captain Barrington" is now in the second week of its engagement, and from present indications, this play could easily make a successful run indefinitely. Mr. Richman's starring venture has exceeded the best wishes of his most sanguine friends, and he has impressed the theatregoers of critical Boston even more favorably than he did in the past. The company supporting Mr. Richman is the strongest organization on the American stage today, and includes several favorite players. Performances are given every evening at 8 and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at 2.

Tremont Theatre.—The Tremont theatre in Boston was packed to the topmost gallery last Monday night with music-lovers and society people at the opening of the English grand opera four weeks' festival offered by Henry W. Savage's fine English singing organization. During the first week "Tosca," "Carmen," and a double bill, including "Lucia di Lammermoor" and "Cavalleria Rusticana" are being sung. Seven new singers made their debuts during the week. The immense favor with which Mr. Savage's organization has opened the opera season indicates a greater success than his superb English singing company has ever had in Boston. Next week will be devoted to "Faust," "Tannhauser," and the "Bohemian Girl," all being given new scenic productions.

Children's Theatre.—The opening of children's entertainments at the Children's theatre will occur Saturday afternoon, after extensive preparations and alterations to the theatre, enlarged stage, raised seats and new scenery, making it a complete little playhouse. The management this season is under Capt. Charles W. Eddy's Huntington Bureau and the auspices of the Dorothy Dix Home. Years of experience in children's entertainments and large spectacular affairs has made Capt. Eddy one of the foremost in this line. Many novelties will be offered during the season and this week's program will include the three act play so entertaining to children, Little Red Riding Hood, also Mabelle Patten in fancy dances, Little Roy, a child prodigy in quaint recitations, alone well worth the price of admission, La Petite Minnette, Allie May Holt, the celebrated contralto, Imperial Operatic Gems, and the famous Red Hussar Drill, which has a national reputation, and will conclude with the motion pictures of "A Voyage to the Moon," a wonderful piece of photography, showing the method adopted by six learned astronomers to explore the moon. The inhabitants of the moon are shown, together with other interesting scenes. The series consists of thirty scenes.

Boston Theatre.—What will positively be the last week of the extended engagement of the big New England play, "Quincy Adams Sawyer" will commence next Monday at the Boston theatre. This last week will make five big weeks of the play at the Boston theatre with crowded attendance at every performance. Judging from the experience of the past few weeks it will be very advisable for out-of-town patrons who contemplate seeing "Quincy Adams Sawyer" during the last week of its engagement to secure their seats in advance.

Grand Opera House.—Ben Hendricks in his delightfully droll impersonation of Ole Olson will make his annual visit to the Boston Grand Opera House next week. "Ole Olson" now boasts of fifteen seasons of unbroken success and during the greater portion of this period Mr. Hendricks has been identified with the character. His impersonation is a genuinely artistic one, the result of a careful study and observation. It is a dignified portrayal and finds especial favor with both Swedish and American patrons. The company supporting this singing comedian is said to be an exceptionally capable one. The usual matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Keith's Theatre.—George Primrose, "the king of minstrels," is to be the star entertainer at Keith's the week of Oct. 26, and will be accompanied by the famous Foley twins, who were the big hits of the Primrose and Dockader show last season. Bedini, the juggler, and his comedy assistant, Arthur, the Brothers Silvas, European acrobats, who give a perfectly marvelous performance on unsupported ladders; A. D. Robins, the great trick bicycle rider; John Gilbert, monologue comedian; the DeMuths, eccentric and whirlwind dancers, and the Mitchells a trio of colored comedians and singers are some of the entertainers of note whose names are prominent in the bill. Will M. Cressy and Blanche Dayne hold over, appearing in another of their charming rural comedy sketches, and the mannikins will be exhibited for the last time, making an almost entire change. It will be one of the best bills of the season.

Organ Concert.

Next Wednesday evening Mr. Everett E. Truette, the organist of Eliot Church, will give a public recital to introduce the beauties of the new echo organ which has been recently constructed. The new organ is a gift to the church in memory of Mr. Lewson E. Chase.

The echo organ which is placed in a special gallery is the largest in New England and is connected with the main organ by a cable 240 feet in length, containing 400 wires, and is operated from the keyboard at the main organ by electro-pneumatic action.

The main organ has also been enlarged and rebuilt and the recital will be a splendid opportunity to hear that instrument as well as the new effect expected from the echo organ.

Mr. Truette has arranged a program which is intended to display the possibilities of the organs and his rendering of the selections from Holliis, Dubois, Galeotti, Guilmant, Lemare, Smart and Whiting is awaited with pleasurable anticipation.

The new quarters of the Association offer many excellent advantages which are appreciated and used by the young men and boys of Newton and vicinity. In less than a week 60 membership tickets have been issued.

The gymnasium classes began Saturday, Oct. 17. There was a large attendance and the success of the classes is assured. It is an inspiring sight to see the large class of boys in their drill and apparatus work. Parents are invited to visit the classes which meet at 5 P. M. on Tuesday and Thursday and at 3 P. M. on Saturday. The business men meet on Wednesday at 5 P. M. They have as good a time as the boys.

Dr. M. E. Gleason, the medical examiner, examines the heart and lungs of each boy who joins the gymnasium classes. Any senior member may also have this examination by applying at the office of the Association.

Classes in telegraphy and mechanical drawing are being formed. Any young man who is interested in either of these classes please hand in your name to the general secretary. The Association will provide a room and secure competent teachers if enough names are handed in.

Newton Chapter, S. A. R.

Ladies as well as gentlemen will be interested in the paper on "Colonial and Revolutionary Social Life," to be read at the next meeting of Newton Chapter S. A. R., in the G. A. R. rooms, Masonic Temple, Newtonville, next Thursday evening at 8. The essayist will be Mr. John Howland Crandon, historian of the Society of Colonial Wars, now resident in Newtonville. Members of the State society and gentlemen eligible to the S. A. R. are invited to attend with ladies.

Deaconess Aid Fair.

A fair in aid of the fund for building the new Deaconess Hospital at Longwood will be held at Horticultural hall, Boston, during the whole of next week. The booths will represent historic places in and about Boston and Newton ladies will have charge of one of them.

One hardly realizes that the year of 1903 has drawn so near its close until we see calendars for 1904. A large variety of these, for Photographs and other pictures, are displayed at the store of Solatia M. Taylor, 56 Broomfield St., Boston, Mass.

ASSOCIATED CHARITIES.

The bare trees and cool winds tell us that winter is approaching when we shall have many calls for second hand clothing, especially for children whose parents cannot keep them properly clothed for school. Will not the people of Newton remember these great needs among the many calls upon their charity and sympathy? Our closets are absolutely empty of the things most needed. "Stockings and underwear, boys' and girls' clothes, women's and men's also suitable for working classes who find it hard to meet the demands of large families in the cold weather. Let us not appeal in vain for supplies that they may be in readiness for coming needs. Mrs. E. W. Howe, for the President Committee.

Real Estate.

Henry W. Savage reports agreements signed for the sale of Amelia J. Angier of a property located on Pine Ridge Road, consisting of a frame house and 10,690 square feet of land taxed on $6050, of which $1000 is on the land. The purchaser's name is withheld until the papers are passed.

Henry W. Savage reports the sale of a piece of residential property located on Walnut street corner of Lakewood road, consisting of a new 10-room house and 8400 square feet of land, all taxed on $5800, $1300 of which is on the land. The purchase price was largely in excess of the taxed value. Warren B. Page of Newton Highlands conveys to Mrs. Catherine Howard of Boston, who buys for occupancy.

Through the office of Alvord Bros. & Co., Ellen Tarbell, trustee has sold to Clara B. Achorn, the estate at Newton Highlands, No. 60 Forest street, consisting of a frame house and 10,000 feet of land, the whole assessed for $4200.

FOUNDED ON RIGHT.

WOMAN SUFFRAGE MOVEMENT IS BASICALLY JUST.

Why This Cause Has Enlisted the Services of Earnest, Sober, Thoughtful Men and Women—An Attempt to Regenerate the Country.

Hon. M. J. Sanders, president of the New Orleans Progressive union, in a recent address upon woman suffrage said in part:

The suffragist cause is no mere egotistical desire for prominence on the part of a few disgruntled women who have been spoiled by too much education and freedom, but it is the result of an earnest, deep rooted, frequently all absorbing conviction that the right to vote is a necessity because it carries with it the ability for woman to definitely and forcibly exert a direct and powerful influence against the hundreds of degrading and horrible systems which legally exist to the constant debasing of humanity.

The right of suffrage is then not an end, but merely a means to an end, which is not yet and shall not be so long as there is a wrong to right, a vice to eradicate, a beauty in life or character to be assisted to its full development.

To the man who has not investigated and who has been content to regard the suffrage women as somewhat foolish if not dangerous cranks this explains the devotion and self sacrifice, the remarkable ability and the really great oratory, the rush of burning, impassioned logic which cannot be called forth by any but the great cause of freedom.

It appears to me that in all that makes good citizenship, in morality, in education, in intelligence, the woman is in the United States today at least the equal, in some respects the superior, of the average man who has the right of franchise.

How, then, can it be just to deny her this right?

As a matter of expediency there may be some argument, but the doubts in the minds of the thinking men who have given this matter proper consideration are, I believe, founded more on the fear of some radical and harmful change of social conditions which the experience so far has given no reason whatever to expect, the fear that the votes of women will be controlled by men, which in my opinion is quite as likely to be reversed; the fear that the woman herself will be degraded, while I believe it will be an incentive to further education and intelligence for the woman.

As purely a matter of expediency I am convinced that the franchise in the hands of the woman will prove the most powerful lever this generation will see for the accomplishment of the 10,000 reforms, moral, social, economical and political, which are crying aloud to the heavens for the earnest, active efforts of all who wish our country well.

We cannot get outside of our narrow, selfish personal interests and thoughts for even a brief period without being burdened beyond endurance by the weight of the suffering, injustice and inequity that surround us with horrors that are a disgrace to the most elementary construction of civilization.

Where is the power coming from that will actively campaign for any of the great reforms, while man becomes more and more enthralled by the pressure of industrial affairs, unless it be from among our educated, emotional, enthusiastic, self sacrificing women?

I have seen sufficient of the women who are working in this fight for suffrage to believe that hand in hand with earnest men as coworkers and equals, in no way subordinate, they can furnish brains and power to remove a vast load of the iniquities and inequalities of life and even in our generation to lift this country to a plane of civilization wherein the masses shall have a chance for happiness and freedom, the gross inequalities in the conditions of life shall be removed and a pure and wholesome moral atmosphere shall surround our children—rich and poor alike—to nurture them to high and noble standards, ideals we now only dream of and sigh for, the attainment of which would give us in truth the first country on earth, not only in wealth and its power, but in that infinitely greater power which comes of a realization in the universal life of our people of the highest ideals of truth and beauty.

No man can defend his own right to vote without granting it to woman. The only reason why the demand sounds strange is because man never analyzed his own right. The moment he begins to analyze it he cannot defend it without admitting her. Our fathers proclaimed sixty years ago that government was coequal with the right to take money and to punish for crime. Now let woman go free from the penal statute, let her property be exempt from taxation, until you admit her to the ballot box. Goethe said that if you plant an oak in a flowerpot it will be dwarfed or the flowerpot will break. We have planted woman in a flowerpot, hemmed her in by restrictions, and when we move to enlarge her sphere society cries out, "Oh, you'll break the flowerpot." Well, I say, let it break. Man made it, and the sooner it goes to pieces the better. Let us see how broadly the branches will throw themselves and how beautiful will be the shape and how glorious against the moonlit sky or glowing sunset the foliage shall appear.—Wendell Phillips.

The Wyoming legislature for the third time has passed a resolution testifying to the good effects of equal suffrage.

FITNESS TO VOTE.

Women Better Qualified to Use the Ballot Than Men.

The Topeka Herald says editorially: The defeat of the suffrage bill in the house, while not wholly unexpected, was accompanied by some surprises. It was surprising that a majority of the members could be induced to vote against a measure when its opponents were unable to present any better reasons for its defeat than were given by those who spoke against it. It should be an encouragement to the advocates of woman suffrage when those who oppose it are reduced to the extremity of rising in their places and making as a serious argument against enfranchising women a plea that it will interfere with the womanhood and motherhood of the land for women to spend fifteen minutes each year in expressing their choice of men who shall fill the offices which govern them as well as the men.

Did any one ever hear such tommyrot except from the old fashioned man who absorbs his information from the corner grocery and who is still doing business on the prejudices of his grandfather? Such argument would lead men to believe that most men spend the greater part of their time in exercising the duties imposed upon them by suffrage. But as a matter of fact only a very small per cent of the men do anything of the kind. It may be argued by this old fashioned man that he spends much of his time in finding how to vote intelligently. If so, the women have a right to remind him that the stupidly senseless way of conducting public affairs, too often apparent, would indicate that the more he studies the case the less he knows about it. Men who in the pride of superior sex think they know more about the real questions which underlie public matters than women of the twentieth century are men who are ignorant of what women are doing to enlighten themselves. The women of today are proving equality of intellect by taking the highest honors in all the institutions of learning in the land in direct competition with men. By means of her study club and other avenues of information which are now open to her the average woman is becoming better posted as to the moral and political needs of the people than a majority of the men who exercise the right of suffrage. And what is more to the point and of much greater importance in the consideration of this matter is that, once shown the path of duty, she will conscientiously walk it as she does that of private duty, in perfect harmony with the high ideals of womanhood and motherhood so much praised by these antisuffrage orators. When as much can be said of man's devotion to the high ideals of manhood, brotherhood and fatherhood, then, not till then, may he assume to speak of woman as liable to be degraded by the exercise of any duty which he may perform without the danger of degradation.

A WINNING CAUSE.

Equal Suffrage Movement Not Dying, but Gaining in Strength.

There is an article going the rounds in the newspapers headed, "Passing of Woman Suffrage," in which the writer says that woman suffrage seems to have reached its climax and is now steadily receding.

Then follows a list of defeats which seem to prove to his satisfaction that woman suffrage is rapidly dying. The very defeats mentioned by the writer showed great gains for woman suffrage.

There are now five states of the Union in which the question of woman suffrage has been twice submitted to the voters, at intervals of some years. In every case the result has been more favorable the second time than the first. In Colorado equal suffrage was submitted in 1877 and defeated; it was submitted again in 1903 and carried. In Kansas, when submitted the first time, it received 9,100 votes; when submitted the second time, it received 95,302. In the state of Washington, in 1890, the adverse majority was 10,386; in 1901 it dropped to 9,882. In South Dakota in 1890 woman suffrage was defeated by a majority of 23,610; in 1901 by a majority of only 3,285. In Oregon the vote in 1884 stood 23,170 nays to 11,223 yeas; in 1900 it was 23,208 nays to 26,205 yeas.

Equal suffrage has made more progress in the past ten years than in the half century preceding, which can be shown by the gradual extension of some form of suffrage to women all over the civilized world, full suffrage in Colorado and national suffrage to all the women of federated Australia and New Zealand.

Another fact showing the growing interest in the cause is the annual receipts of the National Suffrage association, which have increased from $2,000 to $22,000.

These facts do not indicate a dying cause.

ELNORA MONROE BABCOCK.

Woman's Share in Government.

I leave it to others to speak of suffrage as a right or a privilege. I speak of it as a duty. What right have you women to leave all this work of caring for the country with men? Is it not your country as well as theirs? Are not your children to live in it after you are gone? And are you not bound to contribute whatever faculty God has given you to make it and keep it a pure, safe and happy land?—James Freeman Clarke.

I will admit that home is woman's sphere, but it does not appear that her place is solely at home any more than that the farmer should never leave his farm, the mechanic his shop, the teacher his desk or the professional man his office for the purpose of expressing his wishes and opinions at the tribunals of the ballot box.—Daphne A. Heald, Moline, Ill.

PROBATE COURT.

MIDDLESEX, SS. To the heirs-at-law, next of kin and all other persons interested in the estate of Austin H. Mitchell, late of Newton, in said County, deceased:

WHEREAS, a certain instrument purporting to be the last will and testament of said deceased, has been presented to said Court, for Probate, by James L. Richards and Eugene H. Smith, who pray that letters testamentary may be issued to them, the executors therein named, without giving a surety on their official bond.

You are hereby cited to appear at a Probate Court to be held at Cambridge in said County of Middlesex, on the twenty-seventh day of October, A. The Grand Canyon.
Once, crossing a little tributary of the Colorado, I found that every drop splashed on my clothes hardened to a jump of mud and that where the water was but a foot deep my horse was nearly washed away by its force.

That fact, Roger Pocock says in an article in Pearson's, told me the secret of the Grand canyon. Like the Nile, the Colorado flows through a desert, but the river of Egypt meanders softly and muddily over low plains, spreading when it is full into harmless lakes, whereas this headlong sluice of running sand, launched at the naked rocks, has the cutting powers of a huge steel saw. The country has risen perhaps an inch a year, but the torrent, instead of spreading out over the land, has sawed through the lifting rocks. The country has risen to a height of 8,000 feet, while still the Colorado flows at the ancient level, only 2,000 feet above the sea. That is the reason of this profound abyss for 600 miles through the very foundations of the world. In all, 34,000,000 cubic miles of solid rock have been ground in this vast mill and hurled into the gulf of California.

Human Breath and Bees.
Bees are revived by human breath, even when apparently dead. An old writer on the subject describes how, during a very wet May, he discovered a hive which had been working well previously whose tenants seemed to be dead, but by putting a few of them into his hand and breathing upon them for several minutes he at last observed some motion at the second joint of their horns. By persevering he revived them all, and they became the best hive in his garden. He is, however, careful to remark that those who use pomatum, perfume or hair powder should not nuzzle too free with the insects during the process of restoration. The secret, of course—though at one time the thing was regarded as miraculous—is in the warmth conveyed; but, besides this, there is no doubt that bees are roused by human breath, to which they have such an antipathy that they are much more easily handled if the operator draws his breath gently and takes care not to direct it against them. —London Standard.

A State That Breathes.
If ever a state might be said to breathe, that state is California. It has a magnificent lung action, says the Sunset Magazine. Deep and long drawn are the breaths of ocean air taken by the great valleys. And you can almost see this breathing if you will go to the top of any of the hills bordering the bay of San Francisco. In general, air movement or wind is initiated by difference of temperature. Therefore on summer afternoons while the broad ocean lies tranquilly sleeping at a temperature of 55 degrees F. the inland valleys are basking in the same sunlight, but the air a few feet above the ground is quivering at a temperature of 100 degrees. In other words, there is a temperature gradient of 1 degree per mile, and this brings about a marked movement of the air, the motion being from the cool to the warm locally.

The Rhodum Sidus.
An amusing story told by Hood describes how a country nurseryman made a large sum out of sales of a simple little flower which he sold under the name of the Rhodum sidus. This charming name proved quite an attraction to the ladies, and the flower became the rage of the season. It was one of those freaks of fashion for which there is no accounting. At length a botanist who found that the plant was not an uncommon weed requested to know where the nurseryman got the name from. He elicited the following reply: "I found this flower in the road beside us, so christened it the Rhodum sidus."

All Fixed Beforehand.
It is said that one of the most inveterate writers out of speeches was the late Lord Derby, of whom the story went that the manuscript of one of his most statesmanlike discourses, being picked up from the floor, where it had fallen, was found not only to be freely sprinkled with "Heur, hear!" "Laughter," and "Applause," but also to contain a passage beginning, "But I am detaining you too long [cries of 'No, no' and 'Go on!']"

Too Much For the Nerves.
"Your husband," said the doctor, "has worried himself sick. He needs a change."
"Where ought we to go?" asked the anxious wife.
"To the city," replied the doctor promptly, "where he will not live constantly in a harrowing atmosphere of suburban trains and time tables." —Chicago Post.

Grows Gentle.
"How do you like Tipton?"
"He seems cold and reserved."
"He does at first, but he soon thaws. After you have met him a few times he will come up and slap you on the back and ask you for a dollar, just as cordial as can be." —Kansas City Journal.

Protest.
Doctor—I should say you have about three months to live.
Patient—Make it longer, doctor. I can never pay your bill in that time.—Life.

Nerve.
She (with an idea of choking him off)—There are only two men in the world I could love.
He—Indeed! And who is the other one?

Forethought.
Husband—You don't mean to say you paid $250 for that gown?
Wife—Oh, no! I left that for you.

The "Dream of Dorothy."

A hope born of sweet thoughts and tender memories, part truth, part fancy, a commingling of what was and what might have been; that is "The Dream of Dorothy."

A kindly old country doctor, a bachelor, sits before the comforting blaze in his study on a night that is fraught with meaning—New Year's eve. He is sentimental; yes, because he is good. He is good; yes because that is his calling.

Thus there comes to him, down through the unbroken silence of years, a picture of an unfulfilled desire, the answered call of faithful love.

"The Dream of Dorothy," written by Freeman F. Tilden and Leverett D. G. Bentley, is to be presented at the Entertainment Club's Halloween party in Channing church parlors, tomorrow, Saturday evening.

KING-BOWEN.

In Newton, Oct. 19, occurred the marriage of Miss Pauline M. Bowen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Bowen and Mr. A. J. King. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. E. Oxnard, pastor of the North Evangelical church. The bride was gowned in cream silk mull with pearl trimmings. Miss Gertrude Burton of Natick attended the bride and was gowned in pale blue with lace trimmings. Mr. Charles Baker was best man. The bridal party left for Brookfield, where they will spend their honeymoon.

ANGIER-GILMAN.

An event of more than ordinary interest occurred at Eliot church, Newton, last Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock, when Miss Annie Horton Gilman, daughter of Hon. and Mrs. Gorham Dummer Gilman, was united in marriage to Mr. George Angier. The officiating clergyman was Rev. William H. Davis D. D., pastor of the church and the bride was given away by her father. The maid of honor was Miss Ethel Sears Gilman, sister of the bride, and Mr. Ralph W. Angier, brother of the groom, was best man. There were no bridesmaids. The ushers were Messrs. Harry B. Sawyer of Boston, and Frank C. Potter, Herbert S. Potter, Frank C. Soule, Herman C. Soule and Lewis H. Bailey of Newton. The church and the bride's home, where a reception followed the ceremony from 4 to 6, were beautifully decorated with laurel, palms and flowers. At the reception Mr. and Mrs. Angier were assisted in receiving by Mr. and Mrs. Gilman, the bride's parents and Mrs. Emma E. Angier, the groom's mother. On their return from a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Angier will reside at 151 Waverley avenue.

At the Churches.

TREES

"Woodmen Spare that tree Touch not a single bough."

Many persons feel the sentiment expressed in these lines. They seem to have the feeling that every tree is all right and in the right place, but let other and wiser considerations govern us.

It is supposable that this was a grand old tree standing alone in the garden or near the old homestead. It had been a shade and relief from the hot sun. The writer says, "In youth it sheltered me, and I'll protect it now." This is an exceptional case and we sympathize with the old man.

But our subject leads us to consider superfluity of trees shading too much our lawns and the beautiful avenues of the city of Newton. Where trees are crowded together, their branches interlacing, shutting out the air, sky and sunlight, and the view of the landscape beyond their beauty is marred and this condition of things not conducive to the general health of the people living in such localities. The last grounds and the Burr estate are much improved by cutting down a tree here and there and trimming out the limbs of those remaining, so that light, air and sunshine find their way through the branches. Where trees so shade and cover a neighbor's grounds and droop over the sidewalk so as to interfere with one's umbrella and locomotion, it becomes a grievance.

Where is the remedy for this? If owners of grounds pay no attention to this matter, may it not come under the jurisdiction of the authorities of the city, or is it work that the Village Improvement Societies might take up?

Publico Bono.

Myrtle Baptist Church.

West Newton, Oct. 21, 1903.

To the Editor of the Newton Graphic: We, the undersigned, members of the board of trustees and deacons of the Myrtle Baptist Church Society, respectfully request a place in your valuable column to inform the reading public that at a special business meeting held on Oct. 15 at the church, the pastorate of the Rev. Stephen H. Smith was formally terminated and he is no longer connected with the society. The happy result was affected by the assistance of a committee of the First Baptist Church of West Newton, composed of the Rev. Mr. Snell, Deacon A. L. Harbour and Deacon H. A. Inman. The brethren found after careful examination of the books that the pastor was indebted to the society $3.60 (three dollars and sixty cents), this accounts having been overdrawn to that amount.

We also beg respectfully to inform the charitable public that persons with books soliciting aid under the authority of our late pastor, are unauthorized.

We take this step to warn the public because in the settlement with the recent pastor he omitted to report or return the books which had formerly been issued under his administration.

Trustees: Geo. Whiting, Chairman; Levi Dunn, Cole Williams, Eugene A. Lomax.
Deacons: Thos. Johnson, Chairman; John McCraw, R. Joyner, Joseph Allen.

Newton Civic Club.

Past events were recalled, old stories told, and former acquaintances renewed at the reunion of the present and past city governments last Monday evening at the Newton Club. The idea was first suggested at the annual aldermanic dinner last January and a committee consisting of Aldermen Weed, Dennison, Brown and ex-Aldermen Alvord and Nagle were appointed to make arrangements. The committee reported on Monday night and its arrangements by-laws and officers were unanimously endorsed by the sixty or more gentlemen who were present.

Following a social hour the company met in the Assembly hall and Chairman A. R. Weed of the Committee explained that Congressman Powers who had been present earlier in the evening had been obliged to leave without addressing the Club as had been planned.

Ex-Alderman A. E. Alvord then presented some by-laws which were adopted and Alderman Brown then nominated those officers who were unanimously elected.

President, John W. Weeks; vice-presidents, ex-Mayors Ellison, Burr, Hibbard, Fenne, Bothfeld, Cobb, Wilson and Pickard; secretary-treasurer, J. C. Brimblecom and ex-aldermen Henry Bailey, George Hutchinson and Frank L. Nagle as an executive committee. Mayor Weeks then addressed the club suggesting that the subjects of socialism, labor and important municipal questions be given consideration. Other speakers were Hon. H. E. Cobb, Hon. G. D. Gilman, Hon. H. E. Bothfeld, Hon. E. L. Pickard, Representative W. F. Dana, ex-president Henry Bailey, ex-alderman P. B. Fitzpatrick and Alderman G. H. Mellen.

A new City Hall was discussed, the need of intelligent legislation was emphasized and indeed if the club only partially realizes the ideals of its supporters it will have accomplished considerable in the line of good government.

Among those present were noted besides those already mentioned, Aldermen Barber, Hubbard, Lothrop, Dennison, Hunt, Baker, Brown, Chesley, Saltonstall, Norris, Ensign, Weed, ex-aldermen A. E. Alvord, Henry Tolman, Reuben Fornall, J. C. Kennedy, G. S. Bulleus, K. W. Hobart, W. A. Knowlton, Thomas White, W. I. Goodrich, E. M. Rumery, L. E. G. Green, Lawrence Bond, G. P. Bullard, B. F. Shattuck, E. J. Childs J. A. Lowell H. L. Whitteley, T. B. Fitzpatrick, A. H. Ruffe, E. W. Warren, ex-councilmen Wellington Howes, Robert Bennett, A. A. Savage, J. W. Parker, F. H. Butts, A. S. Weed, E. M. Hatch, W. C. Bates, T. W. Gore, H. H. Read, Eugene Fanning, Dr. J. F. Frisbie, A. R. Bailey, C. C. Barton, C. W. Ross, F. W. Sprague, Lnd, Mitchell Wing, E. J. H. Estabrooks, L. P. Everett, W. F. Lunt, E. P. Hatch, Erastus Moulton, E. T. Wiswall, H. F. Ross and City Clerk I. F. Kingsbury.

A collation followed the speaking.

Ere the last guns of the state campaign have been fired, the preliminary skirmishes are being fought in municipal politics. Nomination lists for the republican caucuses must be filed next Thursday, and the caucuses come on Nov. 18th.

At the present time the republican opposition to the nomination of President A. R. Weed of the aldermen for mayor appears to have subsided and he will undoubtedly have a clear field at the caucuses. This is a decided compliment to the good work which Alderman Weed has done during the last five years at City Hall. Present indications show, however, that Alderman Weed will have serious opposition at the polls and a revival of the famous citizens' campaigns of some fifteen years ago is promised.

For aldermen, we learn that Mr.
Charles E. Riley is being urged from one part of ward one to accept the two year term. There seems to be a feeling that Alderman Sweeney should be either endorsed for the ward aldermanship or that there should be no nomination made against him. Dr. Gallagher's friends, however, may have something to say on this line.

In ward two, Alderman Dennison will be given the two year nomination and Mr. Charles D. Cabot will be the candidate for one year.

In ward three, strong efforts are being made to continue Alderman Hunt as ward alderman and Mr. Benjamin S. Palmer is slated to succeed Alderman Day for two years.

In ward four, Alderman Johnson has consented to succeed himself for another year, and Alderman Baker will probably be unopposed for the two year term although the candidacy of Dr. Griffin is strongly rumored.

In ward five there is a serious complication. Alderman Chesley will be asked to take either the one or the two year terms, and Alderman Webster was promised the two year term for this fall after the slate was made up last year. Mr. Thomas W. White is a candidate for the one year term and at the present writing it is unknown whether there will be a contest between Alderman Chesley and Webster for the two year term, between Aldermen Webster and Mr. White for the one year term or between Alderman Chesley and Mr. White for the one year term.

In ward six, Mr. E. B. Bishop is slated to succeed Alderman Norris as ward alderman and Alderman Bown to succeed himself for two years.

In ward seven Mr. Thomas Weston, Jr., will probably be the only candidate for the ward aldermanship.
Alderman Essign, who has served a little more than two years, is understood to be willing to continue in office, although there is a strong sentiment in the ward that Hunnewell hill district should be represented.

There is evidently a concerted movement among the Woman's clubs in the city to obtain a representation on the school committee this fall and special activity is noticed in wards 4, 6 and 7, although no names have been mentioned as yet. We have heard the names of Messrs. W. G. Brackett ward one, Abbot Basset in ward two
F. M. Crehore in ward four,
Lewis P. Everett in ward five, Rev.
G. M. Boynton in ward six and Rev.
R. K. Smith in ward seven mentioned in connection with the matter.
Messrs. Basset, Crehore and Boynton being present members of the committee.

The election next Tuesday should be the first consideration of every citizen who has any interests above meat and drink and clothes. It is altogether too common for the average man to not only leave the determination of principles and candidates to others but to also neglect the crown of citizenship, the right of suffrage.
This failing is characteristic of Newton and the list of non-voters on the lists after an election is truly formidable.

In the coming election Newton has a vital interest in securing the election of Mr. Dana to the Senate and Mr. Edgar W. Warren and Mr.
Lowell to the House. Particular attention should be given to Mr. Warren, as the democratic nominee is David H. Warren, and there should be considerable care exercised by every Republican voter in this respect.

These gentlemen are needed at the State House to guard our interests wisely and vigilantly. Newton should also roll up an increased majority for Governor Bates, not only because he deserves a re-election by a handsome margin on account of his splendid record of the current year, but because our delegations to the various conventions of next year are based on the Bates vote next Tuesday. Our influence in the party conventions is not founded on our wealth, intelligence or high standard of education or morals, much as we pride ourselves on these points, but on the number of delegates to which we are entitled by our republican gubernatorial vote.

It is therefore of importance that our interest in the congressional, councilor county and above all the senatorial conventions of 1904 should be safeguarded by a full party vote next Tuesday. We hope to return Congressman Powers for a third term next fall, and our delegation to that convention will be diminished by every republican vote cast for Gaston next week. We hope to give Senator-to-be Dana a renomination next fall and our influence in the senatorial convention is too small to be trifled with by a light vote for Governor Bates.

Every consideration therefore, of civic pride and common sense requires the sacrifice of enough time by Republican voters next Tuesday to return and vote the entire state ticket headed by GOVERNOR JOHN L. BATES.

In the approaching election we again urge the voters of all parties to cast a favorable ballot for joint caucuses or primaries in this city.
The effect of such action will be to largely eliminate trickery at party caucuses, illegal voting will be abolished and many other caucus ills will be thereby remedied. Such a vote will help to relieve politics from its bad surroundings, improve political conditions and furnish a fair field and no favors to every candidate.

VOTE YES.

ANNUAL SHOOT.

The annual shoot between the Clafin Guard Veteran Association and Co. C, 5th Regiment M.V.M.,
"Clafin Guard" for the "Loring Cup" was held at Walnut Hill last Saturday. The conditions of the match called for teams of ten or more men, ten shots each at 200 yards, but as two of the prominent veteran shots failed to appear, the match was shot with eight men. The active company were in poor form and failed to make it interesting for the veterans who won the match by fifty-eight (58) points with the following scores:

City Hall Notes.

Dr. Curtis of the Board of Health and City Physician Utley are attending the meetings of the American Public Health Association at Washington, D. C.

Sarah Hull Chapter, D. R.

This chapter held the first meeting of the season in the attractive parlors of the Hunnewell Club House Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 28. The Regent, Mrs. Francis E. Stanley being absent on account of illness the chair was occupied by Mrs. S. Curtis Smith, first vice regent. After a brief business meeting, including the admission of seven new members, a very entertaining program was offered by the hostesses of the afternoon, the Misses Virginia W. Mellen, Helen E. Partridge, A. Gertrude
Ensign, Mabel E. Priest, Margaretta
Logan, Edith E. Whittemore, Mr.
Godofretsky gave two fine solos for the violin. Miss Logan, "contralto vocalist, gave much pleasure by her rendering of two solos, showing the versatility of her talent. Mrs. Shumway being accompanist for both artists. Then the young ladies presented the shadow pantomimes,
"Lady Wentworth" from "Tales of the Wayside Inn," and "Paul Revere's Ride," both affording much pleasure and amusement. The members and guests then adjourned to the dining room, which was brilliantly lighted and decorated with ribbons and flowers. Then refreshments were served and cordial greetings of old and new friends were enjoyed.

School Board.

At the regular meeting of the School Committee Wednesday evening, Helena M. Kimball of the Adams school, Grace C. Perkins of the Hyde school and Grace B. Alvord of the Rice school were granted leave of absence until Jan. 1, 1904.

The superintendent's report showed that 43 had been admitted to the English evening school and 47 to the Evening drawing school.

He recommended that the primary grades of the Oak Hill school be transferred to the Mason school.

Permission was granted for the use of the halls of the Burr and Pierce schools four times during the year and for the use of the High school hall for lectures.

The Christmas recess was fixed from Dec. 24 to Jan. 4.

The annual meeting of the Newton District Nursing Association will be held in the Swedenborgian church, Newtonville, on Monday, Nov. 2 at 3
P. M. Annual reports will be read and officers elected for the coming year.

The Flax Plant.

Linen is obtained from the flax plant, a small, delicate annual with a tiny blue flower. The plant is pulled by hand in the summer, the seeds, known in commerce as linseed, being removed and the straw subjected to various processes to separate the fibrous part which constitutes the linen. First it is steeped in water and then passed through a drying and heating process on revolving wheels until all foreign matter is removed. It is then ready for manufacture.

Flax has been used from remote ages as a textile fabric, especially in Egypt. Mummy cloths are often found to be of exceedingly fine texture. The chief linen producing countries of the present day are Ireland, France, Belgium and Germany. The flax fiber is round and irregular, is very durable and is capable of extensive bleaching. Plain linen has a simple weave, with the warp threads alternatingly interspersing the weft threads. When woven with a pattern it is usually called damask.

As a clothing material linen should not be worn next the skin because it is a very good conductor of heat.

Jute and hemp are from plants which are used in manufacturing only very rough materials. In form they resemble very coarse, inferior flax.—American Queen.

Trained Nurses Who Loaf.

"When a doctor finds a nurse reading a book about her profession and not a novel while she watches at the bedside of a patient," said an uptown physician, "that is the nurse he likes to hire and to help. If the case turns out well the doctor sometimes makes her a present of a book with to date ideas on her profession which she might not be able to buy. One-half the trained nurses of the city are dependent upon the recommendations of physicians, and half the success of a physician depends on a good nurse; therefore a doctor likes a nurse who reads about her business, attends lectures and keeps up with the times.

"You would be astonished to know how many lectures are given by physicians in New York every month that are open to trained nurses, but which few of them attend. There are a good many loafers among the trained nurses. They seem to think their study ended when they got their diplomas."—New York Press.

Mythical as Thirteen.

Modern occultists maintain that the number four plays quite as important a part in mundane affairs as the number thirteen, and for the following reasons:

There are four cardinal points, four winds, four seasons, four rules for arithmetic, four conjugations and four quarters of the moon. Moreover, the Olympiad lasted for four years, a pack of cards is composed of four equal parts and of four suits, an hour is divided into four quarters, and most pieces of furniture have four legs. The occultists even point out that every human being has four canine teeth, that a fork has four prongs, that corpses are placed between four planks and prisoners between four walls, and that at a funeral the coffin is usually borne by four persons.

A Mere Man's Idea.

"First impressions are proverbially dangerous guides unless one happens to be of the sex which always has the gift of making its first impressions rhyme with the issue," says a recent writer. But a woman always awaits the issue before she considers her real first impressions to the outside world. She may "say things" which the male outsider may mistake for her first impressions, but they are not her real first impressions. They come only after the event. This, however, is a profitless digression.

A Man to Know.

One of the chief joys in life is to know men by whom you can swear, to know a man here and there over the world of whom you can say: "Wherever he is tonight, there he is helpful, truthful, sincere, wise, intelligent—an educated gentleman; educated in every faculty of his being. In those things which go to make the body a thing of delight and beauty; educated in conscience, so that even as the eye seeks the light his conscience seeks the right; educated fully and completely."

Feline Aristocrats.

The Siamese is said to be the most delicate and expensive of all cats. It is called the royal cat because, according to Science Stifflings, it has long been bred in the family of the king of Siam. It is a short haired cat, which looks curiously like a dog. Its coat is pug dog color and very short, firm and silky—more like a dog's than a cat's. It has black paws and nose and a twist in its tail.

His Idea of Pleasure.

"Yes; we went all over the continent, but papa really only enjoyed himself in Venice."

"Ah, yes, no wonder! The gondolas, St. Mark's, the—"

"Oh, it wasn't that. But he could sit in the hotel, you know, and fish out of the window."

Easy Enough.

"Johnnie," asked a gentleman of a little kindergarten pupil, "do you know how to make a Maltese cross?"

"Yes, sir; I sho' do."

"Well, tell me how you do it."

"Why, you just step on her tail!"—Exchange.

The Patient Ones.

"Some men," said Uncle Eben, "sit down and does a day's bonin' and calls it bein' patient an' resigned."—Washington Star.

The best loses its point when he who makes it is the first to laugh.—Schiller.

Good Listening.

"Good talking is largely dependent on 'good hearing.' The fact that a man is able to do his mental powers the justice of brilliant expression may be due to the presence of some receptive mind ready to invite and appreciate. Wits may clash to the point of deafening themselves. The sympathetic and silent listener is the buffer between.

Ruskin is said to have been excellent company. He spoke in a tone of "gentle and playful earnestness." He had floods of thought and knowledge to pour forth, if only he could get the tight hearers. But there were the barren occasions when listeners were absent.

One day a friend gave a little dinner for him, Dr. Jowett and Dean Stanley. But no sooner had the dinner begun than the host realized his mistake. He had provided no setting for his jewels, no junior men as hearers. "They wanted to meet one another," he said. "It should have gone off brilliantly, but the soup came and the fish followed and they simply would not talk. At last I said some stupid thing to Stanley about the architecture of Westminster abbey, and that drew Ruskin and started us all off. Then all went well. But I shall never make the same mistake again."—Youth's Companion.

A Lost Island.

Of the various buildings which adorned the island of Philae there remains today above water only a portion of the colonnade, the top of the kiosk and a part of the temple of Isis. The traveler approaches the ruins in a small boat, in which he may pass down the colonnade and row about in the once sacred chambers. It is a novel and interesting experience, but to those who were familiar with the island in all its beauty it is full of sadness. Of the columns which formed the colonnade only the capitals remain above water. Upon these one sees, beautifully chiseled and ornamented with delicate coloring, Tiberius offering gifts to the gods or Nero presenting two eyes to Isis. A short distance to the right the roof of the kiosk is visible resting upon its exquisite columns, which are partly submerged. By it two unusually large palm trees rear their heads above the inundation.—Century.

A Wasp's Wisdom.

Naturalists have decided that many insects have senses which human beings lack. That of location, shown by the wasp, for instance, is remarkable. One species builds its nest in a sand bank that is only a part of several acres of such soil, and when it leaves in search of food it covers the nest so carefully that no ordinary eye could discover its location—that is to say, it is just like all the surrounding location, and yet the wasp flies back to it without hesitation and finds it without making a mistake. There is another wasp that unerringly locates the eggs of the mason bee under a thick layer of sun baked clay and deposits her own eggs in the same cells that her young may have food when they are hatched.

A Sure Way of Saving.

An ingenious method of putting his savings beyond his own reach has been adopted by a German writer who found from dire experience that all his profits melted away as soon as earned. Having made £10,000 by a fortunate literary speculation, he placed the whole of the money, together with his will, in the Imperial Deposit bank at Berlin and on receiving the receipt from the cashier deliberately tore it up. The cashier thought he was mad and told him angrily that it would take fully three years before he could expect to obtain a duplicate receipt. "That is just why I have torn up the original," calmly remarked the depositor, "and now the money is safe for that time."—Golden Penny.

The Marriage Knot.

Few of those who talk about the "marriage knot" realize that the knot was ever anything more than a mere figure of speech. Among the Babylonians tying the knot was part of the marriage ceremony. There the priest took a thread of the garment of the bride and another from that of the bridegroom and tied them into a knot, which he gave to the bride, thus symbolizing the binding nature of the union.

Changing a Snake into a Rod.

In a volume on the snakes of Egypt Hippolyte Bonassac states that the incident referred to in the Scriptures of changing a snake into a rod is still practiced by the snake charmers. They touch the snake at a certain place in the neck, when it falls into a cataleptic condition and becomes straight and stiff. It is then restored to its former condition by taking its tail between the hands and gently rolling.

Egyptian Maxims.

An Egyptian papyrus which dates back to about 4000 B. C. has the following injunctions: "Gadumies should never be repented." "Guard thy speech before all things, for a man's ruin lies in his tongue." The wise men of the race early learned good sense.

Toned Him Down.

"This photograph doesn't look a bit like me," said Stanley to the photographer.

"I know it," said the photographer. "I was afraid to make it exactly like you for fear you wouldn't take it."

Tested.

THE PLAYHOUSE.

Keith's Theatre.—"Great Men, Past and Present," as impersonated by Henry Lee, a well known ex-legitimate actor will be the headline feature of the Keith show in Boston the week of Nov. 2. This is acknowledged the best act of the kind ever offered in the varieties, and it has not been seen here for three years. May Edouin, daughter of the late Alice Atherton, and Fred Edwards, will appear in a character study, "A Bachelor's Dream," during which Miss Edouin makes five changes of costume and sings the laughing song made famous by her mother. There are five acts that have never been seen in Boston before, including "A Female Drummer" quartet, colored comedians and singers of pronounced ability; Adeline Roatino and Clara Stevens, in an attractive singing and dancing novelty; Hoey and Billy Howard and Katherine Har, in "The Adventures of Happy Hooligan" and Rosie Rendell, an English music hall soubrette. Others in the list are Geo. H. Wood, the "different sort" of blackface comedian; Snyder and Buckley, musical eccentrics; Howley and Leslie, dancers, and Naomi Ethardo, acrobatic contortionist.

Park Theatre.—Score another big hit for Annie Russell, perhaps the biggest of all the triumphs she has achieved in the six years she has been one of Charles Frohman's stars. It certainly does look from the immediate conquest Miss Russell made in Boston when the first performance of "Mice and Men" was given. It is a quaint, a dainty and a pretty play and in it Miss Russell is all that she has been heretofore to theatre goers, and besides that she has something new. Mrs. Gilbert, a great favorite, has a role that gives scope to her well-known comedy abilities. Oswald Yorke and John Mason as the two lovers of Peggy contribute notably to the interest and merit of the performance. The engagement of Miss Russell was originally for two weeks, but Charles Frohman has extended it and four weeks will be allowed to Miss Russell; even this extension will prove to be not sufficient. Seats for the entire engagement have been placed on sale, in order to accommodate those wishing to arrange theatre parties. Particular attention is called to the fact that during the engagement of Annie Russell matinees will be given only on Saturday.

ANNIE RUSSELL AS "PEGGY" IN "MICE AND MEN."
NOW PLAYING AT THE PARK THEATRE, BOSTON.

Globe Theatre.—"Captain Barrington," the new American play by Mr. Victor Mapes which has been crowding the Globe theatre at every performance, began the third week of its engagement last Monday night, before an audience which taxed the capacity of the house. There seems to be no abatement of interest in this patriotic play, and the heavy advance sales indicate a most gratifying business for weeks to come. Seats are now on sale four weeks in advance. It is educational; it is historic; it is entertaining; it is presented by the strongest organization in America today; scenic art, it is a magnificent production. Performances will be given every evening at 8 and on Wednesday and Saturday afternoons at 2 until further notice.

Columbia Theatre.—The reception accorded Miss Fay Templeton at the Columbia theatre on the opening night was almost ecstatic in force sweeping both audience and performers off their feet and making the evening, one of unbounded amusement and unalloyed joy. It is a long time since anyone has made such a hit in Boston as was scored by Miss Templeton. The house simply stood up and cheered for every song and every imitation prolonging the performance nearly half an hour beyond the regular time for ringing down the curtain, because of the encores bestowed both upon the star and the other members of the cast. This is the second week of the four weeks' engagement, which bids fair to be the most successful of any ever played in Boston. Wednesday and Saturday matinees.

Hub Theatre.—Heart interest is the keynote of W. L. Lawrence's comedy drama, "The Pride of Newspaper Row," which comes to the Hub theatre next week. This play is said to be beautiful in its sentiment, and while not possessing the lurid features of this class of plays to any great extent is still sensational to please the people who demand it. It is a splendid scenic production, the cast is one of the best ever given a play of this class and its story is beautiful and well told. The company is a good one and is headed by Georgie Mack, a Boston boy, who will be remembered by Boston theatregoers for his clever work in "Foxy Grandpa."

Y. M. C. A.

The boys turned out in large numbers to the annual meeting on Oct. 27. The following officers were elected by the boys to serve one year: President, Earl Field; vice-president, Lawrence Dow; secretary, Willie Graham. Delegates were appointed to attend the older boys conference of eastern Massachusetts, held in the Boston Association building, Oct. 31 at 2.30. It was also voted to organize a chess and checker club. After refreshments were served, a fine musical program was rendered by the Y.M.C.A. boys' glee club and two soloists.

Sunday afternoon at 2.45 will be held a meeting for boys at which the important subject of systematic Bible study will be presented. At 4 P. M. Rev. James W. Higgins will address the men's meeting.

Grand Opera House.—"The Winning Hand," a melodrama by James W. Harkins, Jr. will be the attraction at the Boston Grand Opera House next week. It is a particularly appropriate title for it will be election week and returns will be given from the stage between the acts of the performance Tuesday (Election Day) night, Nov. 8. This thrilling melodrama is staged in four acts and eleven scenes, and it tells an intensely interesting story of high and low life in New York city and is a play that appeals to all who like a story of love and adventure. As a scenic production it will rank with the best that has ever been presented. The scenes of the play which are laid in New York city were personally visited by the artists and are exact reproductions of some particular locality. The usual matinees will be given on Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Majestic Theatre.—"The Earl of Pawtucket," Mr. Augustus Thomas' newest comedy, has taken Boston by storm just as it did New York. It is the only play aside from a musical production that ever remained throughout a season in New York without stopping for the summer months. The instantaneous sensation made by Mr. Lawrence D'Orsay's creation of the part of Lord Cardington was taken up by the smart set and "The Earl of Pawtucket" became a social fad. It is to be regretted that its stay in Boston is a limited one as the indications are the city would not tire of it for a long time. The action of the play passes within six hours and all its scenes are faithful reproductions of different apartments in the famous Waldorf-Astoria hotel.

Boston Music Hall.—Enterprising, indeed, is a firm of theatrical managers who will make such an elaborate production as Sullivan, Harris and Woods have given to "The Evil Men Do," which will be the attraction at the Boston Music Hall next week. The strong and beautiful, as well as highly sensational, story told by the melodrama is appropriately framed with a pictorial outfit of scenery which is noteworthy, even in these days of big undertakings. It will be presented by a special cast headed by the powerful emotional actress, Miss Nina Morris.

The gymnasium classes are growing rapidly. The largest class numbered 37. Great interest is shown in this department. For the convenience of those wishing to visit or join the classes the schedule is inserted again. Young men's classes meet Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday at 8 P. M. Boys' classes, Tuesday, and Thursday at 5 P. M. and Saturday at 3 P. M. Business men at 5 P. M. on Wednesday.

The 37th annual convention of the Young Men's Christian Association of Massachusetts and Rhode Island will be held at Gloucester, Mass., Nov. 6 to 8, inclusive. A fine program has been prepared, a copy of which may be obtained at the Association office.

Any young man who wishes to study mechanical drawing please be present next Monday evening, Nov. 2, when a class will be formed.

Literary Notes.

During August this year Reverend Peter MacQueen of Boston visited Macedonia, Turkey and Bulgaria for the National Magazine. He tells the touching and pitiful story of what he saw there in the National for November, under the title, "The Inside Story of the Macedonian Massacres," illustrated from photographs. Frank Putnam, in the same number, writes "The Year with the Labor Unions," a strong and timely paper in which the unions are urged to get rid of their stupid and criminal leaders of the Sam Parks stripe. Dallas Lore Sharp tells a funny possum story. Joseph Howe Dickson explains why Canada doesn't wish to be annexed. Lewis E. MacBrayne describes St. Agnes, one of the most romantic spots in Europe. Mr. Putnam writes a breezy sketch around Clyde Hayden's unique photographs of "The Squirrels of Harvard Yard." The new Greek theatre of the University of California is illustrated and described. Arthur McIlroy sketches the career of Governor Cummins of Iowa. Frank B. Tracy deals with "Boston and the Honourables," considering the recent visit of the Honourable Artillery Company of London. Five full page pictures illustrate this article. The Stage and Book chat by George T. Richardson and Kate Sanborn is fresh and entertaining and freely illustrated. "Affairs at Washington" deals with the opening of the extra session and carries many fine new portraits of men and women of importance in the national capital.

Organ Recital

Over a thousand music lovers from all parts of Newton gathered Wednesday evening in the Eliot Congregational church for a recital given on the enlarged church organ and the new echo organ. The program given by Everett E. Truette, organist of this church, was artistically played. The voicing effects of the instrument were particularly beautiful, while the tone of the full organ, though massive and brilliant, was without any harshness of sound. Mr. Truette received many congratulations for his skilful playing and demonstration of the organ's capabilities.
